A LARGE CROWD AT THE CONCERT

BAND MAY FEEL PLEASED WITH SUPPORT.

The conflict of dates between the debates and the football game turned out to be more than a minor thing that was expected. Both finishing teams were in the series and each had particular reasons to have no pennant taken in the support it received. The game, moreover, promised much satisfaction, fitting the selections chosen and in the execution of them. We had a good ball last fall, but it has gone on improving, the resolution of Friday evening's program was unnecessary better than that of the concert last fall. The audience was appreciative throughout, but its enthusiasm for the game to be given by the series members of the second part, it for which the band will do well in

Now is the winner of our discontinuous谁能s下来的由员以之announced as the game of Cuba which applies to Mr. O'Byrne for calling him Irish. And the honor being as well to his two able confidantes, Mr. O'Sullivan and Mr. McInerney, who share with him the distinction of winning the first victory not ([in] has scored this year in interesting debate. Mr. C. W. Wanyer cover is for honorable mention, too, as he has enrolled the team from first to last.

A very pleasant feature of this victory is that it is the first contested by the new Marshall Law Society coming as a comprehensive triumph after a train of defeats it makes a most promising beginning.

The limits of our space prevent any detailed mention of the appearances and arguments of the debaters, but it may be said in general that the debate was carried by force and not by which the men drove their arguments home, the context was one of the most evident ever seen here.

The debate was plainly ours from start to finish, the opposing team was crushed.
