IOWA LOSES TO THE BADGERS

Kicking a Great Feature of the Game

Kent kicks goal from twenty-five yard line in the first half. Badgers make three touch downs in last half

Wisconsin 18, Iowa 4. Such is the score in yesterday's game. It was with delight that we received the news Iowa 4 and Wisconsin 0, at the end of the first half, but later we were compelled to hear that the Badgers made three touchdowns in the second half.

Madison, Wis., 9:05 p. m.

Special to The Iowan:

The game today was a hard fought battle. The two teams were quite evenly matched, and put up a clean game of football. Kent easily outkicked Clark, and three times during the game saved Iowa's goal.

Iowa weakened on defense in the last twenty minutes, losing the game to the Badgers. Four times Kent tried drop kick from field, only once making good.

On end runs, Carbery, Knowlton, and Allen made great gains.

Wisconsin plunged through Iowa's line making her downs.

The work of the Wisconsin backs during the last twenty minutes was something terrific.

Twice Kent saved Iowa's goal by great tackles.

At the end of the first half the score stood, Iowa 4, Wisconsin 0, but during the last twenty minutes of the play in the second half the Badgers took a brace and made three touchdowns against Iowa Final score Wisconsin 18, Iowa 4.

WATER AT OLD LEVEL.

Professor Lambert Finds Difference of Only One Inch at Terrill Dam.

Last Wednesday Professor Lambert ran a level from the new dam up stream a mile and a half to the site of the old Terrill dam. He ascertained the difference between the former and the present height of the water, and then invited the senior engineers to guess. The senior engineers are "bum" guessers, their estimates ran all the way from six inches to two feet and a half. As a matter of fact, there is a difference of only one inch. The water above the old dam site looks as high as it ever was.

Six inches of water flow over the new concrete dam, at normal stage. The pressure is so great that six men were unable to lift one of the gates when it was attempted last week.

Marshall Law Meeting.

The court room was crowded with spectators when Judge Reed called the case of John Smith vs Acme Toothpick Works at the meeting of the Marshall Law Society Friday evening. The case was one of breach of contract, and brought out many fine points in evidence. After the empanelling of the jury of six men, F. A. Ontjes delivered the opening address for the plaintiff and was followed by D. M. Sheehan for the defendant. Six witnesses were examined, but neither side was able to make out an overwhelming case, so evenly was the evidence divided. The examination was conducted in the main for the plaintiff by Attorney Rhodes and for the defense by Attorney Beardmore. Following the instructions given by Judge Reed, the jury retired in charge of Sheriff Coughlon, and after a few minutes deliberation, returned a verdict for the defendant.

At the business meeting of the society F. A. Ontjes was elected sergeant at arms to succeed James M. Boland, who resigned from that offiice. Dean Gregory will read a paper on a topic of intenational law at the meeting of the society next Friday night.

One of Our S. U. I. Missionaries.

Dr. Alden R. Hoover, who was graduated from the medical department last June, is on his way to Constantinople. He made some preparation in the Massachusetts general hospital in Boston during the summer months to fit himelf for his undertaking. On the second day of August he left Boston for Paris, there to prepare himself in French, for the purpose of passing an oral examination to practice medicine in Turkey. Last Thursday Dr. Hoover left Pais for Constantinople, where the examination is to be held. From there he will go to Marsovan, Asiatic Turkey, where he will take up his professional duties.

A BUSY DEPARTMENT.

The Hygienic Laboratory Is Overwhelmed With Work—Needs Larger Appropriation.

During the month of October 915 examinations were made in the Hygienic Laboratory of the State Board of Health, of which 640 were for diphtheria, 75 for typhoid fever, 160 for tuberculosis and 40 miscellaneous. Of the miscellaneous, 20 were water examinations, 1 milk, 12 various exudates and secretions, 3 meat and 4 sewerage.

Demands upon the laboratory have been excedingly heavy and it has been necessary to decline many examinations of various kinds because of lack of equipment, and insufficient support. Unless the coming legislature makes additional provision for the laboratory its appropriation intended to last until July 1907 will be exhausted some time during the spring. It may be of interest to know that the laboratory at the present time receives from the state $290.00 a month. If we were to estimate the value of its work, based upon average commercial rates, it would be found that the work for the last month amounts to $3950.50, which is more than the laboratory receives from the state during the entire year. This does not take into consideration the fact that the laboratory supplies physicians with diagnosis outfits free of charge, and keeps them constantly at their convenience. In the case of commercial laboratories the physicians must pay for the outfits, and must secure them from some supply house.

A large number of the examinations made during the past month have come from Mason City, where there are a number of cases of diphtheria. To assist the laboratory in this emergency, an auxiliary laboratory has been established in that city in charge of two local physicians, Drs. Starr & Albert, who will make the emergency diagnosis examinations for the physicians of that place.

Mr. Joe Burgess is a guest at the Delta Tau Delta House.

A son was born to Professor Washburn last Friday.

SHAKESPEAREAN SONG RECITAL

MUSIC LOVERS IN DEBT TO THE READERS' CLUB.

Miss Patton Pleased An Appreciative Audience Last Evening—Has Studied in Germany.

The Readers' Club deserves the gratitude of the University public for arranging the recital given by Miss Patton last evening. Miss Patton is head of the music department at Cornell, and studied at Oberlin and in Germany. She sang here last spring, and those who heard her then gave such enthusiastic accounts that the expectations of the audience were high. The most critical taste was satisfied by Miss Patton's delicate rendition of the quaint old melodies. Not only Shakespeare's songs were given, but others also which were popular in Shakespeare's time.

The accompaniments were played by Miss Elizabeth Plattner, instructor in instrumental music at Cornell. A reception was given by the Readers' club in honor of the two visiting artists Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wyer. The guests were the members of the Writers' club and a few other friends.

Baconian Meeting.

At the meeting of Baconian Friday night the paper was read by Professor Higbee. He took for his subject "Mechanical Drawing."

Professor Higbee showed that there are two general classes of mechanical drawings, viz., those which show objects as they appear, and those which show objects as they are. In drawings of the former class, the rays of light diverge from the retina to the place of the drawing. The plan on which such perspective drawing is made may be either between the eye and the object or beyond the object. In the second class, or the orthographic drawings, the lines of sight are parallel. Tnis is the kind of drawing most largely used in mechanics. In isometric projection three sides of the object are represented. Professor Higbee showed the successive steps in preparing drawing for use in the foundry and by the finisher of various castings

Mr. Roscoe Thomas, of Fairfield, has gone home for a several days visit.

PROFESSOR WELLER WILL LECTURE.

Will Be Illustrated With Stereopticon Slides From the Professor's Own Photographs.

A public lecture on "Here and There in Greece," will be given by Professor Weller on Tuesday evening, November 10, under the auspices of the Iowa Society of the Archaeological Institute of America. The lecture is of a popular nature and is illustrated by the stereopticon, partly from the speaker's own photographs. Dr. Weller has given it at Williams College, Syracuse University and elsewhere. This will be the society's first lecture of the year and deserves a cordial reception.

The work of the Archaeological Institute is highly meritorious and is rapidly becoming wider known among cultivated people. Besides supporting successful graduate schools and student fellowships in Athens, Rome and Palestine, the Institute is doing magnificient work in American Archaeology and the art of the Italian Renaissance. It was through the Institute's influence that the last congress passed measures for the preservation of valuable ruins in our own country.

ONE OF THE MANY "OUGHTS."

It is said that a man acquires very few new interests after he leaves college. If he is to like olives or poetry, he generally forms the taste before he gets his A. B. If he becomes interested in current events and public questions, that interest likewise will be formed in the formative period. So it is that good citizenship becomes one of the live issues that ought to concern a college man.

The study of practical politics is not to be made through an academic telescope. It is one of the fields where "learning by doing" applies. The college man ought to make himself a factor; he ought to get into the game, if he is not in already. There never was a time in this republic when more responsibility rested upon the educated citizen. If ever a time was when ballots needed to be backed by clear thinking, that time is now.

The Edda Society met last evening in Liberal Arts Hall. The principal numbers on the program were given by Miss Nasby and Mr. Gepson.

If there is any virtue in newspaper commendation and if the endorsement of the public at large for the past ten years is to be taken as a criterion, then Human Hearts, which will be presented at the Coltren next Tuesday night is certainly entitled to take rank as the Great American Drama. During the many years that Human Hearts has been presented in this country, the praise accorded it by the newspaper critics and the general public has been universal. There have been no dissenting voices; the verdict of approval has been unanimous. Even rival managers graciously acknowledged that Human Hearts is a mighty good play. Seat sale opens tonight.
