BIG MASS MEETING FOR IOWA DEBATES

To Be Held Wednesday Morning at Assembly

President MacLean and Honorable Gentleman Have Announced Their Purpose of Dressing the Meeting.

The first big forensic contest of the year comes next Friday, the 12th of December, in five more days. It is the only intercollegiate debate which will occur here this year. It is the first under the auspices of the Forensic League for the new term, and the first since the organization of the "Booster" committee.

The University of Iowa, students, faculty and resident alumni have all banded together to make it a feature of the University year.

Someone has asked, "Where do you find Irish students at this fall fair and fall football? That is the only fair and fair occasion in the University year."

On Friday night two debates will occur: Iowa meets both Nebraska and Lincoln School. In preparation for these debates six men have been picked from the whole University to do the fighting. Two things are to be accomplished: These students that have University backing and Columbia and Nebraska must be beaten.

To show these debaters that the University of Iowa is-ranking will be held at the time of the University Assembly on Friday afternoon. Everyone is welcome to attend and support everyone of these debaters given a chance.

ST. PATRICK'S PROGRAM

The Catholic students of the University will give a fair this evening in advance of the University Assembly in St. Brann's Hall. Following is the program and the cast of characters:

Dick Daver, a student at Yale; George M. V. Parent, typist in the University; George Armstrong, a student at St. Brann's Hall; and the Catholic students of the University.

With the part to be written by one of the Illinois students. He will be away to England. The Swiss students have promised to be on hand with one of his mimetic speeches. He will be away at the University of the Bears. These gentlemen never fail to make an occasion interesting and to excuse absurd scenes. This is the first opportunity for the "boisterous" spirit that is going to be made.

"The situation calls for a boost from everyone," said a strong Betty Tewksbury, Otis' daughter.

WISCONSIN NOW HAS UNIVERSITY UNION

Situation Described by Y. M. C. A. Secretary

Christian Association Not Suicidal- Alaska Union Idea Combined With It

Wisconsin now has a recently established Union, and according to the opinion of Secretary M. C. A. Secretary, it will probably be a success in every way. The splendid Y. M. C. A. movement was not the success the association had hoped for in the beginning so one entire floor has been completely remodeled into the Wisconsin Union under the control of a council representing the entire student body.

Five or six rearguard in the Iowa's letter of inquiry on the relation of the Y. M. C. A. Building and Union to Wisconsin Association Hall, Madison, Wis.

FESTIVE DAILY IOWAN

Wednesday, December 7th, 1907

SPEAKING BEFORE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

ST. Brann's Hall. In reply to your question of the dig it me with only the fact that the Union is here but a few little bills of the new American Catholic students. A large number of students today is the only fair for the Y. M. C. A. building but has never been used by the general student body as was hoped. In accordance with the desire to make it of more general use the main floor of the building has been opened recently by the University Association authorities to the management of a committee representative of the student body. It was called the Wisconsin Union and is entirely under the management of a group of students located in the Y. M. C. A. building. It has not been going long enough for the student body to judge it but I think that with time it will be a success in every way.

"If we do not see why a Union cannot be built even though it is in the Y. M. C. A. building, although in most cases, in instituting such a Union, it may be preferable to have a Union building as at Harvard or Michigan. For a condition similar to that which is now taking place to you in Boston, students at the University of Wisconsin are Loating in the same situation. Hoping this may open your door.

This new Union is the only student body to be made by the brewers, and the Union will be a mighty fine building. It is a large success, and our thanks are due to the brewers for their generosity.

M. T. KENNY, General Secretary Y. M. C. A.

Iowa's basketball team defeated Crete last night at Capital Rapids by a score of 69 to 39.

To APPORT NEW COMMITTEE

President G. E. MacLean will select Greater University Committee to succeed the present one.

PLEASING FEATURES AT FORMAL PARTY

President a Success in Every Way Friday Evening.

LSM-

With the time of closing extended to 10 o'clock and with the new plan of two walls to carry every two steps the Sophomore Coiffure given last night was the most successful held in recent years at the University.

This was the additional hour it was necessary to start the Grand March so early and theSophomore gowns were not compelled to make extravagant efforts to arrive at the assembly for the early beginning.

The party was satisfactorily conducted in every detail and the committee was respectfully complimented on its efforts in arranging the first formal function of the year.

President and Mrs. George E. MacLean led the Grand March to the music of the committee, patronesses and guests respectively. About eighty couples danced in theory.

The dance program consisted of two twenty regular dances and three supper extras. The music furnished by Donk's orchestra was excellent.

FACULTY SOCIAL COMMITTEE CHOSEN

For the purpose of enforcing the social regulations of the University, and with power to maintain discipline in cases of violation of the rules, the following faculty committee has been chosen from the University Senate: Prof. S. H. Bush, L. A., Dean C. N. Gregory, Dr. J. T. McClintock, M. D., W. L. Bywater, H. M., neon, W. H. Ford, D. Q. Dean W. T. Prenters, Prof. C. H. Weller, L. A., Prof. B. J. Lanters, A. E. President G. E. MacLean and Dean Mable M. Vollmer are members ex-officio.

H. B. Austin, A. E. Smith reported the Athletic Association to be in good condition, and able to stand the usual spring loads.

There seems to be a disarray among the student body for the WATCH THE Notices posted on the bulletin boards. This was conclusively proved in connection with a recent meeting of one of the classes in the College of Liberal Arts. Notices were posted the day previous to the meeting on all of the bulletin boards, but the number of students who went to look at them was not great enough to constitute a quorum.

No doubt scores of students had passed before the bulletin boards with out as much as a glance in their direction. The bulletin boards are University organs with a purpose — to remind us of coming events. If we disregard these notices their primary purpose is defeated.

The bulletin board at the entrance of the campus is conveniently located and every building has a bulletin board up on which all important notices are published. Therefore, every student should make it a point to consult these notices once each day and make note of coming events. So, in the words of the Student's Hand Book, let us "get our university spirit" and "watch the bulletin boards."

A more work that has started at Syracuse University might have been followed for band here. All members of the student band, of a sufficiently high grade have been granted the variety emblem which is twined with a trumpet. The Iowa band has always been regarded as one of the foremost in the west and the men who have contributed to its success should have their services recognized. Thus many men who could never win their "variety" emblem in athletics will have a chance to have their services to the university appreciated by another department rewarded.

The Iowa wishes to compliment the different high schools upon the literary exchanges, style and quality of their magazines and which makes a decided impression. While comparatively few of the high schools send their publications, those which are sent are read with great interest by the students in the University who are alumni of the different institutions. They seem to rate quite high on the tables of the Y. M. C. A. reading room and the Iowa welcomes any additions to the list of the preparatory school periodicals.

Now that the University has added facilities for assisting by locating students of the TEAM it should have a hockey team. While this is a reach of the imagination many colleges have not entered it is highly popular with all who participate.

The Bulletin has between the different classes and we would help to interest many students in outdoor sport who now have no part in college athletics.

Field is sick

Gloves has been cast in the debating camp by the serious illness of H. O. Pool, one of the debaters to meet Nebraska. Yesterday Professor H. E. Gordon and Lawrence Steele, the authorizations, practicing in the part. A full account of Field's condition will be published in Tuesday's "Today's"

IOWA COMMUNICATIONS

Help the Hawkeyes.

Work on the 1909 Hawkeye is as earnest. The individual members have made their plans and started, and now we are ready to receive the necessary help from all the family residents and from the University at large.

If you are a junior, and want to have your picture in the Annual, please get your family and friends to take the photographs before the Christmas vacation and have your pictures taken. We ask "Before Xmas" because we want to have the pictures in early enough so that we may see proof of all of them before the book goes to print. If your picture comes in late we can't guarantee the result, and your picture means a poor book. The picture for placing the junior pictures in the Annual is $1.25, the same as last year. Arrangements have been made for convenience sake so that you may pay the photographer the $1.25 and he will furnish us with the copy.

What follows applies to every member of the University who has the institution's best interests at heart.

We want a book so full of jokes and cartoons and sayings and ideas about the University and its people, that every person friend or enemy of the Board, who opens its cover, will have to say there is a live University at Iowa City. How many of your friends, who have never been at the University, junior, who not on the Board, have the Annual more than a passing thought? And how many, shall I say it—yes, how many of your professors, who have seen the mistakes of former Annuals, or been connected with other colleges of universities, have given the Annual more than a passing thought?

No one in the institution could supply us with such a wealth of ideas as the professors, and yet they, for the most part, are the last ones to turn a hand.

The Annual is the only industry of every accredited high school in the state, and serves as one of the best advertisements the school can come. It comes in contact with Annuals from other schools and compares as best it can. Seldom, however, does it give the University a fair representation. The board fails with every one of you in the Board in contributing what he might to the contents of the book and then by refusing to buy a book makes it such failure that the Board positively cannot get out a book such as the State University of Iowa should afford.

We say this not because we are discouraged. No a key State has started under more favorable circumstances. But we say this because we are a little tired with the support previous Annuals have received. And we want you to begin to feel a little of the kind loyalty and support that will bring some Noticed results. Write up your jokes, be promps with your pictures, compete for our prizes, give us your suggestions and then next spring buy a book that you can take to home and show to your friends and pride, and the pride you belong to the University of Iowa. -Clem Loomis, Editor in Chief.

Our Relations With Ames

The Daily Iowan

IOWA CITY, IOWA.

To the Editor—In the discussions of the advisableness of severing football relations with the State Agricultural College, a question arises aside of the Kirk-Reppert incident which deserves thoughtful consideration.

If it is to be held to the standing of the University of Iowa, at least outside the state—and that is the part of the country where we all want Iowa to be better known—to direct her efforts more towards such schools as those of the western conference, to attach such undue importance and interest to the annual game with the Agricultural College?

While Ames plainly has had a strong, well-trained football team a fair representation. The high school instead stronger than some of the conference schools, their reputation is. However, and body could be, more than state-wide, and interest in games in which they may participate confined very largely to this state, therefore a victory over them does not carry with it the gratification that goes with a contest with some of the larger mid-western colleges, their teams may really be inferior to that of Ames.

Iowa's victory over Illinois this fall gave Old Gold a much widespread advertising throughout the middle west, and added more prestige to the team and school than all the "state championships" she has ever wrestled from the Aggies combined. In fact, the assertion may truly be made that the game with Wisconsin this year brought more favorable comment among Iowa from a wider field than we have had before.

Let the Agricultural College and other minor schools of the state for the "state championship," and Iowa be a more active factor in conference athletics.

some recommendations containing definite plans for the student campaign could be suggested by the Greater University Committee. The committee, however, was not formally adopted by the students it would undoubtedly result in the beginning of a Greater University Committee numerically.

The results would certainly be felt not only when the enrollment shows a marked increase but also by the realization of many students who were influenced to enter the University through the efforts of the county reorganization backed up by the hearty co-operation of the alumni in the various counties.

"The time is now ripe for launching a practical system of reaching the preparatory school seniors who are now thinking of going away to college and are starting their plans at this time of year.

"After the holidays a University banquet is desirable at which the results of the county campaign during the holidays can be reported upon by the convener of the various county club organizations. The banquet will also serve to stir up enthusiasm concerning the Iowa Union idea and re-establish in a sense the Iowa spirit."
