Y. W. Girls Success

Campaign for General Secretary a Winner—Alumnae and Members

Respond Royally.

Last fall the Y. W. C. A. came to the conclusion that their work demanded the services of a general secretary. With the help of Miss Paxson they set to work to raise the necessary funds to pay the salary. They have been entirely successful and the entire amount is now raised. This is worthy of especial note because the amount has been raised entirely among members and alumnae members. No appeal was made to people of the town, to the men in the University, or even to the faculty. The response from alumnae was very gratifying. All wanted to help.

The new secretary is now in the Y. W. C. A. training school at Chicago. She is expected here next Friday. She is a graduate of Kansas university, and her name is Irene Gilchrist.

IS THE INDOOR TRACK SHORT?

Des Moines Sporting Editor Discovers Oil Well.

One of the Des Moines sporting editors thinks he has discovered why Iowa runners have made such good time indoors. "The measurement of the Iowa indoor track must be incorrect," he affirms, "as Noble of Normal ran the quarter in much faster time than ever before. This point might be further investigated by the gentleman from Des Moines. Perhaps, it might pay him to come down here and run around a few times. It is quite safe to assert that after having twice circled the track he would notice quite a perceptible increase in the distance."

THE JOHNSON COUNTY FAIR

Y. W. C. A. Girls Will Repeat Entertainment that Scored Great Success Last Year.

Last year the "Y. W." girls gave "The Johnson County Fair." This was a great success and received much commendation. There had been no thought of repeating it till many people suggested its repetition. The association has decided to give this entertainment next Saturday evening, March 31. With last year's experience to guide them, the girls will be able to give a stronger attraction than the previous one.

The following features are especially to be mentioned:

- Teeter-totter.
- Merry-go-round.
- Georgia Colored Quartette will sing plantation melodies.
- Two fortune tellers.
- Mrs. Jarley's wax works.
- Fat lady.
- Skeleton man.
- Royal Bengal tiger.
- Veiled lady.
- Kindergarten.
- Candy booth.

PROF. A. G. SMITH, '91, M. A. '95.

Pennant booth.
Tea booth.
Cocoa booth.
Photo gallery.
Red lemonade, popcorn, peanuts, ice cream, sandwiches.

The place is Close Hall, and the fair opens at 7 o'clock. Admission ten cents.

NEW YEAR BEGINS FOR THE Y. M. C. A.

A short business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held last night at Close Hall. At that time the resignation of Mr. C. R. Barnard as president for the coming year was accepted and Mr. R. W. Sleeter was elected in his stead.

The first of April begins a new year in the work of the association. While the past year has been discouraging in some respects, in many ways it has been one of good results. The officers for the coming year are as follows:

- R. W. Sleeter—president.
- E. E. Rorick—L. A. vice president.
- E. C. Carl—dent. vice pres.
- R. N. Crowe—medic. vice pres.
- A. B. Ingham—secretary.
- E. W. Chase—treasurer.

The University Fencing club will entertain at the K. P. hall on April 2. The club, now, has a membership of thirteen and intend to increase it to sixteen, which is the limit of their number. Some fine work in this art has been done by the boys under the instruction of Mr. Rodriguez, one of the Mexican students of S. U. I.

On next Friday evening the Heps and Zets will have a joint program in Zet hall. The entertainment will be in the form of an old fashioned lyceum program—dialogues, debates, fiddle solos and declamations. The most important feature of the evening will be the debate: "Resolved, That the cow is more useful than the horse."

SMITH ON ATHLETICS.

Patron Saint of Iowa Athletics to Lecture this Afternoon.

Prof. Smith, who has been the main factor in bringing Iowa athletics to their present high moral standing, will lecture this afternoon on "The Relation of Practical Ethics to Athletics." This lecture is one of a course on ethics which has been running weekly this semester.

Prof. Smith has been chosen to lecture on athletics because of his experience both as an active participant and as a faculty adviser. He was quarterback of the first two Rugby football teams of this University, and during his second year was captain. Prof. Smith has been chairman of the faculty committee on athletics ever since its appointment in the early nineties, and has been a member of the athletic board of control for six years, during four of the six years as chairman. When Iowa became one of the "Big Nine" in 1899, Prof. Smith represented the University and has been her representative ever since. This year he is the chairman of two of the most important committees: eligibility, and the acceptance of the national committee changes in football rules. Last year he served as chairman of the conference.

Prof. Smith has always stood for clean amateur athletics, participated in by bona fide students in good college standing. For several years he has advocated many of the reforms that have recently been adopted both by conference and local faculty.

MINNESOTA MEET NOT PROBABLE.

The announcement of a meeting between Iowa and Minnesota is due to some mistake. Manager Jones received a letter some days ago asking for the 12th of May. The Ames meet is scheduled for that day and the offer was consequently refused. It is not likely that a date can be arranged, much as such a meet would be desired.

Honor Dr. Gilchrist's Memory

Expressions of Respect and Esteem at the Weekly Assembly.

The weekly assembly yesterday morning took the form of a memorial service in honor of the late Dr. Gilchrist.

Dean Royal, of the College of Homeopathy, gave a short address, speaking of some of the features of Dr. Gilchrist's life and habits, which strongly influenced and helped his co-workers and associates. Dr. Gilchrist's methodical habits, his precision in all matters both large and small, his magnificent medical library—these were some of the things mentioned by Dean Royal.

Then Prof. Calvin, as a G. A. R. comrade, and friend and fellow professor for many years, read the following appreciation:

Dr. James G. Gilchrist—A Tribute—
By Samuel Calvin.

I cannot tell you just when it was that I met Dr. Gilchrist for the first time. The year, the month, the day—these things have faded out of mind; but the memory of the first meeting—the memory of the man himself—these things shall not fade, but remain forever clear and distinct. It was in the northwest corner of the second floor of the old capitol building that the meeting took place. It was before the old science building had been moved; some years, indeed, before that structure was built, to tell the truth, it was before the possibility of erecting such a structure for the use of natural science had ever been dreamed of. The geological and natural history museums, and all the offices, lecture rooms and laboratories of geology and natural history, so far as these were represented at all, were then accommodated in the north end of the second story of central hall. It was here, in the very northwest corner, one afternoon, a stranger came and introduced himself as Dr. Gilchrist of Detroit. I have always associated that visit with a bright, cheerful, sunny afternoon; but I may be altogether in error as to the kind of weather. One thing I do know, however; my visitor was a bright, cheery, sunny man, and it may have been the cheer and warmth and the sunshine that he brought with him which created the other impression. It was evident at once that here was a man of culture, a man of refinement, a man of travel and of broad experience; but more than all else it was evident that he was one of Nature's large-souled gentlemen who needed neither training nor artificiality of any sort to recommend his manner to those whom he met. His courtesy, his every word and action were natural, honest, untaught, unaffected. He was interested, as I was at the time, in the microscope and its manipulations. It was with genuine enthusiasm and keen intellectual appreciation that he looked

HEAR SMITH.

There will be a lecture this afternoon by the man who has put in more earnest effort on athletics, and who knows more about the subject as far as it concerns Iowa, than any other man in the University. The speaker is Prof. Smith, the subject is one in which you are interested (or should be). What he has to say will have behind it the authority of the conference committee. It will not be a lecture from a theoretical standpoint, but will come from a man who has had real, live experience; a man who knows things as they are. The lecture comes at half past four, a time convenient for all University students.

resenting the great, boundless world over the material then in sock rep- of tiny, living things which the microscope alone can reveal, a world which ordinarily lies far outside of the experience of the dwellers on this great planet. We had many visitors in those days to see the wonders of the microscope, for microscopic work was new in institutions of learning at that time; but a visitor who could bring appreciation, experience and helpful suggestion, was exceedingly rare. Dr. Gilchrist was the first of the kind to visit our little corner.

After completing the course of lectures he came here to deliver, Dr. Gilchrist went back to Detroit; but in a short time he was called to permanent service in the college of Homeopathy, and to the delight of all who had here previously met him, he set up a new home in Iowa City. Since then his life and work among us have been known to all. Dr. Gilchrist was a proud man; he was proud of his service in the army and navy of the United States, he was proud of his profession, proud of his ancestry, proud of his descent from the Grants of Scotland, proud of the loyalty of his ancestors to the unfortunate house of Stuart. He had many things, indeed, of which he might be justly proud, but his pride was never expressed in any offensive or obtrusive way. It was a manly, a saving, an ennobling pride. In reality he was one of the most simple and most democratic of men. He was true and loyal to his friends, and found keenest delight in intercourse with those for whom he entertained respect; but for the man who sought to advance himself by trickery and pretense, he could express the most scathing contempt. He loved his family, his home, the cozy corner in his library above all else. Within this sacred circle, small as it may seem to some, life's dreams and life's ambitions, for him, were fully realized. He abhorred the little intrigues and petty devices whereby some dwarf and starve their own lives and make them mean and miserable, while trying to gain some undeserved advantage over their fellows, and he kept himself apart from all such unworthy lines of conduct. Reverence for things true and noble and sacred, was one of Dr. Gilchrist's most prominent characteristics. Anything bordering on irreverence in respect to sacred things and sacred places shocked and wounded him severely. It was this trait of character, this reverence for the noble and the true, which led to his unselfish devotion to all that is best and most inspiring in music, and to his unflagging interest in the nobler forms of architecture, especially as expressed in the solemnly grand and impressive cathedrals of old England. These stately piles appealed to him still further by reason of the fact that they symbolized the faith and the forms of worship which he revered and cherished. Of his successful efforts to relieve human pain, and restore suffering ones to normal health, others will speak. I look at him simply as a man and a friend, and from this point of view his personality was singularly attractive. It was clean, charming, manly, unselfish, unaffected. The world is rendered poorer and lonelier whenever a man of the type of our late friend passes on to the other shore.

1 CENT IS ALL IT WILL COST YOU to write for our big FREE BICYCLE catalogue showing the most complete line of high-grade BICYCLES, TIRES and SUNDRIES at PRICES BELOW any other manufacturer or dealer in the world.

DO NOT BUY A BICYCLE from anyone, at any price, or on any kind of terms, until you have received our complete Free Catalogue illustrating and describing every kind of high-grade and low-grade bicycles, old patterns and latest models, and learn of our remarkable LOW PRICES and wonderful new offers made possible by selling from factory direct to rider with no middlemen's profits. WE SHIP ON APPROVAL without a cent deposit. Pay the Freight and allow 10 Days Free Trial and make other liberal terms which no other house in the world will do. You will learn everything and get much valuable information by simply writing us a postal. We need a Rider Agent in every town and can offer an opportunity to make money to suitable young men who apply at once.

$8.50 PUNCTURE-PROOF TIRES ONLY $4.80 PER PAIR

Regular Price $8.50 per pair. To Introduce We Will Sell You a Sample Pair for Only $4.80 NAILS, TACKS OR GLASS WON'T LET OUT THE AIR (CASH WITH ORDER $4.55) NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES.

Result of 15 years experience in tire making. No danger from THORNS, CACTUS, PINS, NAILS, TACKS or GLASS. Serious punctures, like intentional knife cuts, can be vulcanized like any other tire. Two Hundred Thousand pairs now in actual use. Over Seventy-five Thousand pairs sold last year.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. That "Holding Back" sensation commonly felt when riding on asphalt or soft roads is overcome by the patent "Basket Weave" tread which prevents all air from being squeezed out between the tire and the road thus overcoming all suction. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C.O.D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump and two Sampson metal puncture closers on full paid orders (these metal puncture closers to be used in case of intentional knife cuts or heavy gashes). Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination.

We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. Ask your Postmaster, Banker, Express or Freight Agent or the Editor of this paper about us. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a small trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

COASTER-BRAKES, built-up-wheels, saddles, pedals, parts and repairs, and everything in the bicycle line are sold by us at half the usual prices charged by dealers and repair men. Write for our big SUNDRY catalogue, but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

"GENERAL PROPERTIES OF WAVES."

Prof. Smith Inaugurates Series on "Ether Waves."

A large and appreciative audience filled the general lecture room of the old physics hall last evening on the occasion of the initial lecture of a series on "Ether Waves," as announced by the department of physics. Prof. Arthur G. Smith opened the course by an interesting and highly instructive discussion of the "General Properties of Waves."

In opening his lecture, Prof. Smith incidentally expressed the fact that the subject which he was about to take up was rather an involved and complex one. However, he assured his audience that he would strive only to present the larger and more general aspects of the theme, and that in selecting illustrations and experiments he would avail himself of only such as would, in their simplicity, be clear and tangible to even the ordinary student of science. Those who attended the lecture, we are confident, were greatly impressed by the simplicity of his treatment of the subject, and the lucid manner in which home, and the highly interesting and positive experiments which he performed in the course of his talk.

Briefly, in his introductory remarks, Prof. Smith stated that there is in nature no method so common and universal in the transmission of energy as that of waves; a few of the more active ones being: water waves, temperature waves, light waves, sound waves, electric waves, etc. He tersely discussed the classification into transverse and compressional vibrations, the nature of media and its relation to the different kinds of vibration, and the phenomenon of elasticity. Going a little more into detail, Prof. Smith took up the general characteristics of individual waves in such a simple way, and by the use of such commonplace examples and illustrations that one readily grasped the fundamental idea of wave amplitude, of wave length, and of the meaning of interference, and the divers phenomena resulting from these factors. Reflection and refraction formed an interesting sub-theme in his talk; and in illustrating these, various beautiful experiments were performed. Throughout, Prof. Smith's lecture was of keen interest, and afforded an abundance of good, substantial, scientific instruction along this comprehensive line of physics.

Judging this course of lectures by the initial number, we are safe in saying that students interested in scientific work, and even the casual listener, will derive much useful and instructive knowledge from them. The next lecture of this course will be given April 4, by Prof. Charles F. Lorenz, on the subject, "Light Waves."
