MINNESOTA GAME THIS AFTERNOON

Special Features of High School Visitors

Indents Practically Complete Arrangements and Preparation for Productions

The dramatic sketches arranged by the department of public speaking for the entertainment of visiting high school pupils tomorrow evening were under the able supervision of Miss Elizabeth Hopkins, instructor in public speaking, and have charge of the rehearsals.

The sketches were arranged to be given by the occasion by Professor H. Gordon, head of the department of public speaking. The scenery was designed especially for the entertainment and has made a feature of the evening's program. The orchestra of the visiting high school will be provided by the department of music, special humorous costumes, etc.

The cover of this year's Hawk-eye is dark red, with a two color picture of the west campus in the middle. The management has also put out a dark green leather bound edition, which will only be sold to those having previous seats.

The new departments added to this year's book are the State Historical Society of Minnesota and dramatic departments. The special feature of the humorous department is to be the cartoons and these will undoubtedly attract much attention, owing to the general interest annually displayed in the cartoons.

The Hawk-eye is dedicated to the Greater University movement and contains a comprehensive history of the new movement besides a special article by a resident of the Iowan State University, A. S. Rummel. A symbolic drawing is also a part of the dedication portion.

WILL PUBLISH LIFE OF JUDGE HAMMOND

State Historical Society to Publish

The State Historical Society will in the near future publish a biography of William G. Hammond, who was an active member of the University and its legal affairs for six years, as the special biography of the late Vice Chancellor of the Law College of the State University of Iowa. The biography has been prepared by Judge Emily M. McCall, who was a student of Hammond's and later Counselor of the Law College. Judge Hammond left Iowa to become Dean of the Law School at St. Louis, where he achieved marked success. At his death his law books, which are a valuable collection, were donated to the Law Library of this University. The biography of Judge Hammond will be published in the Iowa Biographical Series.

First Year Course in Law

A full course will be given to be held at the Law School of Minnesota in the future. The curriculum of preparatory training in the arts and sciences will be required.

JUNIOR ANNUAL OUT TODAY

Will be on Sale in Four University Buildings This Morning

The junior annual, the Hawk-eye, makes its appearance this morning and will be on sale in Room 14 of the Liberal Arts building, the Medical, Law, and Dental buildings. This book is similar to last year's edition in many respects but has heavier binding and contains a comprehensive history and contains a compendium of the annals of the social and dramatic departments.

The sketches were arranged to be given by the occasion by Professor H. Gordon, head of the department of public speaking. The scenery was designed especially for the entertainment and has made a feature of the evening's program.

With Hanlon in the bat, the Hawk-eye baseball team will meet Minnesota in an effort to retrieve the two close defeats at Minneapolis recently. The game will be called on Tuesday at 3:30 and is expected to attract a large crowd as it is the first Conference contest of the season on the local diamond.

Since the last game the Varsity lineup has been changed and when the Iowa nine plays this afternoon Johnson will be back in his old left field center field and Glittering will be on first base. Unaccustomed to the infield play, '97 hitting fell short of his efforts to learn the fielding game, come at the initial such and as Glittering played first first last summer, Coach Kent decided to make the change.

Bechtal, possessing a stronger arm than Carbery, has been placed in the left garden and the heavy hitting player has been put into right field.

Despite the defeat by Nebraska, Hanlon is still probably the premier pitcher on the squad and will be used as the first baseman. The fast gloveman today. With Hanlon in the box, the Gophers were able to out score the Hawkeyes and were able to take the fielding game at the center and showed a keen interest in the duties of his alma mater.

"Iowa spring is not lacking this afternoon," said a member of the club yesterday.

The concert was under the auspices of the Ingenius Club, which is a Ladies Literary Society at that place.

BIG CELEBRATION OCCURS AT OBERLIN

N. O. L. Victory Cause of Great Jubilation

A letter received from Oberlin from the former victor of the recent Iowan State University-Pennsylvania game, the N. O. L., says: "We appreciate the victory and were sorry that both Iowa and Oberlin could not win. We had a celebration last Monday, bigger than anything we have had for a long time. We paraded the streets with torches and fireworks, led by the band. Williams, President King and Dean Bosworth were in a carriage at the head of the line. The celebration wound up with speeches. It was the first time Dean Bosworth has spoken at a student celebration and was the Iowan State University.

We were advertised in the right section and were able to give an appropriate address." President J. E. MacLean at Earlham.

President G. E. MacLean will deliver the commencement address for the Oberlin high school graduates at 200 East Main Street, in Kansas City. The celebration would end with speeches. It was the first time Dean Bosworth has spoken at a student celebration.

WILL TRANSLATE WORK INTO FRENCH

One of Dean Gregory's Articles to be Printed

Dean Charles E. Gregory of the University College of Law, has been honored again. The Journal of Comparative Law of Belgium, has accepted Professor Gregory's paper to write a paper. It will then be translated into French and published in the Brussels publication for worldwide distribution. Dean Gregory's article, will be recognized as an authority on international law.
WISE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

Nature has wisely arranged it so that a man can neither put his own boot nor kiss himself. But wouldn't it surprise you if the number of men now turning up sailed with Perry and fought with Farragut and ran the blockade with Dewey at Manila. Speaking of Manila, what about your new straw? Don't buy a straw hat of any kind this year until you see our display. Tomorrow is opening day for straw hats and we will have the "real sailor boy" on those. The new sailors have higher crowns and the new colored ribbons (tan and blue), and the macassins are all to the candy, too. The Milans are prettier than ever, as I guess you must know from the beach that you'll see on the promenade.

Winters of boilers are among the necessary evils of life, but much better the business of winter than the winter of business. Many a man has gone to the grave stone-dead to the world—because he has been too busy. Make a business of death, if you will, but don't be a slave to it.

J. F. CLYDE

This judge of the twelfth judicial district was born on a farm near Milford, Jefferson county, Wisconsin, May 24, 1850. He attended the Cedar Valley Seminary in Osage and graduated with his first class in June, 1871. He graduated in S. U. L., A. A., '72, (B. Phs.), Law '92. He was given second honor in '77, and was one of two speakers chosen from 111 for commencement in '92. He was given A. M. in course in 1881. He was an instructor in mathematics in the University in 1882-3 under Prof. N. R. Leonard. He began law practice in Osage in the fall of 1883, and continued until Jan. 1887, when he became judge. For more than seven years before attaining the bench he was in partnership with Hon. W. L. Eaton, present railroad commissioner. He served in the senate of the 23rd general assembly, filling out the unexpired term of Hon. J. B. Sweeney, in the district composed of Mitchell, Worth and Winneshiek counties. In 1903 he was elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa society, the Alpha chapter of Iowa. He was married in 1877 to Miss Harriet L. Westward of Waukon, Iowa, and has six sons and two daughters. Mr. Clyde was a member of the Zetagatha-Itewaleociety while in Iowa City.
