May Debate Nurse Dane

On account of the refusal of Nebraska to meet Iowa in debate, the Debating league met last night and decided to try to secure a debate with some other university. The Philanthropic society had some correspondence with Notre Dame. The society felt that they could not accept the challenge. It was thought that this might leave Notre Dame open for a debate with Iowa. A telegram was sent asking if they were still open for an acceptance of the proposition, and an answer was received by the telegram by the matter will be considered.

WILL NOT DEBATE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS.

Contemporary Say There is No Regular Signed Contract—May Be Case of Cold Feet.

(From The Daily Republican.)

The Iowa-Nebraska debate for this year was called off yesterday by Nebraska in a letter received from the debating authorities of that institution. They said that there was no regular signed contract for a debate this year and that they are not particular ly anxious to debate on account of the disagreement over judges at last year's contest.

Prof. H. E. Gordon, of the department of public speaking of Iowa university holds a tentative contract for this year's debate, signed for Iowa by the residence of students. While not binding on the schools, it is considered something of a case of "cold feet" to repudiate the agreement now. As regards the judges, the Iowa men were informed of Nebraska's customs by debaters of Kansas university and partially spat out a "remedy" for "cold feet." It was a considerable feeling over it, and the Iowa debaters are not overly sorry that the debate has been called off. They are endeavor to secure a two-years' contract with some other university. Among those which have been suggested are Illinois, Notre Dame and Northwestern. The Illinois debate will be held as usual this year.

STORY FROM HARLAN ABOUT.

Harlan, Iowa, Dec. 12—Bos. Wyland, an alumnus of the Harlan High school of the class of '69 and of the University of Iowa of '94, is winning honors at Yale University. He, with two young colleagues from Wisconsin, have constituted a debating team that up to this date has defeated all comers in the big university. The last team to meet defeat at the hands of the virile westerners was a trio from the law department of Yale. Mr. Wyland went to Iowa City without any means, fought his way to graduation, and is now putting himself through Yale through his own efforts, totally unaided by kindred or friends. At the recent municipal election in New York City, Mr. Wyland was one of the "Jerome" Watchers," who was doing the representing of Yale in the electoral campaign. The Jerome got a square deal in his fight for the directorship of that New York City—Register and Leader.

EQUIPMENT AND SAMPLES FOR ENGINEERS.

As part of the equipment recently received by the mining department, was a sample board of wire cloth and some drill core samples. There was a considerable feeling over it, considerable feeling from the Eta Kappa chapter of the Tau Beta Pi, which is the body in charge of the electrical engineering department.
