International Correspondence Schools

Of Scranton, Pa.

This space has been reserved by the Northwestern University Medical School.

(Chicago Medical College)

Dr. N. S. DAVIS, Dean.

This medical school is naturally favored, inasmuch as large hospitals, affording splendid opportunities for clinical work; nurses' hospitals; the schools themselves; and the large number of modern teaching apparatus to aid in carrying on the work in its most effective manner, the study of medicine.

The full course consists of four years, eight months each, beginning October 1st.

The courses are divided into self-contained sections, thus affording to students the best opportunities, or the advantage of specialized study in a given line. The feature, as well as a great curriculum, is the study of medicine.

For further particulars address the Secretary, CHARLES LOUIS MIX, Room 203, Illinois Central Building, Chicago, Ill.
