Good Game.

REDDY GRIFFITH IS ALL RIGHT.

Scarlet and Black Compliments Iowa Team—Says Game Was Fast and Free from Objectionable Features.

Grinnell people seem to feel good about the basketball game played with Iowa both because their team won and because the Iowa team is composed of good fellows. The following quotations from Scarlet and Black would indicate that such is the case:

"The teams were evenly matched and it was a toss-up as to who would be the winner. Grinnell showed superiority in throwing baskets but, on the other hand, was lamentably weak in throwing fouls, not being able to score a single point. Griffith for Iowa was very reliable and threw fouls with a painful regularity during a greater part of the game. The game was fast and free from all wrangling which has marred some contests.

"In the second half the playing was more fierce though not so fast. Iowa was determined to overcome Grinnell's lead and accomplished her purpose up to the very last minute of play. Grinnell secured three baskets and Iowa two, but the latter profited from awards and Griffith's ability to throw fouls. In the last minute of play, DeHaan threw the basket which saved the day and won for Grinnell. The whistle blew, and history had been repeated.

"Capt. Griffith said, when leaving Iowa City, that, 'we'll trim 'em all right.' The little captain has another guess coming, but nevertheless it wasn't his fault that his prophecy didn't come true. His basket throwing was superb."

DEBATING ORGANIZATION.

Northwestern recently organized a Platform Club chapter.

The object of this organization is to promote oratory and debating. The only men eligible are those who have actually taken part in some inter-collegiate contest. The Universities of Michigan, Chicago, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Northwestern now have a chapter of this club. Plans are being formulated to make it an inter-collegiate association and a Greek name will probably be chosen. These plans will be considered at the Northern Oratorical League contest to be held in May at Oberlin.—Exchange.

Never in the history of the university has the athletic situation been in such a chaotic state as at the present. With no likelihood of having an expert football coach, if any at all; with but little hope of having a baseball team, and at last the resignation of Alvin C. Kraezlein as coach of the track team, the athletic future of Wisconsin is extremely dubious.—Daily Cardinal, Wisconsin.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Something About Our Graduates Who Are Out in the Busy World.

Chas. C. Helmer, law '01, is county attorney of Carroll county, and has besides this work a heavy practice in the courts of Carroll county.

Jas. H. Myers, L. A. '98, one of the star football players of his day, is now established in San Jose, California, where he is engaged in business.

Chas. E. Reynolds, law '90, is the senior member of the law firm of Reynolds & Meyers, Carroll, Iowa.

Miss Minnie Grant Talbott, law '99, is now known as Mrs. G. M. Stanton, and is living in Carroll, Iowa.

Miss Makepeace Morris, L. A. '04, is a successful teacher of Latin and German in the Carroll high school.

Dr. Wm. M. Humphrey, dent '89, of Carroll, Iowa, retains his warm interest in all affairs of the University and from time to time sends promising students to alma mater. Dr. Humphrey is doing crown and bridge work of such quality as to attract the attention of the brotherhood.

A representative of the University called upon Kit W. Morean, law '93, in his office at Glidden, Iowa, and found him the same happy, genial soul as in his old university days. Mr. Morean is very pleasantly situated and has no quarrel with anyone.

Dr. J. A. Downs, '97, has an extensive town and country practice at Glidden. Dr. Downs maintains his own private laboratory, makes nearly all of his own tests, and is a scientist of no mean attainment.

Dr. Hanna Dillinger, dent. '98, is now known as Mrs. Frank Gates. Mrs. Gates keeps up her active practice as dentist while her husband, Dr. Gates, is a physician in regular practice.

Miss Mary M. Porter has since Christmas been teaching English in the Glidden high school, having taken the place left vacant by the resignation of Miss O'Dell who has returned to the University for further work.

Dr. Jas. E. Conn, '92, of Ida Grove, and his brother Dr. Carlton E. Conn, '95, of Battle Creek, have established an excellent hospital at Ida Grove, which is proving not only a satisfactory financial investment, but a boon to the people of that community who need hospital treatment.

Frank P. Clarkson, '95, is editor and proprietor of the Ida County Pioneer at Ida Grove. Mr. Clarkson was associated for some time with the Register and Leader and his success as a newspaper man is thoroughly established in Iowa.

Wm. E. Johnston, '90, and Albert C. Johnston, '04, his brother, are in partnership as lawyers in Ida Grove, the firm name being Johnston & Johnston. These young men have one of the most extensive practices in Ida county.

Dr. G. C. Moorhead, '79, is in active practice at Ida Grove, where he has been for many years.

GRAHAM TAYLOR WILL BE HERE

Noted Chicago Divine and Social Settlement Worker Will be Here March 11 and 12.

Rev. Graham Taylor, who is famous for his social settlement work in Chicago will be here March 11 and 12. While his primary purpose in coming is to deliver the installation address at the Congregational church, he will speak at vespers at 4:30 on Sunday in the University at 4:30 on the students, and will deliver a public lecture under the auspices of the school of political and social science on Monday at four thirty in the general lecture room of the hall of liberal arts. The subject of his lecture will be: "The Social Tendencies of Modern Industry."

Mr. Taylor has for some time been a professor in the Chicago Theological seminary and has gained a wide reputation both as a lecturer and as a prime mover in the social settlements and civic betterment of Chicago. He is a trusted friend of labor and capital and has often served these interests as arbitrator. He is also director of the school of philanthropy connected with the Chicago university. Monday evening he will deliver the installation lecture at the Congregational church, and it is possible that he will deliver a lecture at the Political Science club later in the evening.

LIGHT SPOTS SCATTERED AMONG BIG PATCHES OF DARKNESS.

This, Says Prof. Nutting, is the Probable Condition of the Deep Sea.

One of the most interesting of the series of scientific lectures now being given occurred last night when Prof. Nutting explained the mysteries of the deep sea.

There are few scientists so well fitted to talk on this subject as the professor, whose many ocean voyages make him quite an "old salt."

The bottom of the deep sea, he said, would be utterly dark were it not for the phosphorescent fauna found there. He showed pictures of fishes with phosphorescent spots down their sides. These he explained, would look like lighted windows as they passed through the water. It is the crowding together of the fishes and other creatures that makes the light districts. It is probable that these spots are considered desirable to live in, and on this account the struggle for existence among those seeking to consume each other is very strenuous.

Lantern slides of fishes able to swallow animals with bodies bigger than their own were thrown upon the screen. Likewise many other things, wonderful as the fancied monsters of the ancients.

Barry Conaway, the football giant who played in Drake's team here last fall is elected track captain at that school.

Judge Haddock

Passes Away.

William J. Haddock, For Thirty-Eight Years Secretary of the State University Passes Away.

The flags on the University buildings are at half mast today in honor of Judge William J. Haddock, for thirty-eight years secretary of the institution, who died at his home on east Washington street Wednesday afternoon at quarter past four, after an illness of over three weeks. Paralysis was the immediate cause of his death.

The day of his death was his seventy-fourth birthday, as he was born in the county of Antrim, Ireland, February 28, 1832. He leaves a wife and three brothers.

Over a generation ago he was judge of the eighth judicial district and was master of chancery in the United States court. Judge Haddock came to Iowa City in 1856, and in 1861 entered the firm of Clark and Haddock attorneys. After the death of Mr. Clark he gave up his law practice to become secretary of the University, which office he held consecutively for thirty-eight years. In 1902 he resigned and since then he has lived a retired life at his home at 802 east Washington street. It was in this office that he gained his great popularity, and acquaintance, which extended over the entire state and nation. To many of the lawyers now practicing in Iowa and other states, he administered the oath.

No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

EXHIBITION DRILL.

The 'Varsity Rifles will give its first free exhibition drill on the evening of Wednesday, March 6. This organization is the only voluntary one that has existed in the military department here, it having been organized last fall at the suggestion of Lieutenant Weeks. The company has drilled every Wednesday night since its organization and has reached a high standard of proficiency, which will doubtless be exemplified on the occasion of the exhibition drill.

Undergraduates at Yale are finding much fault with the annual junior prom there. The chief objection is the great expense connected with it; the man of ordinary means cannot follow the pace it sets. The Yale "Set" says editorially: "Abolish the prom and let nothing take its place. It is undemocratic, and its importance is superficial. The campus really would be glad to see it go. The faculty, too, oppose it, one member claiming that the work of the class is more disturbed by it than even the Yale-Harvard football game."

Illinois university will build a new auditorium.

"TAINTED MONEY" IN COLLEGES.

W. J. Bryan has resigned as a member of the board of trustees of Illinois college, his alma mater. The reason is that the trustees have seen fit to accept a substantial gift from Andrew Carnegie, and Mr. Bryan believes that the acceptance of gifts from a man of the Carnegie stamp will tend to make the college less careful in regard to economic truths in its class rooms. He asserts that he regrets that his college has thus subjected itself to the influence of plutocracy. Mr. Bryan believes it would be better for the college to struggle along as best it can without the Carnegie money than to accept it, assuming that the teachers there will be less likely to criticize the accumulation of vast wealth, like that possessed by Carnegie, if such men are allowed to assist in supporting the school, than they would be if the school maintained its independence of men of the Carnegie class. Mr. Bryan takes for the text of his letter of resignation the words, "Ye cannot serve both God and mammon."

A NEW ASSOCIATION.

Kansas Would Make Rules of Her Own—To Have Western Association.

The general opinion among those prominent in athletic affairs at the University of Kansas is that the "Big Nine" is going too far in her proposed football reform. However, Kansas will be under no obligations to follow the Chicago conference. Judge Green said yesterday that he was in favor of forming a western association of the following schools that are outside of the "Big Nine": Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Oklahoma and Missouri. Judge Green also says: "The rules are almost as good as they can be gotten without a considerable elimination of the good points of the game. I am in favor of better officials who are not afraid to disqualify a man for an infraction of the rules. As to the open style of play more accidents have occurred on McCook from the so-called open play than the mass formations. The only casualty that ever happened on our field was caused by a tackle on a wide end run. A Drake university man was tackled so hard by a Kansas man that the heavy fall on the hard ground caused concussion of the brain from which the victim died a few hours later. The action of the "Big Nine" was uncalled for, and I hope the western colleges will pay no attention to their absurd changes."

Kansas stands for pure athletics and a strict enforcement of the rules, but the sentiment of the student body is strongly against such changes as will take all interest from the game.—Kansan.

A REALLY GOOD SHOW.

As a usual thing, the advance reading matter concerning coming attractions is so misleading, so exaggerated that the average reader is at a loss to make any reasonable discrimination. Every show that's coming, is the best that has ever been offered, hence, in announcing the appearance at the Coldeen next Tuesday evening March 6, of Nat Goodwin's great play, "When We Were Twenty-One," the management will in this instance refrain from publishing any very glowing accounts of this well-known success, as the impression made by this attraction when last seen here was very emphatic, so everlasting that all that really can be said is, "ask anybody". Seat sale opens Friday evening.

Slippery ice, very thin,
Pretty girl, tumble in.
Saw a boy on the bank,
Yelled to him, then she sank.
When the boy heard the shout,
Jumped right in, pulled her out.
Now she's got him, very nice,
But she had to break the tie.—Ex.
