DRAPED IN GREEN AND WHITE
PRON DECORATIONS ARE UNUSUALLY ELABORATE.
Pennants Arrived at the Last Minute—Grand March at 7:00—
Home Rally at 1:00.

The thirteenth annual junior prom will be held tonight in the University Arena, and the fashion of the evening will be the decorations during the day. They will be more elaborate than was contemplated, because innovations which made it likely for us to have large plans would be upset. The old fad for pennants for the gym did not arrive until last night when shipped from Chicago the rest of the week. The committee had given up hope of getting them and had decided to have a color scheme, based on a cellophane flag of which there are upper extras. There will be two dark colors, the spa and white. They will be played at one o'clock.

S. U. I. MAN WINS COMPETITIVE DRILL.
C. P. Schenk Wins the Shrider Medal—Very Man Makes Good Showing.

At the competitive drill of the last of the week, held in Brauch's armory, the members of Company I, the local colored company of the Iowa National Guard, beat Connecticut C. P. Schenk, the armory student under the arms and top run of the drill master, winning the Shrider medal. Mr. Schenk will be allowed the permission of the medal and the next competitive drill, where he will go in at the win of this event.

A significant feature of the contest was the fact that two of the men who stood the highest were E. T. V. high. Mr. Schenk is an alumnus of the University, and is at present a member of the medical student. Private E. Ricketts was one of the final four in the competitive drill.

Commandant Weeks was in charge of the drill.

GREAT TIMES IN THE GYMNASIUM.
CLASS WORK VARIES AND IS INTERESTING.
New Building Has Great Help to Outdoor Athletics—Center of Heavy Activity.

It is a fact, although not generally appreciated, that the University gymnasium is every day playing a more and more important part in student life. It is accomplishing results of a far-reaching character, results of which as yet are not visible but which are attributable except through this medium of a good gymnasium.

Contrast the present day situation with that of the "good old days" when a gymnasium was an umbrellalike structure, lack of choice was the keynote, and the possible drill squads, previous to the completion of the present gymnasium, were in the basement of the old Armory building. They consisted of two small, cold, dark, dirty rooms.

Gymnasium consists of E. 6. Adams' House, one of which is upper extras. There will be two dark colors, the green and white. The students are in the gymnasium.

Good indications of the future progress of the University are to be seen in the interest in the matter of athletics.

Action Guided by Knowledge Wins Success.

Your life; to be out of achievement, must be a life of action. To achieve anything must be directed by knowledge. To gain knowledge, you must study and investigate. You must put more of your own upon yourself, and apply it to your business.

Our streets, our offices, and factories are crowded with unskilled people struggling to get or hold jobs. Why is the lot of these people so hard? Not because Fate is cruel, but because they lack knowledge. No one need ever lack faith in themselves: the habit of solving problems out of the presence of a teacher makes them self-reliant. They become leaders, they make their own decisions, and always win.

In the experience of the author, the habit of study is the one that, more than any other, leads to success.
