HEIDELBERG AND ITS UNIVERSITY

Some Interesting Phases of Great Foreign Institution

Student Life and Customs of the German Universities as Seen by Professor Plum

[BY PROF. H. G. PLUM]

Heidelberg is an interesting university town. It is situated on the Neckar, a branch of the Rhine, and is squeezed into its narrow little valley just where the foothills of the Hartz mountains begin. The old castle, one of the finest ruins in Germany, stands on one of the smaller hills, just over the town, and is still imposing as well as picturesque. The effects of its last siege are still in evidence; the side away from the town lies in the moat just where it fell when the keep was blown up by the general of Louis fourteenth in 1869 when forced to evacuate the city. It looks as if decay had set in and this side of the fortress had just fallen out, itself unbroken, and dropped into the moat leaving the rest of the walls standing intact. A delightful footpath winds up from the town to the "schloss" and the beautifully wooded castle grounds furnish fine outlooks over the Rhine valley and down to the rushing little river which flows through the town.

The University and town authorities delight to furnish entertainment for distinguished visitors by lighting the castle, the old bridge and the wooded hills with red lights. During our stay a delegation of English Mayors visited the city and the illumination was ordered for their benefit. All the student clubs in the University fitted up and decorated launches and row boats and starting from a point above the bridge floated as deliberately as was possible down to it, then under and below just as the chemicals were lighted. The entire hill upon which the castle is situated became a lurid red, the castle seemed one mass of flame and the reflection on the river from hill and bridge lighted up the boats and barges, making a picture one could not soon forget. The illumination lasted about an hour while the students sang their college songs, rowed about or rested wherever the swift stream permitted, and chaffed and banttered each other to their heart's content. Strangers have no difficulty in recognizing students, by their bearing, and by the badges of class, society or fraternity. The University is self-governing and tries to keep a careful watch over the student body although of

CHORAL SOCIETY DEVELOPING

Rousing Rehearsal was Held Sunday—Preparations Being Made for Oratorio

The University Choral Society held a rousing rehearsal Sunday afternoon at which a growing enthusiasm was clearly manifest. "This organization is making great progress, and the work of chorus in their final preparation, for the production, on Wednesday evening, December 18th, of Haydn's great oratorio, "The Creation," bids fair to excel anything ever given by local talent, said a music lover yesterday. "The charge for admission has been placed at a minimum and is twenty-five cents as advertised in some of the papers. The management desires to make it possible for all lovers of music to have the privilege of hearing this great masterpiece.

"The chorus will be accompanied by an orchestra composed of local talent which Prof. Cox has chosen and drilled for these occasions.

"Let all the members be sure and be present at the rehearsal this (Tuesday) evening at seven o'clock in the Auditorium Hall of Natural Sciences.

BOARD OF CURATORS HAVE MEETING

Lucas Papers Accepted—Other Business Transacted

The Board of Curators of the State Historical Society of Iowa at its regular monthly meeting in its rooms in the Hall of Liberal Arts elected the following to membership:

Mrs. Marie Purdy Peck, Davenport, Iowa; Mr. Thomas Hedge, Burlington, Iowa; Mr. Herman C. Smith, Lamoni, Iowa; Miss Laura P. Baldwin, Iowa City, Iowa.

The donation of the large collection of letters and papers of Governor Robert Lucas was accepted by the Board,

"This collection of papers is one of the largest and most valuable, not only in Iowa, but in the middle west," said a member of the society. The papers will be substantially bound for permanent preservation.

The Parvin collection of the Iowans containing nearly one hundred volumes was also accepted by the Board.

Mr. Rolfe Whitnell was appointed general assistant to succeed Mr. Dan E. Clark, who has been promoted to the position of research assistant.

The new furniture ordered a month ago was accepted and the superintendent was authorized to proceed with the erection of suitable steel cases for the books and manuscripts.

WILCOX HEARTILY FAVORS IOWA UNION

Gives His Opinion on Student Club House Plan

Advocates Writing to Ascertain Means Employed at Other Institutions in Starting Idea

Professor W. C. Wilcox, head of the Department of History in the University, has expressed himself as highly in favor of the proposed Iowa Union.

Speaking of the Union, he says: "The University unions, such as those of Harvard, Michigan, and Chicago, furnish a means for a common life of all the men in the University which cannot be realized in any other way. For such a union to be a success it must, in the first place, have an adequate home built especially for the purpose and suited to the needs of all phases of student life. I would suggest that a systematic investigation be made of the unions as worked out in other colleges and if needs be a committee or representative be sent to such colleges to report on the best means of bringing it about."

The idea of an Iowa Union is meeting with approval on every side and nothing but the financial side of the question can now keep it from becoming a grand reality. Already ideas have been launched for raising money and need of such an organization assures it of many donors.

Graduate Club Meets

The Graduate Club held a pleasant meeting in the drawing room of the Hall of Liberal Arts Thursday evening. The meeting was in the nature of a social gathering. President George E. MacLean and Dean T. H. Macbride gave short addresses. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Republican "Boosts"

In its editorial columns the Iowa City Republican expresses its hearty sympathy for the Greater University movement by the following statement: "A Greater Iowa University is what we all want and it is just what we shall all boost for."

Forensic League Meeting

There will be a special meeting of the Forensic League this evening at 8 o'clock in Close Hall. A quorum is earnestly desired.

Political Science Club Met

The Political Science club met at the home of Professor W. C. Wilcox last night. Professor E. A. Wilcox read a paper on "Divorce."

Ivy Lane to Meet

Ivy Lane will hold an initiation meeting Wednesday evening with Miss Foster on Jefferson street. Alumni are invited.

GLOOM IN DEBATERS' CAMP

H. O. Field, Member of Nebraska Team, Ill—Mayer to Take His Place

H. O. Field, because of an abscess on his jaw, will not be able to participate in the Iowa-Nebraska debate Friday evening. The attending physician at first thought that the matter would be alright by the first of this week, but the announcement was made yesterday that it will be impossible for him to be in condition by Friday. Lawrence Mayer, the alternate, has Mr. Field's manuscript and is hard at work getting the speech learned.

This unfortunate circumstance of Mr. Field's has cast gloom over the camp of the University debaters. It has been known all along that Nebraska had an exceptionally strong team and that Iowa would have to "do or die" in order to win. But with this misfortune it is hard to conjecture the injury to our prospects of defeating the Cornhuskers. One of the members of the faculty had the following to say: "Mr. Field's illness is a tremendous disappointment to both the debaters and all loyal supporters of forensic contests. It cannot help but have a serious effect on our chances of victory."

TO CELEBRATE ITS TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Whitney Society Will Meet Tomorrow Evening

The Whitney Society will celebrate the tenth anniversary of its founding tomorrow evening, Dec. 11th. The society has flourished very successfully during the last decade and is about to broaden out and enter upon even wider fields of usefulness. Interesting announcements will be made along this line at this decennial meeting.

The program arranged is not long. Dean Amos N. Currier, as the University historian and a charter member, will give a brief sketch of the work of the society. Professor Stephen H. Bush, the president, will speak of the society's present, and its plans for the future.

The main address of the evening will be given by Professor Hugh A. Smith, head of the department of Romance Languages in the University of Wisconsin. He will speak on some discoveries in the epic history of the first crusade. Dr. Smith has done important work along the line of his subject. In the course of his address he will speak of the opportunities which photography has produced for the study of manuscripts in this country.

The members of the society will entertain Professor Smith at the Burkley Imperial before the lecture.

Houser's Have a Son

Professor and Mrs. Gilbert L. Houser are the parents of a third son—Paul Creal Houser.

TEAM WORK OF VARSITY GOOD

Schroeder Criticises Playing at Cedar Rapids

Men Must Develop Greater Accuracy Before Chicago Game Next Week

"Excellent in team work but poor in basket-throwing" is Coach Schroeder's opinion of the showing made by the Varsity basketball team in its game last Saturday night with the Cedar Rapids Y. M. C. A. The game resulted in a one sided victory for Iowa, but Schroeder, with a critical eye upon his men at every stage of the contest, picked out the flaws that must be remedied before the Hawkeyes meet the University of Chicago on the home floor next week.

Perrine and Stewart at forwards, Ramsell at center, and Captain Buckner and Morrissey at guards was the opening line-up. In the second half Norton was substituted for Perrine, and Brown for Morrissey. With the latter line-up the passing was better and the guarding closer. The Cedar Rapids floor is so small that long passes were impossible, but considering the condition the game was really fast. A return game will be played here next Saturday evening in the University Armory.

Anticipatory to putting a damper on Chicago's western championship aspirations, practice is being held every day now and especial pains taken by Schroeder to make the men more accurate in their goal-throwing. Team work and passing has been developed now to a high degree, but a little uncertainty regarding the position of the basket yet remains. Captain Buckner and Ramsell are the most successful in scoring, and both have height to aid them. O'Brien is taking good care of every man, upholding his reputation as a trainer of the first rank.

VESPER SERVICES TO BE HELD SOON

Interesting Program Will Be Announced Later

On the afternoon of Sunday, December 15, the second Vesper service will be held in the new Auditorium. The program will be announced later.

The lecture which was recently given by Professor F. De W. Washburn will be repeated by special request next Thursday evening, December 12, in the Assembly Hall of Liberal Arts, at 8 o'clock.

The lecture is on the "Period of Beginnings," and is concerned particularly with the ancient art of Egypt and Assyria.

course it finds or punishes but few culprits. Following the illumination, the night was spent in banqueting and other student amusements. About 2 a. m. I was awakened by the shouting of a group of students and the clashing of weapons. It proved to be a small body returning from an affray in which a young fellow from our pension had received the disfiguring marks which so many wear with conscious pride. A graduate student gave me the details the next morning. At a supper the evening before on some trivial offense, the challenge was given and accepted and the affair had been rather serious because of its prohibition by the authorities and the feeling between the two organizations of which the men were members.

A student prison, a bare room, with a rough table and stool its only furniture, is set apart for the milder offenders. The walls are decorated with drawings of all sorts and poems of a varied nature, the work of those who have tarried here for a time with nothing to occupy their thoughts.

While in Berlin we met an American college professor who with his wife and daughter were visiting the German art galleries. The daughter was the wife of a Heidelberg professor who was formerly an instructor in Harvard where he had met and married his wife. The wife, an active American girl, devotes herself to the problem of education for women. She lectures in various places on the American methods of education and in every way possible promotes the cause of woman's work in education. She is quite enthusiastic, though still finding much prejudice and many discouragements. After seven years of residence abroad it was a pleasure to find her still enthusiastic over things American and yet so deeply interested in the welfare of her adopted country.

Subjects

Dean L. G. Weld gave an interesting essay before the weekly meeting of the Baconian Club Friday evening. His essay was a history of the formation and development of the zodiac and a description of some of the principle constellations of the heavens. An interesting point was brought forth in regard to the decidedly unclassical names given to new constellations discovered by our modern astronomers as compared to the symbolic classical names which the ancient astronomer gave to those heavenly bodies which attracted his attention many centuries ago.
