FORM WINS DEBATE
PRELIMINARY TO 1903 SECOND HENRY WHEEL-ENN CONTEST
Hammond Law Senate Debate in Close and Hardly Contested
Debate in Auditorium Saturday night.

A good sized audience gathered at the auditorium to hear the debate between the Forum and the Hammond Law Senate on Saturday night. The question was: 'Resolved, that present legislation in opposition to industrial combinations should be limited to statutes providing for and enforcing publicity, and prohibiting local or personal discrimination. It is proposed for the Forum by F. A. Heald, E. E. Van Ness, and D. E. Brinck, and denied for the Hammond Law Senate by R. R. Mowry, J. A. McKenzie and C. Cross.' F. A. Heald in opening for the affirmative outlined the debate. He contended that the question applied only to legislation for the prevention of fraud and not for all time and the evils of the present were due to aarson. He argued that this public spiritedness, public opinion, and the credit companies give the public all the information needed; that stockholders have access to the books of corporations and that further publicity would be injurious. He maintained that the legal as well as the financial public would have no effect on either legal or natural monopolies and that capitalist combinations were the results of excessive competition. E. J. Van Ness in continuing for the affirmative held that rates received by the monopolies keep the competition of the open market away and that the trusts charged different prices for the same commodity. He proposed the state of competition at the place of sale. It was contended by the Forum that the trusts had been strengthened rather than weakened by legislation and that future legislation would be as fatal to competition as it had been in the past. He proposed a plan whereby every corporation engaged in interstate commerce should take out a federal license on condition that their stock should not be watered and that they should enter into no combination resulting in monopoly. He spent some time in arguing for tariff revision.

D. E. Brinck argued that it was naive in the time situation that the tariff applied to natural objects while trusts were free from it; and in closing he contended that the legal public was the only one to whom the public might object. The judges were Mr. DeCoursey, Mr. Chase, and Mr. Shafnner. The decision was in favor of the affirmative.

FRAT QUARANTINED
SIGMA XI HOUSE CLOSED BY BOARD OF HEALTH

Three Fraternity Men Ill With Scarlet Fever Fraternity House on College Street
On Sunday morning the news reached the Sigma Xi Fraternity with all its inhabitants was placed under quarantine for scarlet fever. Three cases of the disease, all however very mild, were discovered.

The board of health immediately placed the dread card upon the door and now permits no one to enter or leave the house. There were some twenty men in the house at the time but five of them fled for parts unknown before the doctors could get there.

The one of the escaping men, a junior law student, was captured and returned to the house. Three ill within the contagion are H. C. Watson, L. A. K., and L. E. Keck. Law '05 and Emmer A. A.

The latter has gone to his home in Atlantic.

Unless other members of the fraternity take the pest, the quarantine will continue for a week, if not longer, as the disease is spreading.

A telephone message from the Sigma Xi house today announces that patients are both doing well. It is possible that the quarantining of the lower part of the house may be raised soon. At any rate the confinement will not last more than ten days or two weeks.

The Zeta Tau Society has elected the following officers for the term: G. E. Green, president; C. A. Dykstra, vice-president; G. G. Allbright, cor. secretary; C. J. Lambert, treasurer; L. P. Newell, cor. secretary; E. M. Fritz, ser.

Northwestern's Refusal
It is certainly unfortunate that the debate between the law debating league and the Northwestern Law School has been called off. We hope that Northwestern, in refusing to hold the debate after all arrangements had been made, feels fully justified in her course.

Just when Iowa was holding her preliminary debate and preparing for the final, word comes that Northwestern refuses to hold the contest. It is now too late for making arrangements for a debate with another institution this year and the debaters must do without any contest. It is to be hoped that the matter may be more satisfactorily and permanently arranged another year.

Scarlet Fever
It is indeed to be hoped that the sligt pest of scarlet fever at one of the fraternity houses will not spread beyond its present limits. The disease and the consequent quarantines is by no means pleasant. While the contagation itself is not in general very serious, the loss of time to a student is very serious indeed. The loss of seven weeks at this time of year is not readily made up without exceptionally energetic work in the latter part of the term.

Let us all hope that the disease will not spread further and express our sincere sympathy with those already ill and quarantined.

DEBATE IS OFF

Northwestern Unable to Complete Arrangements

Word has been received by the debating societies of the Law Department to the effect that the Northwestern Law school refuses to debate the team from the Iowa law school this year. They explain by saying that there is not time to complete the arrangements and have the debate during the present school year.

However, they declare they would be pleased to make arrangements for a debate to be held sometime next year.
