Fomer Iowa Player Is Said to Have Left the Badgers Now For Good

Four members of the University of Wisconsin football team, eligible to play next season, have left the university, and unusually enough, they all have gone to the Big Ten. All four are linemen; two are also for them to play football next fall. Orogen, Orogen, Kinney, and Stromquist.

The heat is dropping in schoolrooms of the state, and this is referred to the recent agitation of the university paper against its passing out of capital, property, and easy places to the absentee.

Orogen, Kinney, Stromquist, and Donavan secured jobs in the business to break his leg during the space of four days.

The attendance at the opening of the university this year is greater than in any other.

The Iowa football team is to be greatly strengthened next year by the addition of several promising players from smaller Iowa colleges and the leading high schools. Following the report of the statistician's department next year, this year it will be seen that the improved in the statistician's department next year, and the growth of students in the department.

The Blair football authority was not for the time they played the football authorities. It is figured that if Donovan was employed in the whirlwind, the Iowa idea has been dropped when the university begins.

A movement has been put on foot at Yale for the erection of a new baseball cage. It is hoped to cover the entire lot in the rear of the gymnasium with a glass roof, supported by iron girders. The cost will be about $25,000.

President Eliot of Harvard and President Angell of Michigan, in recent interviews have stated that the experiences of their institutions in this score has shown that the use of the elective system of choosing courses is a failure. The fears at first entertained that the students would select "one-sided" courses—snaps—were unfounded.

May Bar Football

The threatened legislation against football in Nebraska has taken form and a bill has already been drawn and is ready for introduction in the state legislature. Representative Cunningham is its author and he will push the bill for all he is worth.

"I know my course in trying to prohibit this game is unpardonable. I believe the game is too rough and dangerous and I will try to put a stop to it," he said.

The students in the University of Nebraska are boasting the measure and probably will make a demonstration against it when the bill is introduced.
