SOPHOMORES ELECT ELEAGUE.

Whole Ticket Carried Through by
"Grease Against the Field."

Yesterday afternoon the sophomore men decided that it was time to hold an election. The civil engineers had won at one time, discovered that they were too much in the majority, and proceeded to fix things in a way quite different from the rest of the class. After the recount of hands had been completed by a committee of experts in algorithms, the following officers were declared

Professor Shambaugh Intrusted With Erection of a Historical, Memorial, and Art building. It is now in process of construction, and will contain a department to be known as the Hall of Public Archives.

The public records of the state will be moved to this building within the next months, as the Board of Trustees of the State Library requested Professor Shambaugh to make suggestions and plans for the installation of the documents in the Hall of Archives.

In accordance with the suggestions of Professor Shambaugh the work of arrangement and classifying the ma-materials was begun ten days ago.

Iowa is among the few states that have taken steps for the adequate protection of the valuable material contained in the public archives.

It is due to the existing efforts of Professor Shambaugh and his assistants that the state has taken such a step in the preservation of Iowa history. Professor Shambaugh was in Des Moines last Friday, where he was addressed by a group of Iowa Unitarians assembled for the erection of a Historical, Memorial, and Art building.

Professor Shambaugh has a national reputation as a historian in the special field of state organization, and his appointment to the responsi-bles position at the capitol was by his ability in classifying historical material.

"GOV." HISEY COMES TO TOWN

THE WHEELBARROW CANDIDATE PLUGS CAMPAIGN IN VARIOUS STATES

Secular Government Apposite Article

Great Enthusiasm Among Students—Placed With Reception.

The Wheelbarrow candidate has just come to town. Andrew Townsend Hisey, who was nominated to run for Governor of Iowa, and who first addressed yesterday morning to the Junior Class. Arriving at the Old Capitol building ten minutes before class was called, the "Governor" said: " Fellow pupils! I say, fellow pupils, because we are all pupils together." (Loud cheers.) "The qualifications from age, the legacy from antiquity, past blessings, the blessings derived from the past, the misfortunes its --- the speech was interrupted by his many friends greeting the Governor with the glad hand. Then Judge Toward entered the room and took his place beside the speaker, basting him his hat. This the majority, but they never get it." The Republicans do not believe in majority rule, and they always have a majority. We are unable to give all the "Gov.-enors" speeches, because we don't know when he is going to stop. Up to the time of paper to press he is still holding an audience of a thousand or more.

A production of "Julius Caesar," such as Charles B. Harford will offer at the Colosseum Theatre soon represents an extensive study of incident and detail, which was announced the efforts of the artist and archeologist. Among the historical pictures are the Grang Square. In Rome, Brutus, Caesar, the Roman Senate, the Mystic Rose, and the plays of Philippi. Mr. Harford is being surrounded this season with a production and a cast which surpasses any that he has before had. It is a production which represents the highest traditions of the stage, combined with its most complete modern resources.

President MacLean Declares He Will Have Summer's Bulletin Resolved

(From Grand Re opening)

Many inquiries have been received by the College asking for an explanation of a statement made in the August issue of the University News Bulletin, as follows:

"Harvard University has a regulation whereby only graduates of approved colleges will be admitted to her law school. It will be of interest to a great many students in this state to know that the College of Liberal Arts of the State University of Iowa is at present the only "approved college" in Iowa on Harvard's list. Not only does this indicate that the authorities at old Harvard know that there is great deal of difference in the preparation afforded in the different colleges and universities, but also shows how much credit is being given to the superior work of the liberal arts college of the State University of Iowa, which is at present the only "approved college" in Iowa on the Harvard's list."

The misleading paragraph in the University News Bulletin is probably due to the fact that the Harvard Law School has this year been revising its list of approved colleges. A preliminary list of colleges was published early in the summer. Iowa College was not included in this list because the Harvard Committee had failed to receive a catalog of the Grinnell Academy, which had been sent, but failed to reach the Harvard authorities. Before giving final judgment the committee wished to examine this catalogue in order that it might see what requirements the college placed upon its own preparatory school. Delay in this point was responsible for the omission of Iowa College from the preliminary report.

The students in animal biology have an unique way of studying the circulatory and respiratory organs of different animals. Colored wax was forced into vessels, and the blood of wax dissolves the outer tissue of the organ, leaving a cast exactly copied from the system of bloodcells, or whatever other organ is being investigated. The process of making these preparations is a very tedious one, but when successfully completed it is very instructive.

FOUR GREAT ATTRACTIONS.

Coming to the Colonial This Week—Great Variety.

This week at the Colonial Theatre an extra fine variety of the best attractions will be presented. Wednesday, Oct. 21, one of the best comedies ever written will be presented. This is "The Arrival of Kitty." A capable company of comedians and comedresses will be seen in the ruffians parts. A dozen musical numbers are introduced and a pleasing evening's entertainment is assured. Seat sale opens on Monday evening.

One of the most pleasing announcements to theatre going will be the coming of Tim Murphy in the delightful play "Old Immigrants," at the Colonial Thursday, October 22. Mr. Murphy will be supported by Dorothy Sherrod and a strong company. Seat sale opens Tuesday evening.

Friday evening, Oct. 23, the Wm. H. West Minstrels will hold forth. This is conceded to be as good as any minstrel organization ever brought from here when it played at Cedar Rapids about a month ago, and is said to be first class in every respect. Seat sale opens Thursday evening.

On Saturday evening, Oct. 24, Chas. B. Maftord and his great company of thirty people will be seen in a grand production of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar." Two ears of special scenery are carried for this grand production and we are assured one of the greatest of such treats.
