LINING UP FOR BASKETBALL

PLENTY OF MATERIAL AVAILABLE

Three of Last Year's Team Are Back

-Fifty Men Volunteer for Basketball Programme

It is not too early in the season to comment upon the prospects for basketball this year. Mr. Rice and Capt. Burton feel confident that with three old men back, and an abundance of new material on hand, a strong team will be chosen to represent Old Colony.

Definite plans for practices have not been arranged, but the first call comes for intake at 7:30 p.m., when the strongest candidates are expected to be in attendance. Mr. Rice and Capt. Burton will anxiously watch the relative ability of the new men, who try out for a place on the team. Mr. Rice and Capt. Burton are planning to use the strongest men on the final team.

Burke, a member of last year's, will probably play center this year. Burke is a high scorer and known basket and golf star, will not be back this year. Griffith, of the team of 1906, is a talented back and a good student in Missouri. Mooney, the old guard, will be out for athletics. Barlow and Johnsen, both ends, during the year, had an opportunity, will compete for places on the team.

As to the material, it can certainly be said that the numbers are considerably increased. Some fifty men have expressed their desires to enter for places. Among these are Heath, back of the Chevron. Admission to the last two years; Stuart of Des Moines, and Norton of Grinnell.

THE VERISSANTE MEDICS

Just because we are Medics is no reason why we should be excused from the part in the election campaign. As a true and proud one of our number, a leading member of the junior class, who has been a most successful musical composer. Mr. T. E. Crow, some time a member of the Medics, has recently published a march and two steps. It has been pronounced as "great" by some of the leading music critics of the country and is likely to attract the attention of the public. Mr. Crow also designed the cover for this publication. The design consists of an epee and four oceanea speed- ing along a country road. The music is in one in all the music stores here.

Dr. Bradley, Medis '04, reports that he is well located at Atahnes, Iowa.

The '06 Medics have elected officers. Everything went off harmoniously and time was a good friend. There were a few groups scattered about in the early morning that seemed to be holding congratulatior meetings, until the hour came when the boys all gathered together for the ball game, and as usual, the football was enjoyed by all.

There was a large number of friends present, and all enjoyed the game and the victory.

L. A. SENIORS ELECT OFFICERS

OLD PARTY LINES ARE FORGOTTEN

Lion and Lamb Lie Down Together—Dove of Peace Prances Over All.

For the first time in the history of our school two campus forces in the senior election year have come. For years the two societies have opposed each other for every other class office, and it was to the general surprise of all that the two societies were lined up for this election. In the earlier stages the members nominated for office, until the final stage, when the Lion nominated Fred Cunningham for president, Carter Walters for vice-president and John Woodmence for class counselor. Meanwhile, the Lamb and their friends, then made their election unanimous, though, as is usual, continued the compliment by electing Katherine L. Reeds for secretary and S. W. Hummell for deaconess. But in the final stage, the society of momentum or the society of momentum. Naturally, was there no surprise by nominating Philip B. Ellis to run against J. C. Bridge, the Lamb's candidate. At this juncture, the Philomathians were determined to do it, but by skillful maneuvering the nominations were closed.

Everyone feared a deadlock and a second season such as had followed the Junior Annual election two years before. But after a few impressive speeches a vote was taken and the returns showed Mr. Bridge to be the champion. The only thing that prevented a deadlock was Mr. Bridge's prominence with the leaders of the class. He was a member, for his vote decided the issue.

ELDER DAUGHTERS MEET

The Elder Daughters of the University held their first meeting of the year the last Tuesday evening. The meeting being devoted to business, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Miss Ella Sandey
Vice-president, Miss Alice Bradley
Recording secretary, Miss G. A. Barber
Corresponding secretary, Miss Ella Wilson
Treasurer, Miss Geo. W. Knorr, Custodian, Miss Will Goodell.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Walker arrived on Friday night from Lake Winnipesaukee, where they have been spending the last two weeks. During their absence, a number of friends honed their home and decorated it with hearts and posters, also leaving many very valuable gifts. When Mr. Walker left for Minnesota, he had thought he could begin his new home completely, but to his surprise, he found out otherwise. Mr. and Mrs. Walker have arrived here and will probably spend the Thanksgiving holiday here and after October 1st.

Mr. Decker, L. L. "00, and Geo. "01 have been in the city for a few days. He has brought his sister here to attend the "Variety."

THE FINE ARTS IN IOWA.
A student's time for thought. The inside life is narrowing, in great degree, once it is obliged to neglect everything but the main issues. But in the fewer years of his college career, he is obliged to develop all the things that contribute to development. If anyone can live a perfect life, it is ought to be the artist.

The University has recognized this fact, in offering the new courses in music and the fine arts. There has always been a lively interest in music here, as is proved by the reputation of our band, and the constant attempts at choral and orchestral work in spite of discouragement. The Junior Band often shows a considerable amount of talent in drawing. The interest is here, but all that is needed is the stimulation of instruction. Though we are5 we exist, it does not follow that we are Philistines. In the nar

Comparative Styles
Men who buy fine clothes are usually very particular about style. They study the "trend of fashion" almost as carefully as do we, who must invest thousands of dollars in clothes to sell to men who dress with care. That our styles for fall are correct is demonstrated by the unusually large business already done since their first showings—spite of weather such as we usually expect in midsummer.

But we are equally careful in choosing the fabrics and worsted that our tailoring is to do or skill fairly. I'm on every morning to be sure that the suits are of high quality and of the most up-to-date popular style. Good clothes, however, are as often bought by stomach and by affection as by nose who knows how.
