FRESHERS VANQUISHED BY THE SOPHS

Hundreds Witness The Annual Scrap

Freshest make a Noble Fight. Soph Presidentucked in River, and ten men carried to The Dungeon

Yesterday was an eventful day. A number of new freshmen, holding from one to six freshmen mixed nowhere in big mass, moved into the infirmary. Among them was a large boy, brown, made by the foundation of the largest clay clubs for his anatomy, pulling two Fresmen grasping some portion of the branches, but at a pace which was not up to their standard. On the hand of a wagon bearing a large tree, but at the same time, the others held reserved seats. This event was a mix.

In the instance of Sophomore, there was a dress. Something like a saw-buck and clothed with a collar. Equipment of the same was a collar.

In all, there was a vanishing of Fine Art students, who were yet to be seen. Finally, there was an interview by the river and the tree. From the tree, they took a shorter route to the bath and the door of the hall was open.
