MANY PROFESSORS AT JOINT MEETING

SPLENDED PROGRAM FOR TWO DAYS' SEMESTER HEAD

Professor Oscar Monstinel, a noted Stockholm anthropologist, will speak tonight.

Many lectures by eminent professors and authorities on anthropology and related fields will be given in the Iowa City Society of the American Anthropological Society and the Iowa Branch of the American Folk-Lore Society which meets here today and tomorrow.

The lecture of today's program will be given by Professor Oscar Monstinel, the curator of the Royal Museum of Anthropology in Stockholm, Sweden. His subject will be "The Cross Roads, in Origin and Evolution." It will be given in the Liberal Arts assembly hall and following it a smoker will take place in the Triangle Club.

A full talk by Mr. A. B. Sleser of Tacony University is anticipated.

At 4 o'clock tomorrow morning, with Professor Charles B. Wilson presiding, the second joint session will be held. Those who are on the program follow: Mr. Edward K. Finneman, Professor Monstinel, Professor Charles H. Weller, Dean Llewellyn, S. S. Picken, John T. F. Brown, Professor Charles C. Norton and Professor Deborah Shulman.

The third joint session will be called in order tomorrow afternoon by Mr. Edward K. Finneman. Those who will speak are: Professor E. A. Campbell, Professor T. R. Mack, Mr. E. T. Anderson, Professor P. H. Pyle, Professor H. J. Carver, Professor P. H. Poster, Professor Charles H. Weller, Dean Llewellyn, S. S. Picken, John T. F. Brown, Professor Charles C. While there has been a fair sized work at cleaning and preserving this year, the attendance is still far from what it ought to be. The autho- rities are studied to keep the streets clean and so doing the University will exhibit the proper attitude toward this im- portant phase of college life.

Where no such opportunities are presented for gatherings of the en- tire student body, it is doubly im- portant that this particular oppor- tunity be well improved. Assembly adherence is essential to the de- velopment of the true class spirit and loyalty. It is surprising how little use is made of these chances to promote class unity. About all the energy shown is in the manipulation of the printed programs, and in the resulting somewhat childish interest in their downward flight. When such is the only energy displayed there is evidently a great deal for which to account.

Then too, this weekly convocation represents the religious and pros- ternal college life. Due attention to this phase is an essential element in the educational development of the true class spirit and loyalty. It is surprising how little use is made of these chances to promote class unity. About all the energy shown is in the manipulation of the printed programs, and in the resulting somewhat childish interest in their downward flight. When such is the only energy displayed there is evidently a great deal for which to account.

Furniture on Approved Plan

The name of Furniture on Approved Plan is a good example of the small school doing effective work on a small budget, wholeheartedly. The school has made great advances in the last two years and is now prepared for the fully accredited list. Miss Ellen Montgomery, et al., principal of the school and is thoroughly enjoying her work. Capt. J. L. Keil speaks enthusiastically of her ser- vices.

Choral Society Notice

Harry August Garfield, the oldest son of President James A. Garfield, is the new president of Williams College. He was graduated from Williams in 1855, and has been professor of Politics at Philadelphia for some years.

College is not a preparation for life; it is life," declared President Judson in addressing the annual commencement assembly in Mount hall at Chicago university. "What business man need more than anything else to converse, one with the other. Every student also can not afford to overlook the value of these qualities. There is an absolute absence drawn between college and life, which is reality does not exist. A preparation for life, and integrity is as much need for a college as the 18th of July."

A journalist as a major study at the University of Washington, is receiving unusual activities. Already forty students, more than half of whom are students have selected journalism as their major and dozens of others are enrolled for a single course. The vast number of women in the press. The short story course, which is part of the work, is attending many students who are specializing in other lines.

"The Council of Higher Education" of which Professor B. Dillen of Iowa is president, and which had for its purpose the encouragement of higher education for women, has been condemned on every side by the students. A student issued from the $10,000 has been issued from the W. F. Durren of the College Republicans and Ed. Otto Kasler, a wealthy resident of Chicago, is contemplating the donation of a large sum.

Amusements

Tonight

This interesting new play which has carried New York by storm so successfully as to sweep Chicago into a circus which lasted for almost one year, is in that most majestic of all cities, comes here to the Coliseum tonight.

To use the latest current information of boxoffice slang, "The Man from Home" is distinctly worth seeing, while the ordinary theatre-goer might declare it either bulky or insipid.

The feminine girls "The sweet for anything" would, in one case, take on a new and accredited meaning.
