Outcault—Buster Brown Man—Here Tonight

THE FUNNY PICTURE TALK

Mr. OUTCAULT A MASTER OF HIS CRAFT.

Has Created Many Humorous Char– ters Than Any Other Cartoon– ist—Will Draw Them This Evening.

Last season Mr. Richard P. Out– cult, famous over the world as the artist who created "Buster Brown," was the feature at the concert sponsoring delightful audiences from

New York to the Pacific coast in a lecture or entertainment that he called a "Funny Picture Talk." It is safe to say that no entertain– ment ever given by an individual was so heavily endorsed with his pen and brush, nor has his devoted audi– ence been so Farms to his talents by any means. The ste– re was told on the platform of But– ter Brown, the Yellow Kid, and other of his numerous comic creations, and the clever drawings that he made to illustrate those stories were strangely connected to the latter was obliged to repeat his

"talk" in cities that he had not in before visiting.

Though one of the busiest men in his field, and hardly able to devote the necessary time to a tour of the country, the demands for more of those illustrative talks have been so in so that Mr. Outcault has finally decided to come to the west with his tour this year, appearing in a few cities in the country. The "Picture Talk" will be different from any other that have been seen, and the entertainment is in every way more elaborate. Nothing could be more correctly stated than this Outcault, the artist, who have the privilege of hearing and seeing Buster Brown’s creation with his own eyes.

Mr. Outcault’s entertainment con– sists of chide with his autograph so that the subject of the creation of such characters as the famous Yellow Kid, the Denizens of Rube’s Alley, and Buster Brown. Interwoven with sto– ies of Mr. Outcault’s travels in Eu– ope, and rapid fire sketches in char– acter.

Mr. Outcault, besides being the most famous American cartoonist and comic strip–presents, is a storyteller and entertaining in an irresistible style. There is nothing in his talk or illustrations that suggests the teaching of some precision drawing. He is simply full of his subject, and his original impression made persistent with persistence in audiences through clever yarns and left–finger tips.

Mr. Outcault began his career as a newspaper illustrator accepting of fifteen dollars per week. He now draws the largest salary ever paid a comic strip artist. Besides his $15,000 a week, he gives a short speech to the lymph, for which he receives a salary of one thousand dollars a week.

A sizeable amount for creating a national cartoon organization; and $19,000 for comic wits and ghosts;

and $10,000 for a dairy and poultry establishment. Five thousand will be asked for the maintenance of a Sunday school to be started in 1908. Ten thousand dollars will also be asked to improve the water system.

In the equipment funds, $25,000 is asked for the educational fund, $10,000 for university equipment fund, and $25,000 for engineering experimental

The new dairy building will be specially dedicated last Friday.

THE RHODES EXAMINATION.

For so, as one has expressed an intention to take the Rhodes Scholarship examinations, which will be held within a couple of weeks. Only a few are entitled to name their names from other colleges. It may happen that the matter will go by default; it has happened in several states that no Applications were made except by one limited number tried. It would be rather humiliating if that were to happen in this state this year. The for most of course, are considered that only those who are somewhat proficient in Latin and Greek are eligible. This restricts the number of candidates materially, and yet it seems almost incredible that there are no more young men in the state who are eager to meet the challenges of the year, and a course in the most famous University in the world.

It is urged by those who have the examinations in charge here that any committee who thinks of making the trial should come to the registrar's office for consultation.

Iowa Men Among the Foremost.

The estimation which is put upon some of our professors away from home is a thing of which we as Iowans may well be proud. Some of the most responsible critics in national scientific and classical associations hold that the University of Iowa and many important papers and discussions at the annual meetings of these associations are given by members of our faculty. Seemingly it is seen in the case of the American Psychological Association, which met in New York, Dec. 16, 17, and 18, 1904. One of the members of the Executive Committee was Professor E. B. Bowditch, of our Department of Psychology. Among the other members to hold important positions were such men as Hugo Münsterberg, Harvard; Charles Warren Murchison, of California; and Henry Rutgers Marshall. Professor Bowditch read a paper at the year's meeting of the Association at New York, presenting the results of his own original investigations, under the title of "Some contributions to applied psychologi- cally.

WHY IS IT COLD?

This is the answer to the question of the winter weather. The "cold" is due to the polar jet stream, which moves southward in the winter and brings cold air from the north. The jet stream is a strong wind flow that moves over the Earth, and it can cause cold weather conditions. The "cold" can be quite intense, especially in the northern United States and Canada, where it can last for several weeks. The "cold" is also responsible for the formation of snow and ice, and it can lead to power outages and other disruptions. In addition, the "cold" can cause health problems, such as colds and flu, and it can also cause the formation of frost and ice. The "cold" is a natural phenomenon, and it is part of the Earth's climate system. The "cold" is also a reminder of the importance of staying warm and taking care of ourselves during the winter months.
