WASHED AIR FOR NEW BUILDING

EXHAUSTIVE PURIFIER INSTALLED IN SCIENCE HALL.

A new modern invention so far applied to a few of State's largest buildings.

Only the purest air will circulate in the Hall of Natural Science when the attempt is made. A system of exhaust and recharger apparatus has been installed in the fan room, through which all the air propelled by the fan passes. An electric motor operates the machinery which produces a spray of water, and the air is drawn through this and washed thoroughly in the process. It is possible in this manner to regulate the humidity of the air very effectually. Such a system is especially desirable where the air is to be admitted to a mission, as it is in the new building. The cost of the apparatus is about $1,900, a similar system has been installed in the new Court House at Des Moines.

A large force at work in the building. The curved partition has been gone over carefully and squared up, and a good idea may now be had of the appearance of the room.

Construction works elsewhere is a standard, except at the power house, where the work of erecting machinery goes on rapidly.

Professor Wilson's Lecture.

Another of the lectures of the course given under the auspices of the Whitney Society was given Monday evening in the Union by Dr. Henry J. Stone. The subject was "The Nineteenth Century." He began his lecture with a discussion of the great and distinguishing events of the century in literature and art. He compared the literature of the century with that of the 18th and the 19th, and said in conclusion that the present century is in its earlier days. He outlined a number of the chief figures in the 19th century literature, and said the 18th century was full of events and the 19th century is full of figures.

WE SAW THE

WHOLE FAMILY

PICTURES AND PHILOSOPHY

WELL PRESENTED.

Buster Brown, the Yellow Kid, Mary Jane and Tige, With Others

Revue Appearance

Richard P. O’Neill, was greeted by a full house at the Coliseum last night, when he gave in his celebrated clown trial. The artist has many friends who are acquainted with his characters, and this was an occasion when they met and bathed again at the humor they pronounced.

The Yellow Kid, Buster Brown and Tige with the rest of them delighted the audience, when they were perceived in their natural size. The good philosophy of the act was most appreciated, as he referred to the audience some of the experiences of his past life and enlightened them with the process of his picture creations, which delight so many thousands daily.

From the size of the audience it was certainly true that the faculty "had returned from the seat sale of Buster Brown,” as was inadvertently introduced in the Iowan on last Friday morning. The opera house was filled to the limit, and all who attended felt that they were better than and more pleasedly acquainted with the master of the Comic Supplement sheet of American Journalism.

The next number on the lecture course will be the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Day, on the evening of Jan. 21.

NEWS OF THE COLLEGES.
The basketball team of the University of Iowa is to have a training table. This may seem strange view of the fact that Chicago was foremost in the movement to abolish that feature in football training, but we hope the experiment will prove a success. If it can be shown that such an institution is indispensable to athletic training, the negative rating of the Conference may be abrogated.

Negotiations are on for a football game between Stanford and a North African Allied team. The Alli-dees, who recently won the title of supremacy in Great Britain, intend to return to America by way of San Francisco, and it is possible that a game will be arranged.
