SCHOOL NEWS HAVE NEW ROOM
ARE TRANSFERRED TO UNITAIJ
CHRISTIAN BUILDING...
Register Dorias Will Occupy Their Old
Quarter on Second Floor-
Sundy Office.

The senior law class will meet in a room in the basement of the United Church building. The change has been made on account of the crowded condition of both law and undergraduates' offices. Professor Dorr will occupy the whole of the room now occupied by the law and space left vacant by him will be the outer public office of the President, as it was formerly. The registrar's office will not be changed for about three weeks, by which time the second semester registration will be practically finished. The laws, however, will probably take possession of their new quarters at once.

Dr. Sturges to Speak.
At an afternoon date, the Young Men's Christian Association presents to the students of all departments the opportunity of hearing another address on the problems of student.

The subject will be "Home Present Day Tests," and the speaker will be Dr. Edwin D. Sturges, head of the department of Philosophy, Dr. Harkins is one of the newer men at Iowa, though widely known through writings on political and religious.

As has been said before in these columns, interdepartmental acquaintances are not great, and the opportunity for extirpating it is somewhat limited. These Sunday afternoon addresses ought to mean such means of covering the professors and students from all the colleges. It is hoped that a large number of men will hear the address at 2 o'clock today in Times Hall.

Alpha Phi Delta entertained Informal Friday evening.

FIFTEEN MEN IN PRELIMINARY
CONTEST IN ORATORY WILL BE KEEN.

Two Preliminaries Are Necessary.
—Judge for First Contest Announced.

More contestants have submitted readings for the N.O.L. preliminary than at any previous time in the history of the association. One colored student, one Jew, one Philistine, seven Irish and five Zelagabians will contest for a place on the second preliminary. The following judges have been chosen for the first preliminary:

To be held Feb. 6th, Dr. Paton, Professor J. B. Wilson, Mr. Roan, Mr. Person and Mr. Parish.

Regular election on the second preliminary will be held at the meeting concluding by regular staffiggins anonymous all the various citations are welcome.

THE LECTURE TEMPO.
The lecture Monday afternoon on "The English Language Past and Present," was a triumph of the subject that will be of interest to students of literature as well as students of the intellectual language. Although the lecture is given under the auspices of the New English Club, it will not deal entirely with the early language. Dr. Flans will give considerable time to a discussion of the English of the history of human speech. He will consider the chief grammatical peculiarities of modern English, and the principle in the development of the language to its modern form, together with phonetic peculiarities and the characteristics of Old English. The treatment of the subject will be popular rather than technical.

THE CLARKE BILL.
The bill recently introduced in the Senate to combine the medical leveling will probably pass the house and be killed in the Senate. That is the opinion of those who are conversant with the situation. The bill will emanate seriously, but is not likely to become law. The house physician here is not deeply concerned over the outlook.

There are nearly 400 homopathic physicians in the state. When they have patients for a hospital, they take them to a homopathic hospital and if there is not such an institution here to serve the patients must go to Chicago, which means higher fees and more expense for the patient.

There are too many people in the state who believe in homopathic medicine, to permit a measure abridging the hospital to pass without a very vigorous protest. The bill if passed would have the effect of injuring every doctor and hospital in the state. We all sympathize with the house physician and declare the bill is not likely to pass.

Dr. Clarke may continue to administer his with a spoon, but the public in general is not to be wantonly deprived of its pills.

A New Course is Open.
A one-hour lecture course on their Thursdays at 6:30 will be given during the spring semester. The following topics will be considered:

1st. Early Influences in Haeus's life.
2nd. Peer Gynt will be read and interpreted.
3rd. One of the social dramas will be studied further, the emphasis of dramatic technique. The course is open to English, and some of the prerequisite knowledge of Norwegian. It is intended as an introduction to literature.

Those who intend registering for this course should announce their names. Geo. T. Pink. OFFICE ROOM 9, L. A.
