Iowa Alumni Stars go Down to Defeat

Final Score, 9 to 2, Made on a Drop Kick and Touchdown — A Good Contest

TENNIS FINALS ARE POSTPONED
Olive and McQuillen will Play for Championship Monday

Finals in the fall tennis tournament were postponed to Monday with Olive and McQuillen in the contests for the fall champion. McQuillen defeated Daniels Saturday 6-0, 6-4 and Olive defeated Randall by default in the semi-finals Friday. Olive and McQuillen started on the fall grid on the third set darkness prevented further play.

The first round results in the consolation were as follows: Smith defeated Younkin 6-3, 6-3; Haskell defeated Collin by default in the semi-finals; Sargent defeated Younkin by default; and Powell defeated Haff 6-2, 6-3.

In the doubles Olive and McQuillen defeated Henry and Brink 6-0, 6-1; Harwood and Gordon defeated Hannah and Lindley by default in the first match; and Haff and Sargent by default in the second.

The remaining matches in the first round were played tomorrow.

Numerous changes were made in the University line-up during the second half. Sabell went into the game for both kickers, quarterback, and half-back. The reliving men in every case played up to the standard set by the men they replaced, especially the tackle substitutes Lowell and Collin got some game strength on defense, and were good for a sure advancing field for the tail guard of this team.

In the doubles, Collin was the only substitute used by the alumni. He replaced John Griffith full back in the half part of the second half. His long return of a punt was one of the features of the game.

Dr. R. T. Evermann Gave Fine Lecture Friday

Informal Sing Was Successful and Attracted Much Attention

Several hundred students crowded the auditorium at the 8th hour for the address of Dr. R. T. Evermann, who was recently appointed consul at Saigon, Cochín Chins. Made a brief stop on his way from Washington, D. C., he was interested in seeing the new buildings and general improvements in grounds and equipment, especially of the gymnasium.

In a brief address to one of the professors, Friday morning, he spoke enthusiastically of the journalistic work at Washington, which has just quitted to join the consular service. He said only at Washington that one can get a broad understanding of the problems of the Orient. If I were a young man, I would try and become the Washington correspondent of some newspaper before you come in contact with great men and great issues.

It was often remarked that music is all important to the reporter, but it is the very breath of life to the publicists. For this reason, they are always the best musicians, especially those whose constituents are reached by the reporter's paper.

Dr. McQuillen is expected to remain at his present location for about two years. Just recently he has been engaged in investigating the pipe line industry for the interstate commerce commission and will be the only substitute used by the alumni. He replaced Roy Allen, John Griffith and Ker

Egypt Monday

This is "Egypt's" week and Monday night a representative audience will fill the Coliseum, and overflowing for the first presentation of the useful opera. It is probable the audience will rival the hundreds of siders the stage in brilliancy of appearance as local society will make the opening night of the festival a dress occasion.

Ever since last Thursday the stage carpenters and machinists have been busy occupied in arranging the stage settings, building the scenery and adjusting the electric machines that produce the various effects that have made "Egypt" famous throughout the length and breadth of the land.

The singers are resting from final rehearsals, the orchestras have completed their preparations and all is in readiness for the opening of the curtain on the length of the opera the opening show of which is so soon. For the convenience of spectators librettos containing all the words of the play will be on sale at the theater at a nominal sum. The Wednesday presentations will begin at 3 o'clock and in order to get in a clock in order that school children may attend.

Kent Tells Reasons for the Value of Contests

The Return of the Old Timers
Has a Good Effect on the Student Body—A Fine Banquet
[by W. A. Kent]

Not many realize just what the purpose and value of an annual football game with S. C. alumni consists in. The value of this game in a mere easy-smack affair is far outweighed by some other results and influences that it brings about.

In the first place, considered only in a football light, the alumni game is not an extremely funny exhibition. Men out of school for five or six years are in no way to play a fast, quality game and no one could know this any better than themselves. The game is generally slow and kept down with the alumni requiring all the best of the decisions and the variety vary trying to play fast ball when the other team is simply in no shape to stay with them. Never the less, enough individual work on the part of the alumni makes it a hit with the crowd. Just what is the value of the alumni game? It has a practical side and a sentimental side. If Iowa desires to put out winning teams she must have varsity material for the coaches to work with and no one can do better work in bringing these guys down to school than the old football men out over the country. A high school man's idea of college is very often largely mixed with athletics anyway and no one can influence him towards going away to school as a man who has done something in college athletics. So it is a wise thing to keep these football alumni, out over the state and other states, interested in their old school for the school will be repaid in getting desirable athletes.

Also: it has a generally good effect on the whole student body. It is a bunch of old timers bringing the best of the alumni and other states together, arouses the interest for the other future game and makes everyone feel good to be alive.

One of the features of the alumni game is the annual banquet held the evening of the game when the alumni and all the students get together for a general good time.

Laundry Bags Free!

If you have just received a large number of laundry bags with which we have supplied our regular customers, and if we still have about a hundred on hand, we will give them out free to the first one hundred students who will stop in our office and leave their names and addresses. These bags are neat, of good size and durably made, and they are given out under the following conditions:

1. Bring up The Student's Laundry and Wash Woman Agency [both phases—J. C., 256; Bell, 356 E] between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday of this week, giving your name and address.

2. It is understood that each person accepting one of these bags will become a trial patron of The Student's Laundry and Wash Woman Agency.

3. These bags may be used for laundry other than that which is intended for us, provided you indicate in the proper place where the bag is to be attached to the laundry bag whether you want us to carry your hard laundry, your soft laundry, or both.

4. If our work is not satisfactory, you are not bound to continue patronizing us, and you may relieve yourself from further responsibility by notifying our office. We will then call at your room for the laundry bag.

5. These bags are not given to you. They are merely loaned to you, and they remain the property of The Students' Laundry and Wash Woman Agency.

M. C. Parsons, President.
