SECOND ANNUAL FRESHMAN CONTEST MEETS FRIDAY
By the Representatives of Four Leading Forensic Societies of the University

Mr. O'Hern of the Forum, a society of the law college. Mr. Vestal of the Philathethan, Messrs. Briggs and Cameron of the Irving Institute, Messrs. Carberry and Jackson of the Zetagonian society will participate in the contest on Friday morning at the assembly room of the college of liberal arts. The orations are short and vigorous. The contest is for a prize of twenty dollars offered by former N. O. L. winners, Messrs. Bracket, Walden and Shannahan. Mr. Henry Walker, the only member of this famous quartet now living in the city, will present the prize.

The judges are Profs. LeDain and Ford and Principal Collins. The president of the osteological association of the University will preside and special music will be given.

LIP BADLY HURT
Miss Jess Shrimplin, a student of Mt. Ayr, was painfully injured in a fall last week in the Gamma house, on account of which she sustained a cut on the lower lip and chin which necessitated the wearing of a plaster of paris cast until it heals.

Miss Shrimplin was walking through one of the rooms in which there was no light, and stumbled and fell over a box which was on the floor. On account of the injury she will be unable to take part in "Alice in Wonderland" to be presented this week, in which she had an important part.

Col. George R. Burnett expects to spend several days in the city and in Iowa during the next week, before returning to the Idaho military academy.

Prof. C. C. Nutting lectured before the Kamas University chapter of Sigma Xi last week. His subject was "The Cruise of the A. Albatross in Hawaiian Waters."

HER KIND

The Knox Student recently issued a woman's number. One of the features was a symposium of fifty college women giving their estimates of the ideal college man. There had been a price, it should have gone to one who said, "I admire the man who is respected by his friends and enemies alike." This is a high ideal. A man may be loved by his friends, but not respected by them. On the other hand, the people who hate him may be counted to respect him. To be respected by the people who wish to see his good and on motion of Pres. Storms of the clear character, indicates that both sides of a man's estimate of the ideal college man. GIST.

In 1833 a general law was passed, under the act of the Iowa Geological Survey, which forbade children under 14 years as the ideal college man. GIST.

The new child labor law just enacted by the legislature of Iowa is a good one. The bill is simple, straightforward, and easy of enactment. By it children under 14 are prohibited from working in factories, workshops, or merchant establishments employing eight or more persons. It well fits the present needs in Iowa.

PROF. CALVIN AGAIN GEOLOGIST

Is elected to succeed Prof. F. A. Wilder, New Geologist.

The resignation of Prof. F. A. Wilder from his position of director of the Iowa Geological Survey, took place last Wednesday. The meeting of the survey was then in session at Des Moines and on motion of Pres. Storms of Ames, Prof. Samuel Calvin was elected to succeed Prof. Wilder. Prof. Wilder has held the position for two terms, and Prof. Calvin had held it previously since 1892, when the survey was first instituted. Hibberto the appointment for the conduct of the work has been but $5,000, but by act of the last general assembly this was increased to $10,000, so that the department is now in very good shape to proceed.

Prof. Wilder is led to resign his post as state geologist on account of the work he will have to do this summer, and possibly the coming year, in connection with his geologic interests in Virginia.

IOWA WOMEN'S CLUB

Entertain Male Relatives as a Spread-Come They to Work-Must Tell Stories-Sing Songs

On Monday evening the Iowa Women's Club entertained their male relatives at the residence of Mrs. F. L. Douglas on Market Street. This is the last occasion of the kind to be given by the ladies, and was, like all previous ones of the year, very enjoyable. A one-act play was rendered, which was very amusing and was greatly enjoyed by guests and club members. Mrs. Burkholder took the part of the mother of six marriageable daughters, the parts of the daughters being played by Mesdames Parson, Wildman, Murphy, Wilson, Smith and Carney. Mrs. Kiger did the Irish servant girl's part, and Aunt Babetta, with her old-fashioned country ways, was impersonated by Mrs. Hickenlooper with such success as to bring down the house repeatedly.

After the play a toastsomething was served, and the men were told they must finish the program. Each must either tell a story, sing a song or make a speech. The penalty for failure was a fine, but the stories were forthcoming with such promptness that the society's exchequer gained nothing, but the stories were first-class.

The highest appreciation was felt for the work of the committee on refreshments, who did their part, acknowledged the gift from Supeple's grocery of the coffee which they served and the napkins.

During the evening the guests expressed themselves as having gained great pleasure from the social gatherings made possible by the club.

HONESTLY now, wouldn't a girl of nineteen look like a fossil in the same dress that a woman of forty would wear? And isn't it just as logical for a boy of the same age to choose a suit meant for a man of forty? It's because no other clothes in town ever realized the ridiculousness of having just one sort of clothes for men from the time they put on long pants, until the time they're through with 'em, that we've built up the largest young men's trade in town.

COLLEGE BRAND CLOTHES
are only meant for College fellows alert and style-wise young men, with taste enough to appreciate extreme ideas, and individuality enough to wear them. College Brand styles are originated simultaneously with the smart creations of New York's Fifth Avenue tailors.
