Regular practice for baseball squad

Candidates settle Down to strenuous "work-out"

Warm weather welcomed by Hawkeye ball team--Coach writes on prospects

By Coach M. A. Kent

The weather, sunny, weather of the last two days was received with gratitude by the baseball squad. Previous to this the outdoor work had been of the con- closed order and although the practice always has a fast and nappy ting, not very much has actually been done because a man simply can't play the game when he is chilled through.

With the weather man favorable the squad will develop rapidly in the next two weeks and by the time of the Rock Island series the team will be playing some real ball. The game will start with good and while quite inexperienced in the harshest working bus that three or four years and are quick to learn.

So far indoors and outdoors the team has been forced to search for the hardest. A natural hitter while born and made not is the only one who can but well because a poor hitter or a fair hitter can "pop up" wonderfully in this line by hard constant practice. "Hi, hit, bat" has been steadily drilled into the squad and the first hour and a half's work a day will be spent in batting practice alone. Iowa will have a fair hitting team this year and a bunch that can be depended on to lay down a bunt or sacrifice at the required moment.

Fast baseball has evening in another thing being worked for. Most college ball teams run bases like a bunch of truck drivers. It doesn't take simple speed to make a good base runner, and the variety squad is working for the variety of the base paths and the map necessary for a team of "rungetters."

A great deal of signals is already being used in the short day practice games and the signals taken to be worked very quickly.

The hitter knows what he is expected to do; the base runners knows what he is to do and what the hitter is to do, the whole team knows when a man is to be bopped off a base by the catcher. The pitcher is given a throw at second and in fact the game is played somewhere near the baseball ground of the school.

As yet the pitchers have been working hardest for a long smooth easy body-lying delivery when there are none on bases and a Intercolligate athletics is a most beneficial and a necessary feature of college life. They are within the mental and physical training of the undergraduates. They are a healthy, wholesome, and broad-minded institution.

The primary purpose of athletics is general at colleges is to keep the undergraduates active and interested as a whole, in a healthy state of mind and body. Intercolligate athletics alone fall short of this aim for, at best, few men can engage in them. They are certainly an essential part, but only a part, of the scheme which should be employed if the best results are to be secured. The plan must be proposed whereby the number of undergraduates taking active part daily in some well-organized sport is greatly increased.

We need a broader athletic spirit at Iowa than the spirit of ard. The only way we are to be secured as part daily in some athletic contests between the Iowa teams is to be real rooters and to be vitally interested in the spirit at Iowa than the spirit of ard. We need a broader athletic spirit at Iowa than the spirit of ard.
IOWA CAFE OPENING

I beg to announce to the University and Iowa City Public that the Iowa Cafe, located at 117 S. Clinton Street will open Monday noon, April 6, under my direction. Having had long experience as a chef and caterer in Chicago and for the last 10 months having been head chef at the Burley Imperial, I feel warranted in guaranteeing to my patrons first-class meals and service. I will cater especially to University parties and student trade. Give me a trial.

L. G. DANIELS, Prop.

Do you know the joy of crossing the threshold of spring in clothes that give you style and comfort?

You have a sense for the appropriate. Of course you have; you are appealed to by what appears in correct proportions. You also have a sense for the striking, distinctive, if you please. This is why Style appeals to you. Style simply means individuality and distinction combined with appropriateness. Remember, it takes the combination.

We specialize in stylish clothes.
