Kent Exonerated

IOWA QUARTER WILL PLAY IN DRAKE GAME.

Eligibility Committee Declares Kent Not Guilty of Charges Made Against Him.

A matter which has been under discussion for some time, was decided yesterday afternoon. "Morrie" Kent, Iowa's star quarterback, was not formally punished by either, but ten students' association directed a note calling the attention of Iowa authorities to several points where his eligibility might be questioned.

Conference officials including stag of Denver, King, of Northwestern, and Sampson, of Indiana, upheld Kent and the Iowa eligibility committee composed of Prof. A. G. Lambert and Prof. T. P. Rayner.

The committee disposed of the matter by ordeal as follows:

1. That the evidence that Kent received money for basketball in 1940 is not sufficient. Dismissed.

2. That he played with proficiency in 1941. Manager of team in question furnished affidavit that no professional was on the team when Kent played.

3. That he played more than one team this summer. A technical violation of this is admitted, but the second permit was granted in the absence of the athletic board chairmen by the director of athletics, who did not know that the first one had been issued. Kent did not know this was a violation of the conference rule.

The whole matter was submitted to the conference committee on eligibility, the body having jurisdiction on the third point raised. That body unananimously declared in favor of Kent.

Kent will play in the Drake game tomorrow and it is thought this will end the affair. No Hawkeyes could see what would have been Kent's fate if visiting Kent and he would have been badly missed in the next three games. Ames has several men who would stand a much greater chance of being thrown out than Kent and Ames should lose.

It is not Iowa's intention to protest any of Ames' men as it is believed the Iowa standard to do so, but if such was Iowa's wish it could easily clause.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The Drake special will arrive at 11:10 tomorrow morning and leave at 6:30 p.m. The Drake team arrives tonight. Dr. Morison is here confering with Manager Jones on the choice of officials for the game.

It will be a hard game tomorrow, but Iowa is confident "German" Rechman cannot be stopped, although Boston's team is counted in stop.

A novel feature of the game will be the announcing of the score by the means of golden winged messengers.

Lambrtly Lecture.

Mr. Lambert gave an interesting illustrated paper on "The Baldwin locomotive works" last evening at the program of the Engineering society.

These works are the largest of their kind in America and their product is found in nearly every country on the globe. The first American locomotive old Ironclad, built in 1831, was a Baldwin. Up to 1860, one thousand locomotives had been built, while the annual capacity is now over two thousand. The works cover eight acres, giving employment to eight thousand men, with a monthly payroll of over $5,000,000.

From the oldest, a clear idea of the magnitude and completeness of equipment was obtained, one of the most noticeable features being the overhead traveling cranes, which can pick up a bolt or a complete locomotive with equal facility.

ASTONISHED THE DENTS.

Miles DeBakey Tells How She Pulled Teeth With a Can Opener.

The dental students who chance to be in assembly this morning rubbed their eyes to see if they had not fallen asleep in one of the classes on dentistry, when their heard Miss Honora De Beke, of San Rafael, New Mexico, say that she had pulled three teeth with one of the old-fashioned tin openers.

Miss DeBakey is in the city in the interest of the Congressional Educational society, and is the guest of Prof. George. She told of her work among the Spanish speaking people in that territory, and had the most earnest of attention from the students in assembly this morning. She told how as a teather in San Rafael, seventy miles from a physician, she had been compelled to act as instructor and doctor to those people who had no conception of the proper care of the sick. They always insist on visiting sick friends and take all the children.

In this way contagious diseases are spread rapidly. The operative referred to the epidemics of diphtheria that had carried off many of the children because medical could not be had, and the people would not observe quarantine. She made an appeal that some of the young men and women go to some of these villages and help in this work.

The large salaries are not to be had, but where there is much need for intelligent help.

Thursday evening was the pleasant occasion of about thirty couples of Juniors and Seniors gathering in Majestic Hall for a dance, the orchestra furnishing the music.

The whole is tied with old gold ribbon. Ten cents will be the price asked.

OFFICIALS HARD TO GET.

Probable That Prall Will Be Umpire of Drake-Iowa Game and Coggeshall, Lineman.

The officials of the Drake-Iowa management are giving the managers more trouble than all the other details of the game put together. An agreement was reached early in the season that the officials should be Hoagland, Princeton, referee; Wai bridge, Lafayette umpire; and Out land Pennsylvania, linesman. Hoagland was the only man of the three that could be secured, and the probabilities are that John Prall will umpire and Coggeshall will be lines man.
