RAPID PROGRESS ON PRESIDENT'S HOME

Good Start Has Been Made in Building New Mansion Foundation and Basement Walls Have Been Erected

Work has been progressing rapidly on the President's house for the past two weeks and the basement and walls have been left as here described. This residence will be built of brick, two stories high with a sun par ament and basement in addition. The eves is decidedly colonial. Re ception room will be in the first floor there will be a no-carriage hall large enough for a horse team. The second story will be finished in saloon and the second story hall will be arranged in the plan of a ballroom affording a splendid orchestra booth. The part of the house will be finished and friend of the reception hall, making the residence suitable in every way for the President's residence. Stated at the head of Clinton and State Avenue, on the edge of a high bluff overlooking the Iowa river and in Iowa City park, the view will be commanded from the house it will be the most beautiful in the one. It is a location which has been frequented by eight men, among whom the oak trees along the river were taken on their trip to the Orient.

The number of inquiries we have received is great. Annie of Iowa, Mark Twain, Mr. Hough, Mr. Hough's chairman, for the Poetry, Mark Twain, Mr. Hough's and a member of Mr. Hough's class, was expected here with the party from Chicago but was called away to Des Moines on business matters.

Zet Juvenile Party

Instead of the usual literary tournament the Zet詹ianas are to fill the midnight hour this evening. All members of the society, including the President, will enjoy a juvenile party this evening and the young ladies of the House of the Horoscope. The program of the IVIansion will consist of familiar declamatory, preliminary. A member will be chosen from the committee to compete with the Zet declamer Mr. Heng.

MANY SUPPLIES FOR REGIMENTAL MARCH

Three Hundred Students Will go on Tramp in May

Inn of the night has been completed for the regimental march to be made in May by the University. The proposition is to have bids for lists of provisions which will be required for the three four days of the march the three hundred Nebraska students.

"The men will have plenty to eat," said Commandant C. W. Weeks yesterday. "We have been able to have a half greater quantity of food per man field rations than is allowed in the Regular U. S. Army regulations.

It is the fact that the value of the U. S. Army will apply on the march. Each company's Quarterly Sergeant Major is to introduce the Regimental Quarter Master's supply tent before each meal and receive from him the necessary provisions. Each company will be provided with the provisions for the next day and this will improve conditions that existed last year.

"The number of provisions will be an outside but when it is considered that there will be enough for one day for four days it does not seem extravagant."

The first meal will be dinner at North Liberty. The provisions will be in the form of locally and in the Iowa city, and a warm meal will be ready by the quartermaster sergeants when the boys arrive.

Each man will be provided with plates, cups, and a kitchen knife, fork and spoon. The list of supplies is in another column of this number.

The bill of fare for the march is as follows:

Saturday--Dinner: Canned corn, beef, baked beans, boiled potatoes, bread, coffee. Sunday--Breakfast: Bacon, fried potatoes, bread, coffee.

Supper: Cold boiled beef, gray boiled potatoes, peas, bread, coffee.

The State University of Iowa has the finest aquatic privileges of any educational institution in the state of Iowa. With the building of the new dam the river was greatly improved and the students have the opportunity to enjoy excellent boating facilities. In the near future he is expected that the athletic board will take steps to build a new dam on the river. The above picture represents one of the most beautiful views near Iowa City.

With the fine weather of the past few days the students have again resorted to the river for the pleasant trips in canoes and rowboats. Yesterday especially several parties took advantage of the pleasant day to paddle up stream and float back to the boat houses.

The Cornell University has increased its entrance requirements. Fifteen units are now required, a unit being the equivalent of one year in a preparatory school. The plan originated last year and its student supporters have already collected $50 for the purpose.

The freshmen-sophomore rush at Wisconsin takes a new form this year. In Pennsylvania's famous "wall fight." This form is two lines at right angles from the wall and facing each other. A certain distance is marked off on the wall between them. At a given signal they dash in, and the class having the greatest number of its men sitting on the wall when time is called, is declared victorious.

The new eligibility rules, which govern university organizations other than athletic, have been pointed out and explained in detail in the bulletin of the various organizations at Kansas University. By these rules the committee has power to exclude any student from participation in a public performance of any of the organizations if he is deficient in past or current university work, and "at least one month before such public performance or trip, a list of the possible participants must be submitted to the committee for its approval, and no person shall be eligible to take part without the sanction of the committee."

The Harvard Medical School, BOSTON, MASS.

Course for the Degree of M. D.

The Harvard Medical School has as its object the preparation of men for the practice of medicine. It is conducted according to the principles of the faculty of the University, and is especially noted for the completeness and thoroughness with which the students are instructed in the various departments of study.

The course is divided into four years. In the first year, the student is instructed in the fundamental sciences, and in the second year, in the art of healing. The third year is devoted to clinical instruction, and the fourth year to the preparation of the student for the profession.

The examination for the degree of M. D. is held at the end of the fourth year, and the candidate must pass the same in order to receive the degree.

The tuition fee for the course is $650.00.

The Harvard Medical School is located in the city of Boston, near the Charles River.

Cyrus S. Ranck, one of the prominent alumni of the University of Iowa residing in Iowa City. He was born in Union county, Pa., and while a child the family moved to Illinois. After receiving a common school education in that state young Ranck entered the Law school of the University graduating in 1871. Immediately after he commenced the study he practiced in Iowa City, where he has been in continuous residence ever since.

As a lawyer Mr. Ranck has been one of the most successful in this part of the state. A strong speaker, his strong points before the jury have always been a feature of his work. During his eventful life Mr. Ranck has also had a political career. First, as a representative, he went to the legislature and then later he served as a senator. He was also county attorney for two or three terms. He is a member of the law firm of Ranck & Bradley.
