THE EAST AND WEST

EXAMINATION COMPARISON

These will be interesting.

Western Athletic Occupies a Prominent Place in Eastern Arena.

The New York Evening Post had a most interesting column and a half last week, headed, "The West in Athletics." What the West had done in college sports, the writer said, could be gathered either by tracing the achievements of western men at eastern colleges or by following the records established by western students in their own institutions.

Examination of the university catalogs showed that Yale, for instance, had 801 students in attendance from the West—the "West" being all the country west of the eastern borders of Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas and Texas. This was 26.77 per cent of the Yale student body.

Six westerners were in the University of Chicago, Minneapolis: Bloomer, Cincinnati: Kinsey, Cleveland; Tripp, Chicago; Wells, Portland, Ore.; and Pennsylvanians: Woods, Kansas: Lamson, Colorado, and Stevenson, Kentucky. Harvard's contingent is made up of Ovosen, Kansas: McPadden, Illinois; and Randall and Filley, St. Louis.

Princeton's trio of westerners are Burke of Chicago and Short andFilley, St. Louis. Twenty seven percent of the Yale student body farmedian 46 per cent of the football team.

Ames-Drake Debate Off

The next lecture under the auspices of the Ministerial Union will be given by Professor Bolton west of the Pheasants.

Mr. Geo. C. Eldred of Yale athletic association will soon publish a list of records made by the athletes. His organization in both east and west.
