STRONG PLEA FOR WOMEN'S BUILDING

Mr. Volland States Needs in Current Alumnus

Rapid Growth of Women Students Making Building a Necessity in Near Future

Mrs. Matie Montgomery Volland, Dean of Women of the State University of Iowa, made a strong plea for a women's building in the January number of the Iowa Alumnus. There is now a strong movement for a central building which shall meet all the needs of women students. In his article of the Iowa Volland says:

"Chief among these needs is that of a social headquarters where there are parlors and reception halls for the accommodation of the various organizations which are under the head of the Dean of Women. Until recently, all of these activities had to be conducted in the line of dormitory accommodations about town. There are already enrolled this year 1350 girls, an advance of more than 500 over the previous year. There is imperatively a need for more rooms for young women. Such a building as we propose would be furnished from which some sort of regularity of lodging-houses could be attained.

Speaking more in detail as to the construction of the building itself, the first point made is that our aim is to have a central building for the residence halls for women students. In speaking of girls who live within the association receptions, for a number of years, it has been the plan of the Volland to have one Mrs. H. H. Breene, mother of that they have been commenting on them for week.

The Junior Prom is to be held on Monday, February 12th, at the Opera House. The annual Dramatic Club play will be presented Monday evening, February 12th, at the Central Opera House. The production this year is Shakespeare's comedy "Twelfth Night," which is the most popular play that the Club has ever attempted.

A much needed improvement in that by the famous portrait painter, John S. Sargent.

TICKETS TO BE SOLD OUT

The Junior Prom will be held Monday evening, February 12th, at 7 o'clock in the Opera House. The program will consist of a short program of songs and dances and three super acts. The patrons have not been announced but will be in the near future.

"Formerly the Junior Prom was the leading social event of the year," said a prominent junior yesterday, "and the way the committee is taking hold of things augurs well for this year. In my opinion, the Prom this year will exceed anything ever given at Iowa."

DECIDE TO WITHDRAW INVITATION FOR MEET

University is Contemplating Giving Invitation Meet

University Will Not Entertain State Meet This Year—Will Give Larger Affair

The invitation to the Iowa High School Association to have the fall high school meet at Iowa City has been withdrawn by the Iowa Board of Athletic Control because of a fear of disrupting the association, embarrassing the members of the High School Board, and causing feeling against the University.

At the same meeting at which it was decided to withdraw the invitation, plans were considered with a view of giving an invitation meet to the high school men not in the University, and the meeting will probably be held at present as no one is engaged in an effort this way at present.

The action of the University clears the political atmosphere in the Iowa high schools and peace will undoubtedly now settled over the association and a state meet will be held at Des Moines under the auspices of the Des Moines high school. The University will probably give little effect in detracting from the interest in an invitation meet here.

BAND CONCERT

AND HOP TODAY

Band Will Play-To-night at the Armory

A concert of high band music will be given to-night in the Armory by the University band. After the concert a hop will be given. The concert will consist of the best selections and the band has been recently drill- ing on them for weeks.

"The members of the band desire that more members of the faculty attend," said a band supporter yesterday. "The band believes this will create as good an Iowa spirit as any method. Already many of the students have signified their intention of going."

New Clock For Library

A much needed improvement in the shape of a large clock will soon be installed in the new library. Mr. Wyer said yesterday: "A large regular has been ordered and will be placed in a conspicuous place. With this addition there will be no necessity of students being late to classes because of staying too long over time in the library."

COMMUNICATIONS

The Market Place

To a stranger visiting the city, Chicago would appear in the afternoon to be the headquarters of some trading institution. Along the walk of some can be heard the loud calls of corn, hay, wood and other marketable materials. The farmers from the Lake to the Mississippi are accustomed to use this for a congregate and market place. There has been considerable agitation in the past as to whether or not this market place but it seems to have subsided now without reaching its end. The city has tried to do something but has seemingly failed. It is new up to the Greater University movement to take up the matter and make steps towards removing these surroundings from so religious a building.

PROMINENT SON

Iowa Alumnus in Senate of United States

One of Iowa's most prominent sons is Clarence D. Clark, L. '94. University States Senator from Wisconsin. He is on the committee of Railroads in that body. Senator Clark was born in Sandy Creek, New York, but received his education in this state. After graduation he taught school several years, then went to Evanston, Wisconsin, to practice law. He later declined a preferred appointment to the Federal Judgeship. When Wyoming entered the union he was elected to Congress and shortly afterwards was sent to the Senate. He visited Iowa and delivered the Commencement address in 1902. Mr. Clark still retains his student loyalty and affection for the University and for the Zetagabian Literary Society of which he was a member.
