In the famous game of basket ball that has been played at the Ararat, this season, the Old Gold last night defeated the University of Nebraska by a score of 32 to 29.

In many respects the game was a duplicate of other hard contests in which Iowa has participated this season. Outplayed in the first half the Iowa men were a veritable whirlwind in the closing minutes of the game, and fairly stamped their opponents. The Nebraska men, except their efforts of the last minute, while the Iowa quintet showed condition to the whistle.

When the game started it looked as though the wonderful team of the visitors would carry off the gold. The Nebraska guards moved down the field with a rush and their forays went straight home, this and with their guards practically out of the play, the visitors were held back. When the game started it looked as though the wonderful team of the visitors would carry off the gold. The Nebraska guards moved down the field with a rush and their forays went straight home, this and with their guards practically out of the play, the visitors were held back.

The feature of the contest was the great play of Captain Jimmy Burton. Playing in his last big contest, Burton was a veritable whirlwind. He was in every play, with the wonderful full little jeep that has become so well known in Iowa basket ball and broke up the visitors pacing, and he was the ball and true to the basket. The whole team played well ball, but Burton stood out in every game over other men in the game.

In every way except one the game was a winning contest for the Iowa players, who can recall the successful overachievement of the crowd of the Western Journal.

The banquet was a fitting close to a basketball season that has been marked by the fine of the Iowa team against hard play. It is evident that the Iowa game itself has much to boast of its courteous treatment to the attendance. The laurels of the victorious team are in the basket, and the team is looking forward to other contests.

Union Meeting

Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. Will Meet at Four p. m. to Hear Miss Dupont.

This afternoon the students of the student body have the opportunity of hearing an address of more than passing interest when Miss Kate Oleson, for fifteen years a successful worker under the Methodist Church in China will give an address on the present state of affairs in that country. Jews. Now, some of the most remarkable movements in the world are taking place in the East, and eyes are turned in that direction.

The University Christian Association has arranged a general union meeting to be held in Closed Hall at 3 o'clock for this address. Miss Oleson is said to be an excellent speaker and ought to be given a good hearing.

County Fair was a Dizzy Occasion.

People of All Nations Met, Mingled, and Made Merry—Wedding Ceremonies.

The Johnson County Fair last night was literally a howling success. All the tributes of earth came together in the Ararat and made more noise than the Tower of Babel. They ate, drank and made merry, and crowded a small city into the offices of the W. C. T. U. The fair was quite the best ever held in Johnson county, and is saying a good deal.

The largest attraction was the circus in the center of the room, here I saw many marvels, chief among which was the lesieur Dicky, a very onrypractizing infant for its years. A strong man, a parolion operator—a series of curiosities and monstrosities were in evidence. After doing the circus, the proposed method was to visit the attractions ranged about the walls of the room. There was a tseylock which did a nesting, hodwasi, a bunch of abandoned women, a wedding, a game, sandsh, frisbee telling stories, and a real cold welcome where one could get liquid or solid refreshment.

The crowning event of the evening was the wedding. This took place on the balcony at nine o'clock. The bride was very sweet and dainty, her costume being a very faithful reproduction of white and white. The grooms was—also present. He wore the conventional checked shirt, gray coat and white vest. After some sad, sweet music by the organ, the ceremony began, and the admiring audience was permitted to spy the bride.

Several original and unique features were introduced into the fair that could not be mentioned in our limited space. It was all good and its success ought to be a matter of much satisfaction to the organizing party.

SIGMA NU BANQUET

Fourthteenth Anniversary Celebrated

Last night, March 9th, the men are present.

Last evening at the Parkbury Imperial the Delta chapter of Sigma Nu initiated yesterday John Strong. In close nail of arrival of the men was the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the college. Scheduled on the program were several events, the most notable were to be presented with a trophy by the fraternity, which would set Ides above mankind, this being the only society that has set its mind to this end. The banquet in honor of the fraternity, which would set Ides above mankind, this being the only society that has set its mind to this end.

Toasts were responded to by W. A. Mezina, H. E. Hamond, and others in behalf of the alumni, and Burton as Norton from the active chapter.

The following alumni were present:

Legislators talk of modern conditions.

Strong appeals for high ideals in public life—Two inspiring addresses.

The University's thirty-first convocation was held at the Armory Monday morning at ten o'clock. The attendance was not large, though a very good program was offered. The whole evening was furnished by the University Band. Eight degrees were conferred by President McClelland. The address of the College of Liberal Arts. Hon. O. C. fossils gave the first address on the subject. Companies Alpha, Beta and Delta have standards of life which would not set aside money, because the honored talk of the hero, showing how the white pride flourishes with its superior educational advantages, was in part, "It is my opinion to impress your minds how little basis there is for much of the pessimism that obtains today. We are told that the generation is corrupt, that congress is corrupt, that the legislature is corrupt, that the press is corrupt, that human is corrupt. People talk of the good old days, as if there had been more corruption then, as if all had been good and nothing evil. I submit to you today that the republic is more a medium of progress than it presented then, or it has presented at any previous period. We have the old idea of a society which would take people to get out of hope in their hearts, and with confidence in your influence and integrity of your fellow-countrymen."
