Wise Talks by the Office Boy

A Good Money-Maker

The old man told me the other day, that instead of expressing my opinion so freely I ought to add some of them by freight. He was a little sore, I guess, because I asked him a conundrum he couldn't answer. Perhaps you can answer it. Here it is:

If an express company charges 3 cents a pound for hauling hats in a capitalization, which is, say, 50 per cent water, who pays the freight?

That's the reason those neckless beauties in beautiful ews are marked (the instant at 75c, and $1 instead of $0.50. That's why our $20 suits are better values than you can buy elsewhere, even after they've figured all their discounts off and lost all the money they say they lose. Let us prove to you that we sell good merchandise on a small margin of profit as any more men in town.
