Tonight at the Opera House "Miss Hobbs"

THE ROMANCE OF HISTORY

REUBEN G. WHITAKER ON MISSISSIPPI VALLEY.

Popular Address on the Story of the Great West—Large Concourse of Students and Scholars.

Last night the story of the marvelous west was told by Bishop Gold Thawles, Curator of the Historical Section of the Smithsonian. This was given under attention throughout. The speaker emphasized his ideas with a mindless fluency of the marvelous development of the group Mississippi valley.

The story was told of the reprouud fascination which poured out its long ago, and of the coming of the Spanish and the French to their turn making, history, writing and significance, for the coming generations. His story of the winning of the red was one of whiteman's beauty. With words, the speaker is as artist, and in description is vivid.

The story of the Civil War, Pirates and Adventures who lived in their fortunes in early years, was given in comparison and, in the coming of the white man, "while night shades tight" we still have a history of men and women.

The speaker concluded with a plea for the teacher who leads the youth in its conception of history to give it the life, color, action and beauty which make a grave student the romance of history.

JEFFERSON DAVIS PLAY TONIGHT.

Miss Hobbs on the Board's at the Colosse—Good Seat Sale Pro- gramming.

The First University dramatic production of the year occurs this evening when, "Miss Hobbs" will be presented at the Colosse. The play a dapper women amateur by Jerome pass the make a hit the annual performance in the city. The title role will be taken by Miss Keyes, well known to University audiences. Those who have been fortunate enough to see the final rehearsal predict that her portrayal of "Miss Hobbs" cannot be excelled. The play is under the direction of Miss Belle Jamies, who assumes a pleasurable and satisfactory performance.

The seat sale is very good, and everything toward a play well prepared and well patronized.

Miss oglenshouse and Miss Gray of the College visited Miss Alice Shirtley yesterday.

Pat O'Gara entertained at an informal dinner at the R. F. Hall, Wednesday evening.

THE JURY IS LEARNING THINGS

PROFESSOR ALLMAN MADE HIS ESCAPE YESTERDAY—THIS COUNTY NEEDS A BETTER SHERIFF.

Professor Allman made his escape yesterday—this county needs a better sheriff.

The jury in the Grinnell \( \text{Student's Guide} \) case are in a fair way to get a liberal education out of their experience. Experts from the College of Science are present on the witness stand yesterday afternoon and told them there was a little more to know about science and detection, while other severances from Dean Fishbein's college, the jury basemen in the gratish feeling of self-superiority. The purpose of all this expert evidence is to show that the Black codes of humanity made the holding where Webster bought two of the numbered man.

When the state gets the various sections of Dr. Parkes' accused for you, it will have put the bloodstains; Webster one step away from the gallows. That is the dictum forsose your doom is shown by his frisky effort to escape percolate. He has already conducted an evening of honest, in agreeable company by taking position.

THE COLLEGE AND THE STAGE.

The following extract from an editorial in a recent issue of the Rockford Democrat is of especial interest, as it is the season of amateur theatricals so

"It is strange that in the discussion of ways and means of elevating the stage—a discussion that has gone on for a decade and has led to downright schemes of various kinds—the possible influence of the college-dramatic society has barely been mentioned. Yet colleges have done considerable good and are planning to do more in the future in the direction of cultivating love and appreciation of dramatic art.

"The production of Greek tragedy and comedies by Oxford and Cambridge undergraduates is

"It is possible when a definite stage in the development of the dramatic society that has been

THE CONFERENCES YESTERDAY.

Teachers of History Conferred First, and Representatives of Local Societies Later.

The conferences held in the Assembly room yesterday were very largely attended and many interesting and profitable papers were read. In the forenoon conference, perhaps the main point of interest centered on the methods of teaching history. Great stress was laid in the importance of historical knowledge as distinct from the mere methods in its presentation. The relation of history to all the social sciences was also discussed and greatly emphasized.

The afternoon conference was made up of representatives of local historical societies. It was of great interest, reports of local societies being read as follows:

H. A. Muller, Mollison County
O. L. Weib, Ring County
Fred Smith, Dawes County
J. W. Ellis, Jackson County
Mrs. Martin Purdy, Bucks County
K. B. Parker, Poweshiek County
C. L. Louden, Madison Historical Society

Two distinguished visitors were, of course, Mr. and Mrs. J. Scott Remsen, the only survivors of the Constitutional Conventions of 1854 and 1855 respectively.

At 12:30 the Board of Curators gave a luncheon to the guests at the Burdick Imperial. About thirty-five were present.

Shower and Tub baths at the New Antequate Barber Shop, 18 South Clinton Street.

Mr. C. W. Wansam is in receipt of a letter from the Governor appointing him the Iowa delegate to the National Conference of Churches and Corporations to be held in Minneapolis on June 3.

Hear William the harpist, at the Golden March 25.

Professor Albert Stevens, of Cornell College, is among the numerous guests of the University this week. March 5th we will have some very nice Book Combs. Call and see them at A. M. Green's.

R. F. Brewtry, L. M., arrived yesterday afternoon from Dubuque, where he is now practicing.
