Minnesota Preliminary.

This is the Time to Shout for the Orators—Remember This Next Tuesday.

The Minnesota preliminary debate will take place in the opera house next Tuesday evening. This is the first of a series of forensic contests under the auspices of the Debating League, which is composed of Zetagathian society and Irving Institute.

The question is one which is of especial interest at the present time. Irving Institute, through her representatives, E. R. Barnard, Walter Myers and W. F. Riley, will affirm the question, "That, the United State should establish a fiscal protectorate over any South American, Central American or West Indian republic manifesting a chronic failure to meet its foreign financial obligations." Zetagathian will defend the negative, represented by Ray Files, W. T. Brinton, and R. C. Cleveland.

The final contest will be held in Minneapolis the first of February. Two men from the winning and one from the losing team in the preliminary will represent the University of Iowa in the final contest. This promises to be an interesting debate. Both sides are confident, and the discussion will be spirited throughout.

The judges chosen are Dean Gregory, Prof. Houser and Professor S. B. Sloan. President Rinker of the Debating League will preside.

The debate will not start until 8:30 on account of the basketball game, which will take place at 7 o'clock.

GREAT SUCCESS.

The Days Pleas'd Everybody Immensely and the Lecture Bureau is to Be Congratulated.

Last night at the Coldren, the third number of the University lecture course was given by the caricaturists, Elias Day and Orrane Truitt-Day, both of whom demonstrated their ability as high class entertainers. The audience was large and gave the very best of attention to the many well rendered parts, although, as suggested by Mr. Day, it takes two "Days" to give it, yet there is no doubt that the program would have been enjoyed to the end if still longer than it was.

Mr. Day, in agreement with his contract with the bureau which has charge of his work, to make his entertainments a little instructive, said he always attempted to make it just as little instructive as possible. However, there can be no question that the evening was not only one of entertainment but of instruction as well. Mr. Day first gave an exposition of the art of story telling, illustrating with some well chosen selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Day then gave a little play, which may have been especially interesting to the ladies, as it gave some pointers as to how to avoid the milliner's bills. However, it was very much enjoyed by all.

But Mrs. Day showed her great ability in her impersonation of the eleven-year-old boy, who having fallen in love with his Sunday school teacher, becomes despondent upon hearing that the lady is to be married.

Mr. Day seemed more entertaining every time he appeared. His impersonation of the typical southern gentleman, which he became in about one minute with the help of his wig and a few touches of paint, was especially fine. It would be well if Mr. Day could give this in every town in the north, as it gives a view of southern life often too little understood by us northerners.

Any one who has ever watched an inexperienced person at a telephone, certainly would declare Mr. Day's last number as nearly perfect as could be imagined.

The entertainment last night was a good continuation of the high order of the course as established by the first two numbers.

MISS EVARTS AWAY NEXT WEEK.

Miss Everts, dean of women, will be away the first of next week attending a conference of deans of women of the state universities in the United States. The session will be in Chicago and will continue from Monday till Wednesday, inclusive.

During the absence of Miss Everts Prof. Gordon will conduct her classes.

A NEW SOCIETY.

The Mystic Trailers, a newly organized Indian literary society is showing much activity and has bright prospects. The various committees are making rapid progress and the constitution is nearly completed.

The officers are as follows: L. Elmer Lampe, president; Miss Elma Snyder, vice president; Miss Geneva Pickering, secretary; Miss Mabel Anderson, treasurer; Roswell Puckett, sergeant at arms.

HOLIDAY TRIP FOR THE MINING ENGINEERS.

The mining engineers will take advantage of the holiday vacation to inspect the coal mines at Centerville, Iowa. The party will be in charge of Mr. C. L. Bryden, and all of the four classes will be represented. The trip will be made immediately after Christmas and will last several days, during which time a complete survey will be made of a mine of the Centerville Block Coal Co.

These trips are of great practical value to the members of the department and will be taken during the course in conjunction with the summer field work.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF REGENTS IN SESSION.

The executive committee of the board of regents is in session today. Nothing of importance has been done. Bills were allowed and routine business was transacted.

Mr. Holbrook and Colonel Abernathy were present, and will adjourn until next week, when Judge Babb will be able to be present.

EDDA.

At the Edda meeting Friday, December 15, President Preuss of Luther college, lectures on a topic connected with early Iowa history. Due to a previous report to the contrary, it is here stated that the lecture will be in English. Room 203, Hall of Liberal Arts, 8 o'clock p. m. The public is invited.

Hawkeye All Right.

Ready for Printer February 1, and Will Be the Best Ever.

The pictures for the '07 junior annual are being received in the Hawkeye office daily, in large numbers, and the first form of the book will be in the hands of the printer by February 1st.

All the individual members of the board are hard at work. The art department will be a feature this year that will excel all previous efforts in this line. The class is especially fortunate in securing an artist of such rare talent as Miss O'Brien possesses, to superintend this part of the book.

The business managers have prepared a prospectus of the coming Hawkeye to send out to the alumni and friends of the University, and the book promises to have the largest circulation in its history.

When put on the market it will contain over four hundred pages of good, interesting, readable matter. The athletic department will take much more space than ever, in order to keep pace with the championship stride the University has maintained in the past year. Mr. Coyle, who has this in charge, has most of the data and other material in hand ready for the printer. Miss Waters has many novel and original plans for the literary phase of the publication, which will put that department of the '07 Hawkeye at par with that of any junior publication in the west.

The mere mention of the name, Will F. Riley, is a fitting testimonial of the high standard of excellence which the humorous feature of the book will attain.

The department editors are also busy, and many new ideas will add an interesting and novel tone to the coming Hawkeye.

A GREAT CHANCE.

In few places in Iowa is there such a chance for a student as in Iowa City. The school has a large number of men and women who are earning their way through school. In the engineering school, 40 per cent. of the freshmen are earning their way. The merchants and residents of the town are ever mindful of the student, and when a young man or woman wishes to earn his way, he is given a chance. Hundreds of students are employed, and yet, there is room for more. The University is in town, and a student can work for his room and board without loss of time in going and coming.

Then the young people who work here are not alienated from the student body as in some places. The student who works his way has the same social advantages as the one who does not. Many of our leading students are those who are daily earning their bread and a college education at the same time.

There is little excuse now for a person without an education.

BE CHEERFUL.

The I. S. C. Student devotes two columns to a warm discussion of the Clarion's writeup of the Iowa-Ames game. The editor may be, to some extent, justified for a feeling of wrathiness, and has, on the whole, maintained quite a reasonable attitude. Yet he descends to the "you're another" argument in one or two cases. This kind of discussion is never profitable and does not prove anything.

To begin with, the Clarion is not a publication in any way connected with Iowa university or its student body. We believe that the I. S. C. people themselves consider what was said in the Iowan regarding the matter as quite reasonable. If we recall correctly, the Iowa City Republican handled it much in the same way. The Republican reporter is a University student. The Clarion article was doubtless written by the editor, who was at the game, and cannot be taken to in any way reflect the opinions of University people.

Part of Editor Reddick's report was inexcusable. Iowa State College is not to blame for being placed in a small town no better equipped with hotels and other city conveniences than other small towns similarly located. Nor is I. S. C. any the less a great institution for being so situated. Even with all its lack of conveniences, I. S. C. is host to several thousand good Iowa people every year, and they are said to go away very well pleased indeed. A man who wouldn't be willing to make a meal or two off from bologna, crackers and cheese to see the greatest agricultural college in the United States has a poor conception of the things that are worth while. Mr. McClenahan, business manager of the Iowan, was there. He says, "The treatment of Iowa was the best that could be desired until evening, just before the excursion train left Ames." We do not believe I. S. C. people would care to be found defending what occurred then.

There is nothing to be gained by having two of Iowa's great institutions get an ugly feeling toward each other. In fact there is every reason why they should not do so. Each has a line of work that is very important, and each should have twice as many students as it has, and in addition should have the loyal support of all Iowans, including those in the other institution.

PERSONAL, LOCAL AND GENERAL

Conducted by P. E. McCLENAHAN.

Professor Loos is in Des Moines today.

Death in the family of a brother has called Mr. Hugh Buffum to Oeola.

The Zets have an all freshman program this evening.

The Lutheran chdroch will hold a social tonight in the church parlors.

R. L. Barnett, '08, is in the hospital. He was operated upon yesterday.

The Zets have an election of officers tonight. This means oysters on some one.

Minnesota Preliminary debate comes on the same night as the basket ball game. "What shall the harvest be?"

There was a supper given at the armory last evening, and many students were present.

Katheryn Nebe is recovering from tonsillitis, which has kept her from school since Thanksgiving.

F. E. Snedcor writes from Washta, Iowa, that he has discovered that a diploma from S. U. I. does not mean that one knows all there is to be known.

L. Elmer Sample, Applied Science, '09, spent Saturday visiting friends at Cedar Rapids, where he had been attending college last year.

This is the sympathetic time of year. You can see couples in the hall looking serious and—Well perhaps it is in the weather.

The women in Coe, Cornell and the State Normal play Hockey. It is said to be a very popular game for both men and women.

Chicago News: Between football and fraternity initiations, going to college will soon be considered an act worthy of a Carnegie medal.—R. L.

There will be a special meeting of the Engineering Society next Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock, room 16, Hall of Liberal Arts, to elect a Transit staff.

There is a story of an S. U. I. graduate who is very successful with the boys where he is teaching, but the girls have no time for him. Poor fellow!

The public speaking class adjourned yesterday from the class room to the assembly room, where they spoke from the platform. They are now preparing for their lecture recital.

Miss Sadie Holiday will lead the Y. W. C. A. Sunday, Dec. 17. This is the Christmas meeting and every girl should come. Subject "A Christmas Gift."

The Y. W. C. A. girls are getting out a University calendar. The views are all new and attractive. Just the thing for a Christmas gift. They are on sale at the book stores, 35c apiece or 3 for $1.00.

Mrs. F. C. Eastman of Cedar Falls is in Iowa City today. She is the editor of the Young Citizen. This is the only child's magazine published in the state.

The Yale News publishes a list of the students who purchased tickets for the speculators on foot ball games. In the future they will not be allowed to purchase tickets.

As a rule the freshman is the one who needs the college paper in order to get acquainted with his school, and yet the rule is that seniors subscribe most readily.

The bulletin boards are decorated from top to bottom with a very fine line of artistic programs. If the society productions equal in merit the artist's work, students cannot afford to miss them.

An amateur correspondent is writing to Chicago papers about the "advantage of the collective work of Coach Heston," in preparing the Des Moines college team and the Drake university team to meet Iowa.—R. L.

Compared with the alacrity with which students bolt classes when the professor is four minutes and fifty-nine seconds late, the fidelity of these same students in holding their places in the line-up at the seat sale yesterday is rather remarkable.—Michigan Daily.

St. James Barber shop, 109 Iowa ave.

See Nosek & Zeithammel for college style and city style tailoring.

The athletic board of Drake university has invited "Willie" Heston to remain another season as football coach, at a salary of $1,400. It is not likely that Heston will accept, as it is his intention to go into business. The early action of the board is explained by the fact that newspaper rumor had it that Drake was dissatisfied with their coach.—Michigan Daily.

Coach Reid of Harvard, in recommending changes in football says this: "Although I am willing to admit that the necessary roughness of the game may be objectionable to some people, that appears to me to be much less serious than the brutality and the evasion of the rules—offenses which in many instances the officials cannot detect, because they are committed when the players and the ball also are hidden from the eyes of the umpire."—Ex.

The Minnesota Daily has the following Iowa men on an all western freshman team, center, Hastings; right end, Carberry. It has the following to say of the men:

Carberry of Iowa, while not such a quick mover, held down his end in good shape in the Minnesota game and smothered many of Frykmen's end runs.

At center Hastings of Iowa is head and shoulders above the others, mostly on account of his weight. He is always in the play, which most centers are not, and should be heard from on the Iowa Varsity next year.
