The Hawkeyes and How They Look.

"Old Gold's" Prospects for the Coming Game Between Iowa and Chicago.

The Monmouth-Iowa game showed that Iowa is getting into form fast, because Monmouth put up a faster game and was heavier than Coe, whom Iowa played the week before. Iowa played a fearfully ragged game with Coe, and the play was not altogether devoid of raggedness with Monmouth, but there was more team-work, and all the men showed up better. McGowan got into the game again and made many line bucking and cross buck gains. Kent showed good headwork and good speed in quarterback runs. Green was a good ground gainer. Moore and Streff played the end positions well. Seidel guarded his tackle position in good style, and Fitz and Atkinson passed the pigskin well at center. Murphy played good consistent ball at left half and "Germany" was a good line buck. Rockwood showed his old time form at right guard. All of the men did better team work than heretofore, and the "subs" Simons, Fritzall, Barker and Knapp, showed up well. However, better ball must be played, and less fumbling done next Saturday when Iowa plays Stagg's men.

Tupper and Chalmers were out last night, after being on the sick list for some time. "Andy's" injured tendon is not very strong yet, but he expects to be able to help hold the Maroons on Saturday. These two men will go a long ways toward helping Iowa's line-up. "Cresco" White is not able to be out yet and is not expected to be able to play Saturday. His injured knee was lanced last evening.

Iowa will go to Chicago with a determination to win, even though the chances are all against her. Chicago will, however, have a hard proposition in the Hawkeyes, and will roll up no large score. Chicago played Wabash university, of Indiana, and beat the light Hoosier team but two touchdowns and a field goal. It was undoubtedly an off day for Chicago as the best men made many costly fumbles. Stagg told his men that if they didn't play better ball by Saturday Iowa would beat them. Eckersall is reported injured, and there is a possibility of his not playing Saturday.

Chicago has Beloit college to play tomorrow, but the latter, being very weak, will not put the Maroons to any inconvenience. Iowa has a good chance to make a fine showing if the men all play together, keep from fumbling and forget stage fright. The heavy Chicago backfield is the only great drawback to Iowa, for the Iowa backfield is exceedingly light as compared with Chicago. This fact was what overwhelmed Iowa last fall, together with the working to two teams by the Maroons. At any rate, a good hard game is expected, and it will be worth any one's seeing. This is the first game between "Big Nine" teams this season.

DR. WARD AMONG THE MUSQUAKIES.

Dr. Duren J. H. Ward, lecturer in anthropology in the University, recently returned from a several weeks' visit among the Musquakie Indians. The trip was undertaken for the purpose of investigating both the history and the present-day life of the tribe. Much valuable material was secured. Among that obtained by Dr. Ward, and presented by him to the State Historical society, are photographs of many prominent Musquakies, histories of the tribe, and information regarding their language.

One of the most interesting of these acquisitions is a manuscript written by a member of the tribe in the Musquakie tongue and giving the history of the people. This will be published in book form by the historical society. A model wick-i-up, prepared by comparison with those used by the members of the tribe, is also on exhibit in the library of the society.

NEWMAN SOCIETY ENTERTAINS.

The Newman society entertained the Catholic students of the University at Majestic hall Monday evening. Over 200 Catholic young men and women were present. Dignity was lent to the occasion by the presence of Hon. M. J. Wade, Attorney W. J. Baldwin and George Hummer, who delivered short addresses. Following the addresses, cards and dancing were the diversion of the evening. The fact that the increase in the number of Catholic students has been greater than that of any other religious denomination, was proved beyond a doubt by the large attendance. The affair was a success in every sense of the word.

A meeting of the University senate will be held Wednesday afternoon. At this meeting the faculty members of the athletic board of control will be appointed for the coming year. The faculty members of the board, at present, are Professors A. G. Smith, L. M. Byers, J. T. McClintock, W. J. Teeters and S. H. Bush. They have worked well together in the past and have given entire satisfaction, and it is quite probable that they will all be reappointed.

The senior engineers of the University are arranging for a trip to Cedar Rapids in a body, Friday afternoon. The purpose of the proposed trip to the Parlor city is to inspect the new steel and concrete bridge there. Prof. Lambert will accompany the students on the journey. On account of the low rates this week, it is thought that a large number will make the trip.

A NOTED ALUMNUS.

Mr. Kyoshi K. Kawakami, who will be remembered as a student in political science in the Graduate College, 1901-2, has been acting as press representative of one of the foremost Japanese dailies during the recent peace negotiations at Portsmouth. His portrait appears with that of other notable press representatives in the October number of the "Review of Reviews." The subject of Mr. Kawakami's master's thesis was "The development of political ideas in modern Japan."

ALUMNI SPEAK.

The preliminary program of the twelfth annual meeting of the North-eastern Iowa Teachers' association, to be held at Waterloo, Iowa, on October 19, 20, 21, has been issued. On the program are addresses and discussions by several University alumni, among them being the following:

"The Teaching Age," Prof. F. E. Bolton.

"The Reign of the Common People in Education," President H. H. Seerley, Cedar Falls.

"Inspection of the Teachers' Work," Supt. J. J. McConnell, Cedar Rapids.

Milton Remley Gives Good Address

Man Who Does Not Develop Religious Life With Intellectual and Physical, Becomes Lop-Sided.

Milton Remley addressed a good-sized and interested audience of men Sunday afternoon at Close Hall, on the topic, "Should a Man's Religious Life Lapse While in College?"

Judge Remley pointed out the fact that while a man may think his religious life is of secondary importance when he is attending college, it is a mistaken notion. A person is inclined to think that his college course is simply a preparation for life and that all his energies should be spent in getting his studies. "You are living now," said he, "and you are building your character now. What enters into your life now, will largely determine what your life in the years to come will be. To say that you can lay aside your religious life for a time and then take it up again, is over-confidence. No man can say that with surety, nor can any man map out a definite course for himself and follow it out in every detail."

He went on to say that a life in which the religious side is not equally physical is lop-sided. The address ended with an earnest appeal to the men to guard their spiritual natures as jealously as any other part of their lives.

NEW MEN IN IOWA.

The department of mathematics has lost two valuable men in the resignations of Mr. W. E. Beck and Dr. J. V. Westfall during the past summer. Mr. Beck has accepted an appointment as assistant in the computing division of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, while Dr. Westfall has accepted an actuarial position with the auditing firm of Haskins and Sells of New York City. Both resignations were due to comparatively more lucrative salaries afforded by the new positions.

The vacancies thus created have been filled by the appointment of Mr. R. P. Baker and Mr. C. M. Thorne to instructorships in mathematics. Mr. Baker is a graduate of the University of Oxford (England) and has done post graduate work at the University of Chicago and elsewhere. After graduating from the Northwestern university Mr. Thorne was offered an instructorship in that institution but declined in order to pursue advanced studies at Harvard university. Both are strong men and will render the University most efficient service.

If the freshmen yell that martial "Wash 'em out, Wring 'em out! Hang 'em on the line! Rock Chalk, Jay Hawk, 1909!" many times, the Chancellor will have some more duties as peacemaker.—Kansas.

PRESERVE PROPER PROPORTIONS.

The Greeks took for their motto, "Measure in all things." The measure of protection attained by the is evidence of the wisdom of this course.

Just now the football players hold the center of the college and university field. So little is said about other matters that one is likely to conclude that the game is the all important thing. In truth, this suggestion will be found in many newspaper jokes. The large amount of space devoted to the football team by the college journals sometimes grows wearisome to the unathletic student or alumnus.

The school papers are doubtless at fault sometimes, but the student who entirely neglects athletics is far from living up to the Greek ideal, and has some need of correction. The modern university student should aim to be broad in sympathies and in development. He should plan to do some athletic work, and should shout for the football team when the game is in season. On the other hand, the athletes should be ready to display no less enthusiasm when the time comes for those contests in which physical prowess is not the chief factor.

ADE'S FOOTBALL RULES.

George Ade proposes this code of rules for football that he guarantees will purge the game of its brutality:

Selection of Players—The eleven players constituting the team shall be selected by the faculty, and the student who has received the highest grade in Greek anthology shall be captain of the team. No student shall be eligible for the team unless he is up in all his class work and has an established reputation for piety.

Preliminaries—When a team appears on a field for a contest it shall greet the opposing team with the Chautauqua salute, which consists of waving the handkerchief. After this a few minutes of social intercourse, with friendly chats concerning books and writers, may precede the opening of the game.

While the players are circling around, the player known as "It" touches one of the players in a gentlemanly manner and asks him three questions, which must be answered, then he tries to guess the name of the player. If he succeeds, he picks up the ball and advances it fifteen yards.

Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Electric Railway will sell round trip tickets to Cedar Rapids carnival for 50 cents on October 2 to 7th inclusive. Extra trains will be run at 10:30 a. m. and 1:30, 4:30, and 7:30 p. m. and oftener as required.

"Iowa" Fobs at A. M. GREER'S.

On Friday at Ames about two hundred freshmen and 150 sophomores lined up on the campus for the annual fray, but President Storms appeared just as it was going to start. He succeeded in inducing the crowd to call it off. The sophomores divided into two parties, one starting towards town. A crowd of the freshmen headed them off at the bridge and a fierce scrap ensued. Both sides claim a victory. No one was seriously hurt. As the fracas was indecisive another will probably follow soon.

As the result of an attempt by a crowd of students to break up a carnival company showing at Madison, Mayor Curtis gave orders to the police to shoot any student resisting arrest or assaulting officers. President Van Hise of the state university urged officers and courts to show no discrimination against students, and said he would expel every student convicted in court and would suspend all arrested. At a convocation Friday President Van Hise severely scored students for rowdy conduct.

Fifteen thousand people attended the harvest home festival at Iowa Agricultural college Friday.

Pianos to sell, at A. M. GREER'S.

Grinnell, Iowa, Sept. 20—The annual class fight between 1908 and 1909 occurred this morning in the campus when the class of 1908 went down and out. Trouble had been brewing for the past few days and broke out this morning when it was discovered that about fifteen freshmen were bound and concealed. The freshmen outnumbered their opponents and after a half hour's struggle they came out victors. No one was injured.—Register and Leader.

The Daily Iowan, the student publication of the State University, was disposed of to F. L. Douglas, of Des Moines, for many years proprietor of the Midland Schools, and P. E. McClenahan, once editor of the Normal Eyte. Both these gentlemen are now students in the University. The affairs of the Daily Iowan have been badly mixed for the past two years. Members of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity were the principal stockholders. Some difficulty was experienced in gaining a clear title to the publication.—Normal Eyte.

SMART chaps are always eager to inaugurate the new season in advance of the throng. We shall hold our opening display of Fall and Winter overcoats much earlier than the other shops because this is a shop that doesn't cater to men of average ideas.

You swagger young fellows around the young twenties, who to-day are dictators of proper clothes will find laid out for choosing tomorrow.

They are nearer to the custom-tailor idea than any ready-to-wear garments have ever touched. They have all the little trickeries of special measurement—as much, if not more, swing and dash to them, and certainly an equal degree of fitting perfection.

You can't find clothes just like College Brand Clothes because there "ain't none", and different from clothes for men of settled tastes.

They are custom shouldered—custom draped—the cloths are custom cloths—the cut is the cut of custom shop. Every point has been strained to make them outstandingly clever without straining your income in their buying.

College Brand Clothes cost no more than any other good sort of ready-made clothing—this resemblance, however, is only price-deep.
