State Teachers Rule Will Bar
Freshmen And Preparations

At the last meeting of the State Teacher's Association in Des Moines, a resolution relative to athletics was introduced which, if passed, would result in the elimination of state athletic contests.

The resolution, which was introduced by Prof. Prentiss, Chairman of the committee on athletics, states that:

"The State Teachers Rule will bar freshmen and preparation students from competition in any intercollegiate games or meetgings."

The resolution has been received with mixed reactions by faculty members and students alike. Some feel that it will be a blow to the spirit of competition and the ideals of interscholasticism, while others believe that it is necessary to protect the freshmen from the rigors of sports.

The resolution will be considered at the next meeting of the State Teacher's Association.

CAST CHOSEN
DRAMATIC CLUB PRE-SENTS PLAY

"An American Citizen" Title Play—Old Stars Carry
Leading Parts

The university dramatic society will announce its new production this week. The play, "An American Citizen," will be presented on Monday night in the auditorium.

The cast of the play has been chosen by the faculty and students.
Miss Everts, a senior, will play the title role. Other members of the cast include:

Frank Sangster, Harry Ivan, and Leslie McCullough, all of whom have appeared before the footlights previously, have parts of minor importance. Miss Everts will play in the leading role.

The leading part of Mr. Cruger, which has been considered the most difficult in the play, will be taken by L. F. Morrissey.
The part was first given to George Hill, who on account of other work was forced to withdraw at the last minute. Miss Everts will prove an excellent choice for the role.

One of the most important parts in the play is that of Mr. Cruger.

The leading part of Mr. Cruger, in which every man interested
will be taken by L. F. Morrissey.

This is the first time all the classes have been together in a social way at the state building. The committee will be congratulated on its success.

THE TRIAL OF IAGO SET FOR MONDAY OF
NEXT WEEK

The State of Iowa versus Iago is the title of the case which is set for hearing, in the practice court of the law department of the university on Monday.

The outcome of the trial is being awaited with interest by lovers of justice, admirers of fornas, and the public generally.

Iago, the villainous character in the great Shakespearean play "Othello," has been acquitted as an accessory to the murder of Desdemona. An abundance of evidence has been presented for the state in this case. For some time, the court has been engaged in basing the evidence of the state against Iago, and it has been busy collecting evidence which will be utilized during the progress of the trial next week.

It is safe to say that all material and important parts of the play will be presented and argued in the state's favor.

The H. J. Cane Nap. Co. in view of the assessment of ten cents per member of the various classes of the university for the benefit of the glee clubs, a few words in explanation of this method of control over the expenses of the clubs may not be amiss.

The fund will be handled entirely by a committee consisting of Dr. Seashore and one student member from each glee and mandolin club. Careful and accurate account will be kept of all receipts and expenditures.

This committee has appointed Mr. Ben F. Wyland treasurer and the assessments from each class should be turned over to him.

The various clubs are now thoroughly organized and working and a public concert is already being planned for the spring in which all the clubs will participate.

With the support of the united student body, Iowa can have a musical growth which will be a splendid addition and attraction to the school.

Macbride is Popular

Prof. T. H. Macbride lectured in Cedar Rapids, Monday night. The lecture won from the Cedar Rapids Republican this gratifying tribute: "Professor Macbride is a man who sees the poetic and the magic in nature and is able to do what so few scientists, tell us, tells us: to see his nature and scientific research in such a way that his hearing in the quality of the poetic and the mysteries which he sees. That is, perhaps, one of the chief reasons why Professor Macbride's lectures are so fascinating to his listeners, whether they are students of botany or not."

AMUSEMENTS

There is no class of theatrical entertainment that appeals to the amusement loving public with greater force than to battlefield; and of all the plays of this character there is none which possesses the elements of success in a greater degree than that famous, time tripped drama, "The World". It has been produced, wherever the English language is spoken, and has never failed to score a success. The beautiful scenic environment, the clean cut, original, up-to-date comedy element, the intense heart interest, all combine to make this "The World" a play of unusual merit. It will be presented in this city on next Saturday, by a specially organized company, under the direction of Mr. Earl Boy, manager who has earned a reputation for presenting high class productions in a manner that cannot fail to please.
