Iowa's Eckstein Makes Two Field Goals and "Germany" Goes Over For Three Touchdowns.

Iowa met St. Louis university yesterday before a crowd of 6,000 people, and won the championship of the Missouri Valley, by the score of 31 to 6. The St. Louis people say that Iowa has a great team. St. Louis was outplayed, outweighed and outfooted. There was no stopping of Iowa's speedy backs and shuffling tackles, although the Missourians fought desperately. It was a bitter struggle from start to finish and the large crowd (the largest of the season at a St. Louis game) was on the side of the Hawkeyes, and the police had to force the Iowa representive to leave.

"Morrie" Kent did himself proud, both in point of activity and skill, in his two beautiful kicks from the field. Iowa owes eight points to Mcgowan, one. McGowan made a fine pass, and McGowan, one. McGowan hurled for many gains, and McLane, Negative, Wright and Schwinn went over for three touchdown passes. Iowa has the bacon in the Iowa-Penn game, and the crowd (the largest of the season at a St. Louis game) was on the side of the Hawkeyes, and the police had to force the Iowa representative to leave.

"Big Nine," that's how the public reasons for the victory of Iowa over Minnesota. The score was 31 to 6, and Iowa has won the championship of the Missouri Valley, by the score of 31 to 6. The St. Louis people say that Iowa has a great team. St. Louis was outplayed, outweighed and outfooted. There was no stopping of Iowa's speedy backs and shuffling tackles, although the Missourians fought desperately. It was a bitter struggle from start to finish and the large crowd (the largest of the season at a St. Louis game) was on the side of the Hawkeyes, and the police had to force the Iowa representative to leave.

Kent kicked two hard field goals. There was a large crowd present. I should say there were 6,900 people in the crowd. Ten minutes before the close of the game, the crowd surged on to field and came near stopping its progress. Twenty justice delegates crowded the clover block. It was very cold and the people in front were standing up so that it was hard to see. These are the causes of the confusion. I left before a captain was elected so I do not know who he may be.

Leave Order at Iowa office for Special Football Number.

FOOTBALL SPECIAL.

Iowa Will Issue Special Football Number on Tuesday.

On next Tuesday the Iowa will issue a special football number. This will be something that every lover of the game will be interested in. It will contain pictures of the Iowa players, a complete summary of the scores made throughout the season, and an analysis of the standing of the team. Orders for extra copies should be left at the Iowa office, room 5, Liberty Art's, or at 218 Washington street. This will be a double issue, and on that account, there will be no is- sue on Saturday.

JIMMIE GIVES THANKS AND AD- VICE.

When the football boys presented Jimmie with the box of cigars and Thanksgiving turkey, a few evenings ago, he responded gracefully to their demands of "speech!" He reached his climax, as well as expressed the sentiments of the student body, when he said, "Thank you all, 'twas when Ames comes down tomorrow, I hope you'll be 'em. But don't act like rowdies look what they did at Ames."

IOWA WOMAN'S CLUB.

On Wednesday evening the Iowa woman's club, which is composed of wives, mothers of students in the University, gave a party to their husbands and sons. Mrs. H. W. Johnson, the president, was the hostess, and she had arranged games for those who came. Later a bon soiree was spread and all present had a chance to replenish the inner man.

Then every party was given a chance to guess authors from sug- gestion sentences, a few of the prom- inece guest's questions left in the air be- fore they departed. Every one present had a pleasant evening and hoped for another soon.

No Iowa Tomorrow on account of Double Football Number Tuesday.

PROFESSOR PLUM.

Miss Margaret Huntington and Prof. Harry Flux were to leave for Kingston, New York, at five o'clock yesterday. The bride was formerly a student for the State Historical Soci- ety.

KOMENSIAN SOCIETY.

The newly organized Komenian society, composed of students and alumni of the University, held their first program Wednesday night at the Phi- lant, Mr. Herbert opened the pro- gram by giving a brief history and purpose of the organization, stating that the meetings would be divided into semiary and literary programs. In the literary the usual formal work would be followed, and the semiary would be devoted to the study of the language, literature, geography and history of the Czech people. Mr. Herbert closed by giv- ing an excellent history in Bohemian of Czech people in America. A spread was served, after which more games were played, and finally the merry crowd departed.

Secures a Rare Book in London.

State Historical Society is Enriched by Find of Prof. T. J. Fitzpatrick, Collector.

After searching for nearly a quar- ter of a century for one of the rarest of the publications of Limnus, the father of the study of botany, T. J. Fitzpatrick, the expert in charge of the rare books of the state historical society of the state has recently secured the coveted edition from the shelves of an obscure London books- store. Professor Fitzpatrick's set of Limnus books is practically complete, but for this rare volume re- quested to be complete. It is said to be the only com- plete set west of New York, if indeed that the books are in one library there.

The different volumes of the set, some thirty in number, have been slowly gathered together during the past twenty years, and until lately needing but the volume recently re- quested to be complete. Professor Fitzpatrick received the tip from a friend who is par- ticularly interested in the works of the National Register, a political weekly published in 1845, that is now extremely rare; several libraries of Iowa counties, some of Des Moines, which have practical value.

A recent trip to St. Paul and Min- neapolis and a careful searching of the book stores there resulted in the discovery of several rare editions that are not in the Historical Society library at prices away under the mar- ket. Among the most impor- tant books secured was the "Harvard Collection of Historical Papers," published in Philadelphia in 1832, and now extremely valuable, as it contains political papers from nowhere else. Copies of the National Register, a political weekly published in 1845, that is now extremely rare; several libraries of Iowa counties, some of Des Moines, which have practical value.
