Remley Wins Cross-Country

In Annual Race Remley Scores Third; Victory—Latham Wins of Freshman Cup

In the annual cross-country race, Robert Remley came in a winner in a pretty sprint from E. W. Leicke, who had run at his side from the time they left the track until they entered Iowa for the finish, in the fast time of 27:58. Behind him, the two were strung along for miles with John Crossen third and Latham, a freshman, fourth. The cups will go to the man in the order named with Latham the winner of the freshman prize.

The start consisted in three laps on the track and from there the race continued to the Puntation station on the Coralville road and back again and along the river. The bunched kept well together around the track but commenced to string out as soon as the course was struck. Remley and Rice gradually drew away and were almost a quarter of a mile ahead at the finish.

IOWA PLAYERS TAKE
WELL EARNED REST

Most of Them Go to Mt. Vernon for Game

Coach Mark Catlin Acted as Referee in Cornell—Grinnell Game—Hard Work for Team

After a week of preparation for the Ames game the Iowa squad was given a complete rest yesterday and after a few paining inspections from Trainer O'Brien to keep themselves warm with a few big sweaters the men took their recreation in different forms, most of them going to the Cornell—Grinnell game at Mt. Vernon.

The one day of relaxation was granted after a conference between Coach Catlin and Griff and Trainor Officer and in spend of open practice on Iowa Field was decided to let the team have a good day off and most of them elected to go with Coach Mark Catlin to Mt. Vernon to watch the Engineer's-popular game. tackle the gritty eleven from Iowa College. Essential improvement in the game was the cause of the fact that Catlin acted as referee. Coach Finger of Cornell and Coach Catlin are also both protegees of Coach Amos A. Stagg of the University of Chicago.

The coming week will be a strenuous one on Iowa Field for the first three days the coaches have the usual rivalry between Cornell and Coach Catlin are also in the game with the score of 12 to 5.
