Nebraska's Unbeaten Team Is Weak at Bat and in the Field—Volleyball "Beats" Marquette—Baseball Loses Star On Cain

Iowa defeated Nebraska 7 to 3 on Iowa field yesterday. Nebraska lost because of her inability to find the plants of Captain "Johnny" Vo, who was in the box for Iowa, and because of Iowa's well bunched hits.

Captain Vo pitched a most brilliant game. Eight Nebraskans struck out before his prowess and many more drew brief pop-ups and weak grounders.

The crisis of the game came in the fourth inning, when with three men on boxes and two men gone, Wilson, he of famed batting but asserts that Adamson had taken the hill and was over. When Wilson fanned the air twice and the suspense was over.

Bender was supported finely by his team. Townsend was not treated quite as well by his fielding as Nebraska.

It was announced in Saturday's issue that E. J. Shanahan of Iowa will have four places in the N. O. L. contest today. Technical-ly this was correct as on the basis of places, Shanahan tied with Merriam of Chicago. Iowa's grammar getting a three in thought and composition and a five in delivery and Chicago's grammar getting a four in both making the total of each eight. But further examination of the ballots indicated that Shanahan had three points ahead of giving Chicago the place. We bow to you Chicago and apologize for unintentional errors.

N. O. L. Amendment

At the recent meeting of the Northern Oratorical League an amendment to the constitution, much needed and for years urged by Iowa, was adopted. This provides that the judges shall, on the night of the contest, mark each contestant on thought, composition and delivery together. This does away with the old method of having the orations graded on the first two counts before the contest.

Now the contestants can write their orations considering mainly how they will sound on the platform, and will not need to pay attention to how they will look in print. It is a noticeable fact that the orations which appear well on paper and secure good markings on thought and composition, are generally very difficult of delivery, because of the long and involved sentence structure. It is very commonly the case that an oration which carries the audience and makes an impression does not win because of its lack of correct construction. An oration to be effective must be written to be heard and not to be read. The league is certainly to be praised for making this amendment, which will, we are confident, do much towards making the oratorical contests more practicable.

Last Year's Decision
The University of Minnesota Daily has again editorially made the statement that Mr. Scholl of Minnesota really won the oratorical contest a year ago. That paper states that, Minnesota "was given second; but it now appears that this was the result of a mere clerical error in figuring the percentages."

Such a statement is absolutely without foundation. Prof. McDermott, in charge of oratory at Minnesota, in a recent conversation with one of Iowa's representatives at the N. O. L. meeting, said that these assertions were entirely false. He expressed great disgust with the action of the Daily and said that it was merely an attempt to secure cheap notoriety for Mr. Scholl.

Such a policy on the part of a college daily is to be condemned by everyone. The fact that Prof. McDermott does not approve this action shows that those in a college daily is to be satisifed with one of Iowa's representaives, without foundation.
