STUDY YOURSELF.

This, Says Dr. Bailey, Is the Way to Develop Physically.

On Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock, in the Hall of Liberal Arts, Dr. Bailey spoke to those interested in physical training. The subject, "How to Begin and Break Training." In the first place, he said, training must be gradually begun. No one can begin on a new task and accomplish the best work at once. One should begin and gradually take exercise to develop the heart and lungs. Then when he is in a good physical condition, he should be careful during the summer and beware of exercises so that later he will not have to recover what he has lost.

As to diet, every man should be a law unto himself. We must forget rules and learn to study ourselves, and then act accordingly. What agrees with one may be bad for another and vice versa. We should beware of stimulants. Tea, coffee, pastry, tobacco or liquors are sure to do some harm and are of little value to anyone.

The process of breaking training regular exercise and going to excess should also be a gradual one. There is much danger in suddenly stopping

ALUMNI CLINIC WILL MEET HERE.

Executive Committee Issues Invitations For the Third Annual Alumni Clinic.

The executive committee of the Dental Alumni association of the State University of Iowa, has just issued invitations for their third annual alumni clinic. The dates set for the clinics are February 5 and 6, 1906, and arrangements are being made by the committee for a large attendance and the most elaborate and successful program of the series. When complete the program will include clinics by leaders on all the more important phases of dental work. These clinics have increased in popularity each year and they are coming more and more to be the occasions of grand dental alumni reunions, and aside from the educational features, the practical demonstrations of the modern developments in the profession, the alumnus finds this the best time of the year to renew his college friendships.

SECRET OF THE MUSQUAKIE NATION.

Dr. Ward Talks Entertainingly at Assembly.

The secret of the Musquakie nation is its religion, says Dr. Ward. The reason they are so conservative is the fear within them that the world outside may destroy their sacred things—the ideals they strive to preserve.

Push-e-ton-ka, the chief, said to Dr. Ward that the Musquakies were created from the heart of the Great Spirit. Other peoples are not pleased to hear this, hence they fight the Musquakies.

PROFESSORS BACK FROM FORESTRY ASSOCIATION.

Professors Macbride and Wickham are back from the annual meeting of the Iowa Park and Forestry association, which met at Des Moines, December 11 and 12.

The session was successful and interesting. Prof. Wickham was elected treasurer. Professor Macbride is secretary.

Among the prominent visitors at the association was Baron Von Bayer, a German who has come to this country to make his permanent home.

Prof. Shimek and J. C. Monnett were among the University people on the program, and were unable to be present, but sent papers to be read.

ILLINOIS STUDENTS GO TO MICHIGAN.

Editor Daily Iowan:

Anent your article in this evening's paper on the "Iowa Club at Illinois University" it may be interesting to note that while, according to recent statistics, there are 101 students from Iowa in the University of Illinois, there are 285 from Illinois in the University of Michigan. It would seem, in view of this palpable fact, that the authorities of the Illinois institution might do well to confine their canvass for students within the limits of that state, instead of extending it each year into Iowa. However, if Illinois tax payers are willing to pay the bills, we have no objections of course.

ALUMNUS SUFFERS MISFORTUNE

The following was clipped from a Waterloo paper:

"The many Waterloo friends of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Munger, now residents of Greenville, S. C., where Mr. Munger is secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the big Monaghan mills near that city, will regret to learn that their beautiful little home, designed by Mr. Munger and built especially for him, was burned on the fifth of December."

Mr. Munger graduated from the University in '92, and was student Y. M. C. A. secretary for Iowa after leaving here. He is engaged in work among mill hands under the national committee. Mr. Munger is a pioneer, since this is the first work of the kind undertaken by the association.

BACONIAN.

The regular meeting of Baconian club will be held on Friday evening, December 15, at 7:30. Prof. Ford will read the paper of the evening, subject, "Electric Power Transmission."

DEANS AND STUDENTS MEET.

Last evening the deans of the colleges and the student delegates met and discussed plans for the further development of the student organization. This organization consists of about sixty or seventy students who are representatives from all the organizations in the school. The County Club movement was also discussed.

HOLIDAY RATES.

The Rock Island will sell excursion tickets for the holidays at one and one-third fare for the round trip.

Tickets on sale December 22d, 23d, 24th, and 25th, and 30th, 31st and January 1st. Call at ticket office for particulars.

Prof. Smith Talks About Football.

SAYS WE SHOULD DO AWAY WITH INTERCOLLEGIATE GAMES.

Believes that Football Should be as a Means of Physical Development for Class Teams—The Present Evil Lies in the Spirit With Which it is Regarded.

(From The Daily Republican.)

"If we forbid intercollegiate football entirely, and keep football as a means of physical development for our class teams, within the university, every evil that is now decried will disappear." Such is the conclusion of Professor A. G. Smith, chairman of the Eligibility committee and ex-president of the Western conference. "The whole evil in the game today lies in the spirit with which the university faculties, alumni and students regard it. The desire to win at any cost; the demand made of the coach that he produce a winning team or go; the counting of that season successful which shows the greatest number of victories irrespective of the honest effort of the men engaged in the game are but evidences of that spirit.

"Brutality is not a cause but a result. No amount of legislation will ever be able to correct it. Only that which changes the spirit with which we regard the game can hope to wipe out the numberless petty evils that loom so large in the public press. Theoretically we are building up the men who play the game, physically. That is the object of football as it is of any sport, but practically we are developing teams in an attempt to defeat Minnesota or Chicago or some other Conference team. Under a system where football is confined to class teams who play among themselves, brutality would disappear. No class would permit the bully or the brute to remain in the game.

"Yet under our present system the desire to win encourages that very man. The entire moral tone of the university has been lowered by his act. The abolition of the intercollegiate contests will not do away with the injuries. Accidents will accompany every sport, but it will do away with conscious injury to an opponent which is aided and abetted by the undergraduates on the side lines. I do not claim that the remedy proposed is the only one. But I know that it is the only sure one proposed. It would effectually put an end to proselyting and grafting for there would be neither the occasion for the one nor the opportunity for the other. Football would be played for sport's sake and commercialism would disappear. At the present time the game has become professional in spirit. The physical limitations of football "material" are so narrow that only about twenty-five men out of fifteen hundred ever try for the team at Iowa.

AN OPINION OF VALUE.

The interview of Prof. Smith is a valuable contribution to the football discussion. It is also quite admirable for the courage it displays. This makes it of greater value. One is not going to criticize so severely a game which occupies the foremost position in all the colleges unless he thinks the condition is serious.

There is, however, no man in the University from whom such criticism could come with more propriety. There is no question of his sympathy with the proper kind of athletics. Nor can it be said that he doesn't know.

There should be much of this frank discussion, and then there should be action. There is no reason why Iowa should not be among the leaders of those seeking to correct football and other athletic evils. There is every reason why she should not be in the rear of the procession. And the one evident fact is that the procession is going to move.

"Our coaches know long before registrations in the universities begin, just what men they will have to develop a team, whether five hundred or five thousand men enter school that fall. In spirit the proselyted player is a professional. Unfortunate newspaper notoriety has distorted the true statue of the game. Under the conditions proposed nothing is lost that we cannot afford to lose. The good in the game remains. Physical development and fair contest, remains. The game is thrown open to the undergraduate body as all true sport should be. Brutality, proselyting, notoriety and unfairness would be impossible.

"Nothing can be accomplished along the lines suggested without the combined aid of all the middle western universities. But changes made along the lines suggested would put an end to every evil without the necessity of changing a single rule.

New Gym. Class Organized.

An evening gymnasium class has been organized to meet on Monday at seven thirty p. m., Wednesday at eight and on Saturday at four thirty. This is to accommodate medics, engineers and those who are not able to come at the regular time. The physical department does not advocate night exercise if it can be gotten at other times, but organizes this class to accommodate irregular students.

Basket Ball.

The basket ball team will play the Coe team at Cedar Rapids next Saturday, at 2:30 p. m. Our boys are playing a good game and we hope to duplicate the work of last Saturday.

It is not too much to say that "The Forbidden Land," last season's marked comic opera success, which will be seen here at the Coldren next Friday evening, December 15, is by far the best work of its kind that has been written in many years. It is rational, consistent, well written, both as to book and musical score, and is deserving of the wide attention it has received throughout the country, particularly in New York and Chicago. Seat sale opens this evening.

PERSONAL, LOCAL AND GENERAL

Conducted by P. E. McCLENAHAN.

The Minnesota Daily will issue a Christmas edition.

Our junior is on time. The picture for the Annual is in the hands of the editor.

Nebraska has had a secret girls mass meeting. What in the world may we expect next?

Evidently the editor of the I. S. C. student has some sore spots from the way he jumps at "Iowa." More kid stories.

Do you know that school closes in one week from tomorrow? Now is the time to dig. Then rest in vacation.

Dr. E. L. Kauffman '05, of Downey, is in the city today attending the meeting of the Central Iowa Homeopathic Association.

Professor Magowan has gone west on business, and will be absent during this week.

Professor Patterson is again at home after his New York trip.

J. K. Ingalls of Chicago has been elected to membership in the State Historical society.

Cornell seems to be going around with a debating chip on its shoulder. Is there no college in Iowa that cares to knock it off?

Princeton and Harvard are to play association football next week. They are organizing and will play games all winter, and close the season in March.

Nebraska has concluded that she can't debate Iowa. Does the climatic conditions have any thing to do with it, or the sign of the times indicate her downfall?

Melzner is the 1906 captain of the Wisconsin squad. He is a senior law but stays another year where duty calls him.

Two hundred Leland Stanford students and six police had a rough and tumble fight recently at a presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Michigan and Chicago will debate on January 19. The question chosen is, "Resolved: That a commission should be given power to fix railroad rates." Michigan will also debate Wisconsin this year.

The Minnesota Daily ranks the freshman big nine football teams as follows: Wisconsin, Minnesota, Chicago, Illinois, Iowa, Northwestern, Perdue and Indiana. You had better make another guess.

The national football committee is called to meet in New York on next Saturday. The members of the committee are: Walter Camp, Yale; Paul J. Dashiell, Lehigh and Annapolis; John C. Bell, Pennsylvania; Prof. L. M. Dennis, Cornell, R. D. Wrenn, Harvard; Prof. J. B. Fine, Princeton and A. A. Stagg, Chicago.

There will be a meeting of all the civil engineers in room 16, Hall of Liberal Arts, this evening at 6:30 to affect a temporary organization as a society.

The masons have almost completed their work in the new engineering hall, and the carpenters are in possession of the upper floors, hanging doors and making the interior habitable.

Friends of Mrs. J. F. Brown are sorry to know that she has had the typhoid fever since going to Laramie, Wyoming. They are pleased to know that she is much improved.

The National Educational Association has decided to meet at San Francisco, Cal., on July 9-13. This is a great chance for a cheap visit to the west.

Coach Yost seems to be in line for the presidency of the Ann Arbor institution. At least he is better known and more lionized now than the president.
