BASKET BALL TEAM HARD HIT
FOUR MEN BARRED BY NEW INTERFERENCE.

Work of Monticello Unveiled, and TEAM
Crippled on Verge of Strenuous Trip.

Unbelievably unexpected, out of the clear sky, comes the news that a participant in basketball must have been a procrastinator, one year in the University. With no such expectations intimated of him but, somehow, work has been done in developing a speed of men into a fast, top-notch, skillful group of players. So well did these men work together that most prominent were their accomplishments that basketball booth stocks had cleared away, and Iowa hopes to travel in the fastest team.

A great feature, in fact, is that by proper training next Friday. Calhoun Professor R. Bush's lecture.

The last lecture in the series on World War Literature was yesterday afternoon by Professor R. H. Bush. His subject was 'The Best Poets of Italian Literature'. First the influences of Latin, was outlined, and then the influence of Provence Coming to Dante, the lecturer gave some account of Dante's private life and political activity. His literary productions were examined closely in accordance with the division of his life. His was a light-sided existence in public, but deep was a profound, at Dante's poem.

Colleges Program Promised.

A next program will be one of the features of the Twelfth Annual Annual program this fall. At the meeting of the committee yesterday a magnificent form was approved, providing for a long program with the University of Iowa at hand at the Clinton House dining. Printing will be on the cover and title page of the program and dance announced.

It is possible that green ink may be used in the program, thus carrying a different shade of green and white, the class colors. The programs will be unique in the form of metallic life as they are of a different shape than anything before.

It is probable that the Valentine game will be held. In accordance with custom, the visitors' team will arrive the day before the game and will be entertained at the Union. The games will begin at 3 o'clock, and a half hour will be allowed for the intermission. The contests will be played on the new field which was recently completed.

The list of participants was announced and will be announced in a short time.

Happening in Northland,

There were more "whiting numbers" in the score of "It Happened In Northland," Victor Herbert's latest opera, which comes to this city on Friday evening, than in perhaps another works of that famous composer. It was a happy thought that prompted the man of Hamlet. Mitchill & Fields to bring about the joining of the forces of Victor Herbert and Ginn McDougal, the well known director. In addition to this collaboration, John Michell shaped the production personality. There is no host of sexy girls wearing the most beautiful gowns, there are fifty control numbers, and, in fact, the entire production that secured such tremendous success for over a year, in a half of the Law Fields' Oelwein, New York, will be brought here. Local thespians are assured that the forthcoming production of "It Happened in Northland," will be one of the most important musical events of the theater season. Rehearsals continue.
