VALUABLE PRIZES ARE OFFERED TO STUDENTS

Charles H. Jeffress Announces Awards For Prize Essays

Students wishing to compete for the Jeffress Prize essay offered by Mr. Charles H. Jeffress, of White Plains, New York, are advised that prize of $100.00 is to be awarded to the best graduating senior of the State University of Iowa who submits the best essay on some phase or phases of present-day citizenship, as viewed from a non-partisan standpoint; and that one prize of $50.00 is to be awarded to the woman undergraduate who submits the best essay on some phase or phases of the problems affecting the status of women and the part women play in the development and advancement of the states of woman.

Students wishing to compete for these prizes are free to select their own subjects within the scope of the topics as above stated. It is expected that the entries submitted will be of reasonable length, but no minimum or maximum number of words is prescribed. All entries will be original and submitted to the Committee on Awards on or before the last date, 1st December. The Committee reserves the power to withhold the award if the essays procured are not of sufficient merit.

The Jeffress Prize essay is to be read before the Student Senate, and the winner is to be given a position on the valedictory program to be given last year were always well received. The men reported at Unity Hall at 2:30 in the afternoon. Music and the singing of the popular songs were started with a large number and the exercises of the Varsity drill will be well worth watching.

Amusements
To Night
"Honeymoon Trail," the last of the La Belle productions, has the same sentimental action. Summer frolicked and boudoir dialogue which make its predecessors, "The Time, The Place and the Girl," and "The Girl of Two Worlds," agreeable. This is "Honeymoon Trail" by the same authors, Alphonse, Adams and Howard, adapted by the same producer, and under the same managerial direction. It will be seen at the Colleen this evening, with an all star cast, and the familiar setting of the very best kind.
