NORTHWESTERN MEETS IOWA IN CHICAGO

PROFITABLE FOOTBALL GAME WITH THE PURPLE

Northwestern Offers Nov. 14 in Chicago —Board of Control Authorizes Negotiations for Game

The board of athletic control yesterday authorized Manager McClain to open negotiations with Northwestern University for a football game to be played in Chicago, Nov. 14.

Northwestern will play out of Chicago next year with her new coach, Wallie McCormack and Chicago have not yet been selected.

Supt. Cran, yesterday, authorized Manager McCormack to an offer of that date in Chicago, Nov. 14.

Iowa-Northwestern game the center of attraction for that date. Northwestern is coming to the front next year with her new coach, Wallie McCormack and the game with her is expected to be quite profitable.

The scheduling of this game is held as a step by the board to secure a profitable schedule for Northwestern for the year. They have been considering scheduling a game for Nov. 14 which involved a wearing trip and a loss of money.

MIDDLETONIAN RECEIVES

Medical Society Entertainment at the Armory

The Middletonian Medical Society held its regular reception last evening at the Armory. The evening was opened by Miss Clara Whitmore, who told what Middletonian means and of its future. She was followed by Prof. Jepson, giving some reminiscences of Dean Middleton which showed the subject in a very able manner.

The grand march was played by the band introduced by Mr. Littig and was received with enthusiasm.

All of these groups were composed of fast players, Cornell and Grinnell having especially strong aggregations. The first match will be called at the courts at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The tournament will continue Monday and after noon until the tournament is decided, the final matches being played on Saturday. Special effort has been made by the tennis managers to have the courts in good shape.

The courts are in excellent condition and will allow of fast play.

LECTURE IN FRENCH

M. Maliblue Speaks in Auditorium on Relations With France

M. Maliblue, the eminent French author, scientist, sociologist and professor, lectured in the auditorium last night under the auspices of the department of French and the Alliance-France. Since the lecture was in French, the audience was somewhat small.

M. Maliblue in the course of his lecture dealt with the relations between France and the United States. He treated the matter first from the historical standpoint.

He showed the relation between the two countries during the American Revolution. He told of the work of La Fayette and other Frenchmen who came to the United States to help the American cause, because it meant the under dog, so to speak. He said that the French were ever ready to proclaim freedom and lend help to the weak.

He showed that the political relations between the two countries are cordial and becoming more and more so as the French are regaining the prestige which they lost through industrial and commercial troubles. France is now the political ally of the United States.

Economically, M. Maliblue expressed a hope that the pending treaty between the two countries might be ratified by the United States. The relations are commercially very close as each country is dependent for many things on the other.

As regards civilization he found the only fundamental difference. As regards the French, America is that of business, the mechanical governing of the powers of the French which is dependent on the human soul. The culture in internal, ours is external.

In the sphere of political relations, M. Maliblue said that the American philosophers and great writers follow the French, in style, language, and treatment of subjects, much more than the English.

State Tennis Meet
The tournament of the Iowa State Tennis Association calls for the support of every loyal student. Iowa should win the matches, but the loyal support of the student body would do much towards turning it from a probability into a certainty. All students with the Iowa spirit should be on the courts as often as possible during the next four days. There is not one of us who cannot afford the time to attend at least one meeting of the tournament. And aside from attending from loyalty, the love of a closely-fought, fast paced game should, and of course will, draw large crowds to the matches. The teams which will compete in this meet are all composed of good men. Many of the players are men of experience and some have competed in state tournaments before. The matches will, for the most part, be closely contested sets of fast ten.

Every student with any pleasure should attend at least one of the tournaments either through love of the game or from a spirit of loyalty in supporting Iowa's athletic teams.

Two Books—
Two Cents

The Atlantic Route has just issued two publications of great interest to homeseekers.

"Nebraska" is the title of a 48-page book descriptive of the agricultural resources of the state, profusely illustrated with farm scenes and supplemented with an accurate sectional map.

"Big Horn Basin" is an illustrated folder telling all about the rich but undeveloped portion of Northwestern Wyoming. The Big Horn Basin contains wonderful openings for small ranches along good streams, with a million acres of government land open for settlement under the United States land laws.

Both publications will be sent to any address on receipt of two cents in stamps. Address J. FRANCIS, General Passenger Agent, Burlington Route, Omaha.

Profs of Military

Colonel Geo. R. Burn tt and the committee of officers in charge of the Military Ball, held last Friday night, report that the proceeds profitably were $32. Considering the heavy expenses of the party, the profits indicate an exceptionally large attendance. The proceeds will be turned over to the Athletic Union.

Ero. Special

The freshman girls of Erodolian Monday night presented the farce "A Detective in Petticoats." Virginia Halford as the detective made a decided hit. In the minor part of the maid, Sadie Jacobsen rendered the part like a trained actress, while Pearl Stone as leading lady sustained a difficult part with ease.

After a recent game some miscellaneous stole a new mask and protector from the athletic park. The outfit was the property of the inter-society league.
