MILITARY CONTEST COMING.

Competitive Drill Next Tuesday—

Sword, Trophy and Medals to be Awarded.

The military contest will come off next Tuesday evening at 4:30 p.m. on the Armory grounds. There is great rivalry between the five companies in the B.U. 1 regiment, and it will be a bitter struggle for first honors. Every company will do its best to win the fine silver trophy cup, which is the prize to be given the company adjudged to be first in the marital manual.

The Coast sword, a prize hung up yearly by Coast & Sons of this city, also goes to the winner.

Not less interesting and hotly contested, however, will be the competition by the representatives of the different classes. The best drilled junior will receive a medal, as will also the best drilled sophomore and freshman.

Not having always been manifested in these annual contests, and the large number of contestants this year should make the drill a close and exciting one. The cœuda are seen daily delving into the mysteries of the manual of arms, and rules are being crammed with an ardor that threatens mental dyspepsia.

Miss Clara Schulz has returned from Burlington.

The student Masonic club will entertain the Iowa City Masons Saturday evening.

The project of a summer tour for the band has been abandoned.

Dr. Frank Briggs, now of Lawerence, was here with a patient for the hospital this week.

The second week in June, and will be the last of the public military events of the year.

EXPRESS THANKS TO CORNELL.

The S. U. I. baseball team and Coach Storey desire to express their thanks through the Iowa to Cornell college, for the courtesies shown them while guests at the S. U. I. college in Mt. Vernon recently.

The S. U. I. baseball team played the Cornellians and beat them, and despite this, the Cornell faculty and especially those in charge of the May festival, tendered them a great treat. The May Musical Festival of Cornell is one of more than state-wide reputation, and is characterized by the excellence of the music rendered by the great artists who take part each year. Our ballartists were provided with compliments to this premier event, and are indeed thankful for being allowed to witness and to hear many numbers of this musical feast.

The faculty of the University of Minnesota have made good scholarship requirement for all students who take a lead in student enterprises.

The Senior girls at Minnesota will hold their summer fete the evening of the last week in June, and will be the last of the public events of the year.

The Governor's review comes the second week in June, and will be the last of the public military events of the year.

A bird in the hand beats two pair. Pa was kicking about some mining stock a friend persuaded him to buy. It turned out to be lobster stock and now Pa says a gold mine is a lobster i.e. the lobster is the gold mine and the lobster holds the sack. I guess as long as gold mining with a pen and a little fancy paper continues to be such a profitable industry, a lot of folk who write a pretty fair hand won't see any good reason for swinging a pick. They will pass the pick over to the fellow who invents and starts a new prospectus.

There is one thing about buying goods at this store—there is no possible chance for you to get any lobster stock here. Take it in serge. The mills are running night and day, and they will make enough blue and gray serges to supply the demand, but they can't do it. As a result of this serge is going up all the time and the serge suit we're sold to you for $13 costs us $15 now to lay down if it's a fast dye and all wool.

What do we do? Sell you a cheaper grade and tell you it's as good as you ever bought, or do we tell you that cheerful table having hove in a supply last season before the upward movement set in?
That wouldn't be this season's styles, would it? No, we have no lobster talk to hand to anyone.

We tell you frankly anything we think you are entitled to know about the market or our methods of buying and selling. We are forced to add some smaller margin of profit, preferring to do this rather than cheapen the quality standard, but don't talk about this because we guarantee everything that leaves this store.
