looks black for hamlet
state making out strong case prosecution shows that hamlet killed king claudius in pursuance of a deliberate plan the state of iowa is making a strong case against hamlet. the state's witnesses have testified that hamlet deliberately planned the murder of king claudius, that a number of plans were entertained by him for killing the king before the one which succeeded.
back to iowa student
it has been developed from state's testimony that hamlet was the aggressor in the university of iowa, instead of at wittenberg, germany, as has heretofore been supposed by commentators. c. e. stuart of chadwick, iii, testifies that he was a friend of hamlet's from his boyhood days.
in personal appearance hamlet was tall, of commanding presence, and well educated. he was always happy and took a great deal of exercise until the death of his father last fall, and he moved over him. he became melancholy and laid all of his troubles, real and imaginary, upon his uncle, king claudius.

mr. stuart detailed various plans of hamlet's to kill the king besides the fencing bout between hamlet and claudius, of which king claudius was killed by hamlet.

end was scared

on cross-examination mr. stuart was asked if the stage of the mimic play was not lighted only from in front, so that it was dark near the throne.

"it was light of about the room," said mr. stuart.

"the main point," answered attorney brown, "do you know that it was so dark that king claudius could not see the play and was compelled to call for lights?"

"do you want me to tell you why the king called for lights," asked the witness in a hostile tone.

"well, it was because he was scared so he couldn't see, that's why he was called, for lights."

cole on the tragedian

f. j. cole of marion city testified that he was in castle elsinore and saw hamlet stab king claudius to the heart with a rapier.

"the day king claudius was murdered," said mr. cole, "i heard hamlet ask laertes if he would not be justified in killing king claudius, who was then near his mother, taken the succession from him and attempted to take his life."

mr. cole described the fencing bout of laertes and hamlet by drinking from the cup the king had offered hamlet, laertes explanation of the poisoned rapier, and hamlet killing the king.

both cole and stuart-identifict-e a misterious sword which served as the medium of the Mexican war and has since been assigned by the government for the use of the university cadets, as the same with which hamlet killed the king.

important admission

on cross-examination, all of hamlet's witnesses admitted that hamlet had no means of knowing that his mother was dead, only that she had called to him for help and had swooned. this is important as showing the truth of the king's statement that his wife had come to him for help and had been killed by the prince, which his mother made to the flickering-witted prince.

life insurance

editor jackson of the life insurance independent to speak in accord with promises made at the report of the ann arbor conference, the school of political science have secured editor jackson of the life insurance independent of new york city, to gave two lectures which are open to the general public and be given in the auditorium monsday, march 18, at 2:15 and 7:00 p.m.

jackson is a college man who has made life insurance his business. he is an entertaining and lucid speaker, and can make a mortality table interesting. his lectures will be strictly scientific and along the actuarial side of life underwriting. he will show why mortality tables are necessary and that given an accepted mortality table and a realizable rate of interest, what forms of annuities can be made scientifically sound and safe that the business.

eastern colleges have had in the last two years lectures on life insurance, actuaries, and this is the beginning of the actual study of the subject which iowa has in its curriculum next year.

when a knowledge of what can and what cannot safely be done in the way of life insurance, in general the public will be saved millions yearly.

neither will they be cheated by concerns that are life insurance companies in name only, and make the genuine distracted. life insurance is a democratic insurance of which can be taught in the school.

while the expenses of mr. jackson's coming is paid by the underscribes association, and while he is connected with them, yet in no way will he advertise any way in connection with the mission of the saxon;" h. g. walker, "the battle of gettysburg," c. m. miller, "the feder-

chanman, "the constitution;" e. c. hill, "a matterer verdict;" professor g. t. w. patrick is recuperating from sickness. mr. patrick and the children are in berlin.

bryan to win prize

endsowment in political science

proceeds of lecture on the conquering nation today evening to found an annual prize for essays on political subject

wm. j. bryan will give the proceeds of his lecture friday evening to found a prize for the benefit of iowa political science students.

mr. bryan's arrangement with professor gordon calls for the payment of the actual expenses of the lecture and then for the payment of $250 to the regents of the university. this sum will be invested, and the income annually used for a prize for the best essay on some subject on political science.

the prize thus established will be known as the "wm. j. bryan prize in political science the conquering nation.

mr. bryan's lecture tomorrow evening will be upon the question as to whether the Cecil Rhodes scholarships shall be open to residents of the state or to students in state colleges no matter where their residence be, to the decision of the Cecil Rhodes trustees in each state.

this is the recommendation taken by the faculty of the college of liberal arts yesterday, after a full discussion of the question as to whether the Cecil Rhodes scholarships shall be open to residents of the state or to students in state colleges no matter where their residence be, to the decision of the Cecil Rhodes trustees in each state.

will leave to each state

"leave the settlement of the question as to whether the Cecil Rhodes scholarships shall be open to residents of the state or to students in state colleges no matter where their residence be, to the decision of the Cecil Rhodes trustees in each state."

this is the recommendation taken by the faculty of the college of liberal arts yesterday, after a full discussion of the question as to whether the Cecil Rhodes scholarships shall be open to residents of the state or to students in state colleges no matter where their residence be, to the decision of the Cecil Rhodes trustees in each state.

home oratorical

the order of speaking at the home oratorical contest next tuesday night will be as follows:

friday, the 17th

andrew jackson, "the spirit of the moulded;" harry l. cooper, "the mission of the saxon;" h. g. walker, "the battle of gettysburg;" c. m. miller, "the federal convention of 1787;" f. j.

chanman, "the constitution;" e. c. hill, "a matterer verdict;" professor g. t. w. patrick is recuperating from sickness. mr. patrick and the children are in berlin.
The indoor track meet a week from Saturday promises to be a well contested event. Considerable improvement has been made by both old and new candidates for the team during the training season at the armory.

During an unguarded moment, the Cedar Falls newspaper correspondents allowed President Seely to say that he was entirely satisfied with the Cecil Rhodes scholarship committee. This should teach them to be more careful in the future.

William Jennings Bryan speaks as the armory Friday night. The announcement alone should draw the crowd the man's ability deserves. This, too, when he comes without price, his customary fee going to found prizes in political science at the university.

Professor Bolton has been stirring up the animals by intimating very strongly that Iowa teachers are immature and lack education. The rural teachers have just let up on President Shelton for what he said about them last December and are ready for another meal.

A valued local paper which has for some time given forth the diverging preaching that sound the drums and scamps, unreliable men and unwise leaders are too frequent in and about the offices, councils and affairs of Iowa City, Johnson County, the university, and the state of Iowa, announces that any paper desiring the services of a prominent newspaper man, experienced in new and editorial work would do well to address the editor. Like water in "The Tale of an Ancient Mariner," there seems to be trouble, trouble everywhere.

Two Books--Two Cents

The Burlington Route has just issued two publications of great interest to homeseekers.

"Nebraska" is the title of a 48-page book descriptive of the agricultural resources of the state, profusely illustrated with farm scenes and supplemented with an accurate sectional map.

"Big Horn Basin" is an illustrated folder telling all about the rich but undeveloped portion of Northwestern Wyoming. The Big Horn Basin contains wonderful openings for small ranches along good streams, with a million acres of government land open for settlement under the United States land laws.

Both publications will be sent to any address on receipt of two cents in stamps. Address J. FRANCIS, General Passenger Agent, Burlington Route, Omaha.
