Professor Seashore Returns Pres.

At the beginning of the Fall term Professor E. F. Seashore, a member of the Editorial staff of the Review of Reviews, addressed the Philosophical club at Columbia university, New York, and delivered five addresses on the following subjects:

1. The competition is open to any student, man or woman, registered during the Fall term, in any American college or university or technical school in which the writer belongs, must be mailed or delivered before January 1, 1906, addressed to the Editor of the Review of Reviews, JOHN HUSTON FINLEY, President, 213 Liberal Arts building. His Excellency, President of the New York Historical Society, will be the judge of the competition.

2. Papers submitted by competitors must not exceed 10,000 words in length.

3. Papers, accompanied by the full name and address of the writer and signature of the class and college, university or technical school in which the writer belongs, must be mailed or delivered before January 1, 1906, addressed to the Editor of the Review of Reviews, JOHN HUSTON FINLEY, President, 213 Liberal Arts building. His Excellency, President of the New York Historical Society, will be the judge of the competition.

4. Papers submitted in competition, other than the one to which the first prize is awarded, will be destroyed as soon as the prizes have been awarded, unless at the time of submission the writer reserves the right to have the return of the manuscript and furnishes a full stamped and properly addressed envelope for the purpose, and the results will be announced through the public press as soon after February 15, 1906, as practicable.

5. The junior annual board at Kansas university offers a prize of ten dollars for the best short story, and ten folders for the best poem submitted by students of the university, President Gordon of Howard university, who was recently elected by the students of his school, and the University of Illinois, who has resigned his resignation. He was formerly in the New York college, and acted as president for a short time.

6. The prizes will be awarded by a committee of judges chosen for the purpose, and the results will be announced through the public press as soon after February 15, 1906, as practicable.

7. Papers must be submitted in handwriting for the competition. Any one of the following subjects may be chosen:
