UNIVERSITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO DR. JOHN W. HARRIMAN

All Departments Closed While Students and Faculty Gather at the Bier of the Eminent Surgeon

The State university of Iowa paid a final tribute today to one who has been a moving figure in its progress and development for nearly fifteen years. The funeral of Dr. John Walter Harriman was the occasion for regret and sorrow on the part of all connected with the university and those who had known him. The students of the university and particularly those of the medical department took occasion to express their regard by attending the services in a body, and faculty members who had been associated for years with the deceased expressed their regard and admiration for him in unstinted words.

Despite the bitterness of the weather the funeral this morning at the First Congregational church was largely attended. All of the students of the medical department together with the university faculty occupied seats toward the front. Students of the other university departments and friends of the deceased occupied the remaining seats and stood in the aisles filling the church to the very doors. President George E. MacLean had charge of the services and upon opening spoke a few words of

He read the resolutions that had been adopted by the university senate and by the faculty of the medical department.

Dean Guthrie of the medical department paid a beautiful tribute to the work of Dr. Harriman here emphasizing his fine influence upon the students who had work under him. He gave a fine testimonial to Dr. Harriman's ability in his professional work.

President MacLean then called upon Prof. T. H. Macbride as representing all departments of the university. Prof. Macbride told how Dr. Harriman came here as a student many years ago filled with that whole souled disposition that made him a friend to everyone and which has characterized him ever since.

After prayer by President MacLean the casket was taken to the Rock Island depot to be sent to Hampton Iowa, where it will be interred in the family vault. The hearse was preceded to the train by the medical students and the faculty members marching.

Dr. Harriman's death occurred yesterday morning at 7 o'clock after an illness of three weeks following an operation for ap-was realized that there was no hope for him. The news of his demise was the signal for much sorrow yesterday.

WADE SENDS SYMPATHY
Congressman M. J. Wade has sent the following telegram of sympathy:

Washington, D.C., Jan. 26, '04.
Pres. Geo. E. MacLean
Iowa City, Iowa.

Permit me to join with bereaved faculty in expression of grief at loss of our noble friend and co-laborer, Dr. Harriman. A great heart has been stilled, and a splendid intellect has been touched by death in its hour of greatest power.

M. J. WADE.
John Walter Harriman was the son of State Senator Harriman of Hampton. He was born in 1865, and received his early higher education in Cornell college, Mt. Vernon and Northwestern college. He came to Iowa City, and entered the College of Medicine, State University of Iowa when about 25 years of age.

Here he distinguished himself, as an especially capable student particularly in anatomy. While yet an under graduate, in 1890, he was made assistant demonstrator of anatomy, and the year afterward was promoted to the post of demonstrator in chief.

He was graduated from the College of Medicine in 1891, and later, in 1893, took post graduate work in New York.

Thereafter, the board of regents of S. U. I. elected him successively to many posts of honor, all of which he filled with marked ability. He served as instructor in operative surgery, assistant to the surgical clinic, curator of the medical museum and was elected professor of anatomy in the College of Dentistry, in 1894, and professor of anatomy in the College of Medicine in 1896—a post he occupied to the day he died.

Temporarily leaving the University during the war in 1898 he served in the South, as surgeon of the 50th Iowa ranking as major.

Dr. Harriman leaves a wife and three children—a son and two daughters, one of the latter being an infant.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Guy Van den Burg Ph. '02, to Miss Henrietta Van de Waa of Orange City. They will be at home after March 16, at Hull Iowa.

Dr. L. W. Andrews has returned from his high school inspection tour. In this trip he visited the high schools of Davenport, Muscatine, Keokuk, Ottumwa, and Marengo.

The following candidates were initiated into Scimitar and Fez. last Saturday night: P. Donavon, A. B. Melzner, R. J. Meakin, H. P. Burgum, E. B. Crane, J. W. Cogswell, R. E. Kleinsorge, E. A. Rule, C. C. Foster, H. M. Ivans, and Paul Dorweiler.

Ride to Burlington and Return on "Blind Baggage" With Mercury 21 Below

If Peary is looking for material with which to make up another polar expedition or if even Hannibal might rise from his grave and call for volunteers to go with him across the Alps, the University of Iowa would be a prolific field.

Seventy miles on the blind baggage with the mercury at 20 degrees below zero would seem to be almost impossible, but two young braves of the S. U. I. accomplished just that trick. Both of the gallants are members of fraternities on the north side. One is a freshman and the other a sophomore but both are residence of Burlington.

In a discussion last week about blind baggage possibilities these two young men agreed to make a trip to Burlington Friday night without the formality of paying railroad fare. They reenforced their intentions by staking a small bet that they would be successful. The weather was not so very cold when they planned the trip but when Friday night came the mercury was hovering near zero. They were not to be bluffed however, and dressing in warm clothes they started out, leaving Iowa City shortly after 8 o'clock. The proper connections were made at West Liberty and the young heroes arrived at Burlington early Saturday morning, surprising their parents by their unexpected visit. Explanations were profuse.

The young men spent Saturday and Sunday renewing old acquaintances and Sunday night got ready for the return. As they passed a thermometer on their way to the train they read 21 degrees below zero. "Shall we buy tickets and get inside?" said one of them.

"Not on your tintype" was the reply. "We bargained for this trip and we'll finish it if we freeze stiff."

They boarded the "blind" and rode the return seventy miles at the rate of forty miles an hour through an atmosphere devoid of all semblance of warmth. They got to Iowa City at one o'clock Monday morning with no other damage than a few frozen cheeks and some really cold hands and feet.

They had won their bet and the frozen cheeks didn't matter. They are planning more extensive trips now, but swear that they will not be undertaken until the weather warms a bit.

P. M. Paine '06, has been elected captain of the Zet baseball team for the coming season.

pendicitis. He had been in a very serious condition immediately following the operation but then his condition improved greatly and it was thought that his chances for recovery were good. However, he kept growing continually worse and toward the latter part of last week it

Dr. John W. Harriman

THE IOWAN joins in the tribute of the university and its students to Dr. John W. Harriman. In his death the university has sustained almost an irreparable loss. It is needless to speak of him at length, here;
the universal tribute to him today speaks volumes for his personal worth. It is a sign of real greatness when one of his rank
and ability succeeds in being so thoroughly democratic that he is known and loved by all. His life is a fine example, in that he has crowded so many good things into so few years. So brilliant and yet so unassuming, it is no wonder that he is mourned.
There are too few like him.

IN MEMORIAM

Not faultless he, but truly great,
His merit all admired.
His fame sped far beyond the state,
'Twas more than he desired.
Broad was his mind and large his heart
And magical his power;
Of every student's life a part—
Oh! sadness of the hour,
That such a man with such an act
Should wither as a flower
How all his students loved the man!
Admired his ready skill;
Seek out the student, ye who can,
Go search where'er you will
Not one but will in truth assert
Of "Honest John"—their pride.
No man of science more alert;
None less inclined to chide;
None more just, nor more expert—
Would God he had not died!

How well he knew men—ah! how well!
Their foibles and their strength;
But now, alas! we hear his knell,
And chant his dirge at length.
No more shall we his face behold;
No more his kindly word;
Nor know his presence as of old,
For soon beneath the sod,
We give the body to the mold
He goes to meet his God.
—N. O. WELLS.

comedy drama in four acts, was presented to a fair sized, but appreciative audience at the Temple Theatre last evening. The company was one of the best that has been seen here this season
and deserved a much larger house. The play has a touch of “When we were twenty-one” in
it. Edwin Belden, who played the role of the imp in “When we were twenty-one” here two seasons ago, assumed a similiar role last evening. The leading parts were well taken by Miss Ida Werner and Henry Muller.

Will Give Concert

One of the rarest musical treats
that the university students will have an opportunity to enjoy this winter will be the concert to be given by the university band
during the last week in February.
Smith's Armory has been engaged for the event inasmuch as a great crowd is expected. The program which will be rendered will consist of all kinds of popular and classical music. In addition to the regular band music there will be music by a male quartet and special soloists.
Langenberg a clarinet soloist of Muscatine will appear upon the program.

The band is larger at present
than it has ever been containing thirty-four pieces, Leader Moles-berry has it trained to a state of excellency that has been heretofore unknown. The band is now practicing almost daily.
