OUTLOOK EXCELLENT

Men Preparing for Indoor Meet

Seventy Candidates—Making of a Good Team—Great Need Now is Regularity in Training

"The outlook for the track team is quite encouraging," said R. M. Anderson today, "we have this year by far the most enthusiastic bunch of fellows training for the team that I have ever known here at Iowa.

"The greatest need of the team is to have the candidates regular in their appearance at training; we have the armory only three times a week, so there is quite a blank in case a candidate cannot come for a day. We have seventy candidates, fifty per cent of whom were out at the first day's training. We need to have everyone of the men out and more than out.

"Every man who expects to do track work at all should be out regularly. If faithfully and earnestly at work. The indoor meet comes March 21 and every candidate will need all the time between now and then to train for it.

INDOOR MEET EVENTS

"The events planned for the meet are: the mile, 300-yard sprint, 600-yard sprint, 1,000-yard sprint, relay races between freshmen and sophomores, high jump, pole vaulting.

"The shot has been at the armory for the use of the weight men for some time.

"The present indications, I should say that we will have a good track team this year."

At least We have begun to work hard for a good track team this year, said a student who is training for the team, this morning. "We need men who will work hard, who are interested in the sport, who will not be indifferent, who will help each other as much as possible.

"We feel that in a great measure the obligation of the university is upon us to do something to win something for her. Iowa has gone so long without winning, that it is a ground hog coming out of a hole. We've got to win, and that's what we are working for. We are going to bed early, eating wholesome food, avoiding cigars and tobacco because we are to win for the university.

"We know that men who have done these things have not won for the university, and know that those who have worked through thick and thin for Iowa have a good, wholesome love for the institution. And we can count it as one of the best things in a college life to have an affection for the university."

INTERESTING LECTURE

Siwert N. Hagen Speaks on Analogies in Language

Last evening in the hall of Liberal Arts Professor N. Hagen of the department of English read an instructive lecture on Analogy in Language.

The simplicity of the declension of modern forms has been caused by analogical and phonetical change. The wide-spread use of the pronominal method of combination of adjectives dating from the time of the Latin empire, a little over two centuries ago, is an excellent example of analogy. Language is a living thing, and not a series of dead formulas.

Mr. Hagen fully illustrated each point with numerous examples, giving at times so many as to be bewildering. Apart from this the lecture was a good one and was deserving of a much larger attendance than it received.

Judge H. E. Deemer read a paper last evening before the members of the political science courses of the college on "Shambaugh on Daniel Webster." Prof. Shambaugh will be a speaker in the university.

Co-operation

In his remarks at convocation, President MacLean spoke of a new co-operation that was springing up among the faculties. Co-operation is what we need. It takes two units of force to produce a given velocity in one direction when another unit is pulling against them.

Co-operation, strength, progress, contact: these things flow naturally one out of the other, and are the result of co-operation. Co-operation is the spirit of the times. It's advantages furnish the cohesive power that binds the parts together. Let us have it in a more full and ample measure! Not some stinted, half-hearted, forced, coerced co-operation, but merely a covering up an unsightly heart, but whole-souled operation along the line; co-operation in athletics, co-operation in debate, co-operation among all students in raising the athletic union debt. Give us co-operation between the student and faculty in the up-building of university, co-operation among the faculties for the same cause. Let us feel the united power of our alumni backing up the university in all her acts and aiding with their interest and advice. No one can co-operate more effectively than a loyal alumnus. Through them we can gain the co-operation of the state of Iowa which established the university. And we will let every one, friend or student, alumnus, faculty member, citizen of Iowa co-operate generously with him through whom the action of the university is directed; the president.

The State University after adhering to the freshman banquet as one of its oldest traditions has decided to abandon it, because it is too much class spirit abroad at the present day; there are few college authorities who will not wink at the lesser indiscretions incident to class scraps, but when there is a function that always results in an over manifestation of this spirit, the authorities and students are wise in attempting to bring forward a less harmful substitute. - I. S. C. Student.

A university public desire to hear such men as William Jennings Bryan. The university lecture course management are to be congratulated on being able to bring him to Iowa City. Apart from his political views one way or the other, Mr. Bryan is a great man and a greater orator. He is far more a wordsman and a greater speaker of this generation.
