"How To Be Happy"

LEE FRANCIS LYBARGER TELL HOW

Third Number of S.U. Lecture Course in the Congregational Church

Despite the extreme cold weather the Congregational church was filled last night by the time the lecturer of the evening was presented, Mr. H. M. Frair, president of the University of Michigan, in a few well-chosen words introduced the lecturer. Mr. Frair said that "to be Happy" was the theme of the lecture. Four primary factors essential to happiness were emphasized by the speaker. The first was absolute freedom from anxiety, and faith is what the future may have in store. The greatest calamities that can happen to people are those that never happen at all. Health was the next most important factor necessary to happiness. Health is life itself. Without health life is and will be a failure. Following health, happiness is a sure thing in every place. Every one should be happy and should be contented in the joy of pursuits. The greater part of this life is spent in getting a living and the listener advised all not contented in their chosen vocation to get out at once and wear some other calling. Moderation was the last requisite of happiness achieved. All should drink their wine and their bread and caution should be used. The cup is nearing emptiness.

All expressed themselves as highly pleased with the lecture and a crowded house would greet Mr. Lybarger if he should return again to the city.

The closing number of the course will be given by Dr. Gannicus on "Gladsome." This will be given in the armory Wednesday, February 5.

The girls glee club meets to night at 7 o'clock.

Ivy Lane met last night with Miss Myra Lyon.

Prof. C. B. Semanske led the Peoria Bar Club last night on the "Biological Classification of the Animals."

The literary societies have advertised their Friday night programs on account of N. O. L. being preliminary.

Professor W. C. Wilcox will lecture before the teacher's association of Council Bluffs February 22 on the subject, "What Is an American." President MacLean is in Evanston today and he will deliver an address before a F. I. O. F. banquet tomorrow morning. He will be in Pella. He is a former resident of Upper Iowa University.

"An American Citizen" "Planted" in Des Moines

Best Dramatic Talent of the University Appears in Play—Ticket Sale has Been Large

"Are there any seats left for the Dramatic Club play?" "They are few but you'll have to try." The advance sale of seats to "An American Citizen" indicates that the student cast of Nat Goodman's hit will make their initial bow of the year to a crowded house. At the time of going to press between three and four hundred seats have been sold which is fully as much as not more than has ever before been sold in a play. The manage ment has made the price of admission fifteen cents which accounts for the large advance sale seats.

The Club has been working on this play since last November. If constant practice combined with dramatic ability means as much as the production tonight ought to make a decided hit. The rehearsals which have been daily for the past two weeks have been under the personal supervision of Dean Evarts whose experience in staging plays has been rich and varied. Last spring she assisted the Ottumwa high school in putting on this production.

Lawrence Morrissey who takes the title role in a freshman college who has unusual ability in the dramatic line and is familiar with the play having played the leading part in a high school rendition at Ottumwa under the instruction of Miss Evarts, assisted in the department of public speaking. Those who have seen the rehearsals say that his interpretation of the part is clear, strong and consistent throughout.

Burlington which furnishes more than her share of dramatic talent has cast Miss Sadie Jacobs in the part of leading lady. Miss Jacobs has probably been the still more than any other young woman in the university having starred last fall in "The Governor" and having previously won honors in many literary society functions.

Frank Sangster as Peter Barbury, a deaf old lawyer, making love to every woman he meets will more than maintain the reputation made in former plays. The remainder of the cast is as fine.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE POOR

MANLESS LAND FOR LANDLESS MAN

Plan Presented For The Benefit Of The General Poor of the United States

"Among the many schemes that have been presented in the past few years for the benefit of the poor, one of the most attractive to the student of social science is that of land colonization with Porter, of the Salvation Army states the proposition very clearly in a very few words. The rich man, and for the landless man, also to place unemployed labor on unemployed land by means of unemployed capital and thereby convert this trinity of want into the trinity of production."

So declares Claverno W. Wasey, principal of a school in Political and Social Science, who has been doing a study of the subject as a means of social amelioration.

The place of opportunity in the United States a large number of men who are honest, thrifty and worthy but who have no savings which make them absolutely helpless, (1) a large family and (2) no money. The plan which has been proposed to relieve this condition, is very simple. The government loans to bona fide settlers a sum of money to start them on the farm and buy their stoke and machinery. This sum is paid back to the government in ten years and the settler repays the same to the government in twenty or twenty yearly payments, with interest at six per cent. As soon as the settler has made a profit, the settler gives a first mortgage on the land.

"It is evident that the present national system of turning government lands over to the hands of speculators and speculators has proved a failure. The Homestead Act of 1862 is about to open up for settlement a large area of western land. It is important that this land should go into the hands of homesteaders rather than speculators. The colonization scheme outlined above would bring about such a result. It is not only good for the country but purifying them, but will be a good investment for the government."

"The Salvation Army has al ready colonized 170,000 acres in the colonies, one in California, one in Colorado and one in England. In every one is successful and the settlers are steadily paying back the capital from the garters, the money that was invested, and it is realized that the work is too large, so a private individual by a small contribution of money and scope and should therefore be in the hands of a government commission."

Amusements

One of the very best attractions seen at Emporium this season is presented in a beautiful comedy drama called "Sweet Cleaver", which opened its initial performance last night. It affords such a healthy contrast to the commonplace melodramas that to sit through the performance is a treat. There is a freshness and originality in the play that is appealing, dealing as it does, with life in New England. This will take place at the Opera House on next Wednesday night.
