THE COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY

HISTORY COVERS TWENTY SIX YEARS.

Established in 1881, and Occupied Quarters in the Old South Hall.

There was an affiliation in the Dental Society in 1879, exposing to the view of Iowa dentists that the profession to be taught somewhere in the state. A committee was appointed to wait upon the Board of Regents. The proposition made to the board was not freely or favorably received, as they asked the board to take none of the risk; all the wants were recognized and open upon the subject of the buildings. The salary of the faculty of dentistry was to be paid from fees of the students, and no expense was to be paid from the state. As a matter of fact, all this income was used by the new faculty in setting up the laboratory and operating room. The school began instruction in October.

In its first year Dr. W. B. Hargrave, many dentists of the present state, was on the faculty and the buildings were used. A genial and a lasting Dr. Hargrave, one of the faculty engaged in the dental school, built for Iowa that has never ceased from its activities.

THE HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE TEAM TRY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Iowa City West from Cedar Falls and Fort Dodge from East Des Moines Last Week.

This debate was held at the close of last week involving the two teams, which will compete for the honor of being the champion high school debaters of Iowa. One contest was held at Cedar Falls between the Iowa City high school team and that of Cedar Falls, and Fort Dodge. The Iowa City team defeated Fort Dodge and lost to East Des Moines in the capital city, Iowa City and Fort Dodge being the winners. The next debate and the final for the state championship, will be held in this city, April 24, with Ft. Dodge in the affirmative side and Iowa City in the negative.

Three of the teams on Saturday evening's debate were trained by graduate students of the University, and one of them is a graduate of the local high school. All have made Iowa City a center for debate societies and the Iowa College of Dentistry is a prominent member of the Iowa College Debating Society.

An Honor for Professor McMillen.

Among the many meetings of scientific societies during the Easter recess, that of the American Society of Naturalists and Agricultural Societies, at Madison, Wis., was perhaps the largest. Dr. McMillen was the local representative at the session of the Association of American Naturalists. Professor McMillen attended the meeting of American Botanists, and Professor Wylie that of the Botanical Society of the Chicago, which was held at the University. The members of the American Botanical Society, which is the highest scientific body in the country, only twenty-seven representatives of American Universities, and our own school is one of them. In point of equipment and personal attention to the students, the school is peculiarly strong. It is fortunate in being part of a university, as it adds greatly to the eligibility. Over 1200 people have been treated in the clinic this year, in one month, during which a record was kept, patients from over 100 different towns appeared for treatment. To accommodate as many patients, one hundred and twenty-five chairs are in use, six of the eight seats of the main clinical floor. The best facilities are provided the students, each one of them has a complete office of his own, with a cabinet for the disposal of his tools. In most other schools the students are obliged to pack their material and instruments in their own cases.

An Honor for Professor McMillen.

During the Easter recess, many scientific societies met at Madison, Wis., was perhaps the largest. Dr. McMillen was the local representative at the session of the Association of American Naturalists. Professor McMillen attended the meeting of American Botanists, and Professor Wylie that of the Botanical Society of the Eastern States. In the session of officers of the last named society, Professor McMillen was made president, Professor Johnson was made the closing speech in which the members thanked the city of Madison for courteous treatment.

Professor Magnuson has been seriously ill, but is now somewhat improved.

Northwestern University Medical School
(Chicago Medical College)

This medical school is centrally located, convenient to large hospitals, affording abundance of clinical material. The laboratories and lecture rooms are commodious, well-lighted and generously supplied with all modern apparatus to aid in carrying on the most effective manner, the study of medicine.

This fall course consists of four years, eight months, beginning October lst. All courses are divided into small sections, thus affording to students better opportunities, or the advantages of individual instruction. This feature, as well as a graded curriculum, characterizes the work in all the departments.

The ability of the men who graduate from this school, as well as the character and thoroughness of the work given here, is evidenced by the success of our graduates in the examinations given by the different State Boards. Of the 154 graduates of the class of 1906 who were examined by the various State Boards in the United States during the last year, only one failed to pass.

For further particulars address the Secretary.

THE WAITING HABIT
Most men cherish the notion that sooner or later they are going to win out. They have the eager desire to exist; and they intend to get by—anyhow. The waiting habit is all that stands between a lot of men and poverty. The habit of waiting would not be reprehended with such pathetic effect—a physically vigorous man, doomed, through lack of knowledge, to idleness and its consequences. Ambition counts for nothing unless backed with a resolved purpose to achieve. You may desire ever so urgently to better yourself; but mere desire will profit you nothing. There must be action. Getting right down to hardpan, wouldn't have to plead in vain for able workers. If men would battle for preference instead of merely wishing for it; civilization would no longer pass by without taking note of that pathetic object—a physically vigorous man, doomed, through lack of knowledge, to idleness and its consequences. Ambition never remains long on the counters. It is in constant demand. It is the most widely advertised Correspondence Paper on the market. Should be sold by all stations.
