A DECENNIAL CELEBRATION

Political Science Club. Decennial Anniversary.

By Professor Lewis, President.

The Political Science Club met last evening at the home of Professor Shambaugh, and celebrated its tenth anniversary. It was in October, 1896, that Professor Lewis called the first meeting of the club and in this anniversary session a thorough and well-attended on the program. As the club has grown in numbers and in strength, so has it become more and more the active and helpful agency in the political work of the country.

The story of the club's beginning and progress was very ably told in a paper by Dr. H. M. Eiland, who read the paper last evening. His subject was: "The History and Achievements of the Political Science Club.

The preparation of this paper involved a considerable amount of work, as very poor records were kept for four or five years, and Dr. Eiland was obliged to gather his data largely from newspaper files.

There was no formal organization, for the first four years of the club's existence. The practice was, then, to meet in the home of the members. Custom, rather than rules, guided the club in its early years. The elasticity of membership was beautifully shown in the in Professor Weller's Lecture.

Methods of Humorous Criticism in the Analysis of Artistic Literature.

"Humor," was the subject of Prof. Weller's lecture last evening. This was the second in the course being given by the Whitney Society, and was well attended. Professor Weller first discussed the authenticity of Homer, stating that at one time nearly all modern Greek poetry was attributed to him. Under the method of Homer's criticism his work has been shifted down to the final and the Odyssey. The Ballad Theory was discussed and discarded. Professor Weller spoke regarding Homer's literary style, and the inadequacy of the translation of his works. The lecture next Monday will be by Dr. Bestman, on the subject "Old High German Literature."

Many of the old alumni fraternity members were here to attend the Ames Iowa game. Friday night the Phi Delta Theta and Phi Kappa Psi will give parties in honor of their alumni and out-of-town friends. Sigma Nu, Theta Beta Pi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon are preparing to entertain their fraternity brothers from Ames. Professors generally expect every fourth house to be ready for the visit of its capacity with guests, so the interest is high throughout the state in this championship game.

Kappa Sigma Smoker

Wednesday evening at the Kappa Sigma house all the present year's initiates will be entertained. The free-masonry of Kappa Sigma will be in force, and the evening will be given up to an informal smoky with general conversation of good stories and merry atmosphere.

Mr. Fergusson, a Junior Pharmacist, received a bad fall in the gymnasmium yesterday morning. In attempting to balance himself on one foot, he fell down the stairs and shouldered the impact. The shock disabled him for several hours, but the injury was only temporary.

CONGRATULATIONS.

The sophomores of the Liberal Arts are to be congratulated, upon their good sense. In some previous years the sophomore classes have not been concerned with the "trades" with freshmen, but have conformed to the popular tradition of "screwing" with freshmen, and have thus caused a spate of the daily frame of mind until the freshmen kept their social and official functions in at least some common variety which various things have happened. The freshmen social of Friday evening, however, was not disturbed by any unusual demonstrations. The behavior of sophomores towards freshmen was gentlemanly and considerate, and everyone's hope that we have been broken with a bad custom. It was removed before the notice that the sophomores feared the freshmen would gory in their immaturity if unsupervised, and that they were being "screwed." Now that the second-year men have distinguished themselves by their class, they can now have an opportunity to put the part of gentlemen, and show that they, too, know how to be good without being spoiled.

Mr. W. H. Hersh, of the U.S. Coast Survey, and who has charge of the Transcontinental work of the middle west, is in the city arranging for cooperation with the State Geologist, so the idea of a railroad to the west makes topographic maps portions of Iowa. Mr. Hersh has consulted E. Benedict Raymond and Magaw, of the engineering department, with respect to getting engineers to work at this mapping during the summer vacation.

The result of Mr. John Henry's trap to Monticello, Iowa, last Saturday, was the collection of a fine lot of cranes, the most interesting among them being the four-confirmed Gomphodirys. This will furnish many sets of cranes to keep out in the high schools in the near future.
