During the recent spring vacation the Iowa students and alumni SUCCESS of at Ottumwa OTTUMWA REUNION met at a very successful reception. The venue class of the Ottumwa high school constituted the guests of honor at the function and W. C. Wilcox of the University history department was one of the principal speakers of the evening. The affair was highly successful in every respect, old toes were renewed by the alumnae and an idea of the present progress and advancement of S. U. L. was presented to them and to the high school seniors.

The DAILY Iowan most heartily commends a gathering of this kind. It is right in line with the policy of the county club and it will bring results for the University as almost nothing else. All the alumni should be in chance to present its real merits as a school and a host of evils including misstatement of outbreaks will do no more. These beautiful seasons Glady's think the bow brought too many spring suits and hats and things. Don't see where he expects to sell such a string of good stuff, but you can come in and look and have your pick. Selling is believing and of course the more you have to look at the more likely you are to see what you want to see. Maybe you can see where our business is coming from, and how we grew, because we have the right goods to show you and a reputation to sustain. The more we sell the better we can care for you, hence it is our mutual interest for you to trade with Ross and help him to keep up his reputation and "make good" on all he has me to say for him. I want him to live up close to his rep., then I can say things and hold my jaw. Now, this is a straight tip. We are in fine shape for spring business, only we must have your trade or I lose out. We have a lot of accommodating salesmen who know their business, so sail in and see us.

WEDDING YESTERDAY

Other Social Events of University
Life

Yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on C. Capitol St., occurred the marriage of Miss Grace Crane, ex-cl. A '28, and Dr. Paul Burroughs, M.D. The wedding was simple, only the immediate relatives and friends being present.

The house was beautifully decorated in plum blossoms and Easter lilies. The bride wore a white lingerie gown and carried Easter lilies. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Strain of the Congregational church. The out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Burroughs of Allison, parents of the groom; Mrs. Blanch Crane of Linn Tree, sister of the bride, and Mr. Fred Crane of Chicago, brother of the bride. Dr. and Mrs. Burroughs left on the 11:30 train for Cedar Rapids, from where they will go to Chicago for a few weeks. They will be at home after June 1 in Allison, Iowa, where Dr. Burroughs is practicing. The groom is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

PERSONAL

Miss Blanche Bloom will anchor the Senior Class Play.

April 26th. The Entertainment is a comedy.

Miss Bloom will play the part of a young lady who has just arrived in our city. She has never been to a college before and is not sure what to do.

She meets a young man who is a senior at our college.

They become friends and Miss Bloom decides to live with this young man for the rest of the semester.

The play opens with Miss Bloom's arrival on campus.

She is introduced to her new roommate, a senior who is very nice and has a good sense of humor.

Miss Bloom is impressed with this new roommate and the two become fast friends.

The story continues with Miss Bloom's adventures on campus, including attending classes,
participating in activities,
and making new friends.

The play
concludes with Miss Bloom learning that her new roommate is actually a famous actress who has decided to spend the summer with her new friend.
