NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM INSTALLED

State Historical Society House

The State Historical Society of Iowa has installed an inter-communicating telephone system which connects all the rooms and offices of the society in the Hall of Liberal Arts.

From any one of these rooms direct communication can be had with any of the other rooms by simply pressing a button which corresponds to the room wanted. There are stations on the second floor, in the parlors; the cottages connected around the building; and a certain number of girls each and their doing rooms. These cottages are the homes of some students, and the idea of living in their own home, and being a part of the family, is the inspiration for this system of telephony.
