PRESIDENT MACLEAN TO LEAD GRAND MARCH

Will Head the Annual Promenade Friday Evening

President George E. Maclean and the baseball team will lead the Grand March at the Junior Prom to be given Friday evening in the University Armory.

The Grand March is followed by the annual dance, and for clues to discover the mystery, of some of the artists, especially the Minstrels, who are taking part in this event and will be remembered.

The first floor of the University Armory is reserved for the entertainment of the committee.

President Maclean will leave the University Armory at 10 o'clock to preside at the Grand March.

The committee was entertained by the Minstrels and the Minstrels were entertained by President Maclean.

The Conference of Big Eight colleges is certainly in danger of nationalorganization. A head of ultra conservatism demands ultra conservatism. Northwestem, surprise, outlining the death knoll of the seven game rule is being regarded in many quarters as almost a diploma, in the Conference. From the Iowa view point the least statement seems an exaggeration at the present moment but it signifies the coming of a storm unless a halt is called on the unreasonable stand of certain members of the Conference. The tendency toward ultra conservatism in pruning the College at Chicago, Wisconsin, and Northwestern, the three colleges who justified the attempt are advancing football reform. They have successfully blocked the wishes of Minnesota, Indiana, Purdue, Illinois and our University as to the size of the football schedules for next fall. A mighty block has been placed in front of the greatest college game in the Middle West despite the efforts of the majority of Big Eight and the only justification is the desire of certain college professors whose interest in college sports is limited, to foolishly uphold a reform to avoid a few newspaper "stories" accusing them of backing down from a stand once taken. Fearing a little adverse comment they stick to a ridiculous notion, openly recognized to be detrimental to the greatest feature of our college sports today. A decided protest on the part of several members of the Conference would not be surprising unless the schools are allowed the larger schedule.

In the columns of the Register and Leader "The Sportsman" says, "If the present condition continues the death of the conference cannot be long distant. When the members of the Conference are blame able by the rule of the majority, fight it, then its usefulness is nearly gone." Of course, the conference is a similar attitude and athletic followers throughout the middle West, cannot have the woeful display of ultra conservatism. The seriousness of the situation is perhaps not so obvious than shown by the threatened resignation of Mr. A. A. Sieglin, the head of athletics at the University of Chicago and a man most thoroughly respected by the followers of athletics in the West because of his fairness and sportsmanlike spirit. But even with his broad minded ideas, he cannot counteract the attitude of the Senate of the University of Chicago and his possible withdrawal from the Midwest is a powerful illustration that there is extreme danger in ultra conservatism in the conference and that the situation is grave in the extreme.

GEORGE FREDERICK KAY

Professor George Frederick Kay was born in York County, Ont. In 1893, he graduated from the University of Toronto with the degree of A.B. and in 1900, he received his M.A. degree from the same institution. Between the years of 1900 and 1902 Professor Kay served as assistant geologist for the Lake Superior Power Company, Sault St. Marie. From 1903 to 1904 he was Fellow of Geology in the University of Chicago, and during the summer of 1903 he served as assistant geologist of the Ontario Bureau of Mines. In 1904 Professor Kay went to the University of Kansas to be assistant professor of Geology and Mineralogy. This position he held until 1907 when he came to the State University of Iowa to be Professor of Geology, Mineralogy and Economic Geology. In 1909 he was made assistant geologist of the United States Geological Survey. Professor Kay has published several works on geology, chief among which are his "Geology of Northern Ontario," and the "Economic Resources of Southwestern Oregon." Professor Kay is a member of the Sigma Xi fraternity, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the National Geographical Society, and the Kansas Academy of Science.
